Tentative Plans Revealed

Catholic Girls High School Open in '61?

Opening of a Catholic girls high school next fall was listed as a "possibility" this week by Msgr. McManus, head of the Catholic Board of Education of the Chicago Archdiocese.

Tentative plans for the school, to be built south of St. Colette Catholic church in Rolling Meadows, call for the completion of the school building by September, 1963.

Msgr. McManus stated if such a completion date could be achieved, beginning freshman and sophomore classes might be started in September, 1961. These classes would be held in space provided in the new St. Viator Catholic boys school, slated for completion next summer in Arlington Heights.

FINAL DECISION on building plans and opening of the school will be ready by late October according to Msgr. McManus.

Original plans for the high school in Rolling Meadows were for an "academy" type operation with a limited enrollment. Plans have now been enlarged to include a probable enrollment of 800 to 1200 girls.

The school will be administered by the Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary. The same order of nuns will operate the St. Colette [illegible] school in Rolling Meadows, scheduled to open next fall.

BY STARTING classes next September for the first two years of high school, adding a year each fall the girls' school will be ready to open in its own building in 1963 with a full four-year program.

A similar plan of opening is scheduled by St. Viator high school which expects to enroll 700 to 800 freshmen and sophomores next fall. By 1963 the boys' school will have a full four-year operation in its 1800-student building, necessitating the moving of the girls school operation to its own quarters.

The girls' school will be administered as a separate unit by the nuns while sharing facilities at the Viatorian boys' school.

Msgr. McManus stressed these plans were "tentative only" and subject to many changes before a final decision is made.

Overloaded Trucks Warned by Village

Cleaner streets for Arlington Heights is the object of a letter being sent from the village hall this week advising some material service companies and builders to quit overloading their trucks.

The scattering of gravel, dirt, and other building materials on village streets by trucks has prompted Village Engineer Norman Toberman to ask companies whose trucks haul these materials to:

—quit overloading their trucks.

—require each truck to carry a tool with which to remove clogged clay from tires (instead of depositing it on streets).

—use planking or dirt as a buffer when backing over curbing to keep from cracking the cement.

TOBERMAN NOTED that many trucks are exceeding the load allowed them by their license plates. There were three arrests by local police last week for such violations, he said.

The village engineer also pointed out that regardless of whether a truck is overloaded the driver can be arrested for littering village streets.

Editor's Column

STUART R. PADDOCK

If you have ever wished that you possessed a low auto license number, now is your chance. Low digits of not more than four numbers will be available to over 2,800,000 applicants for 1961 licenses.

There are 288 prefix combinations to those numbers available. All letter combinations will be followed by four digits from 1000 to 9999.

The usual plate numbers for 1961 will also be available from 1 to 999,999.

Those are a lot of plates, so do not crowd, folks. Just think how easy it will be for you, a pursuing police officer or a witness to your accident, to remember your number.

A friend who is trying to diet tells us he wears blinders when he passes a window display of delicacies as he walks down Campbell street in Arlington Heights.

We never claimed to be a gourmet, and have always thought that a good steak and potatoes was the greatest meal on earth.

No more. Ten days ago in a basement Italian restaurant in Greenwich Village, New York City, we were introduced to scalopini, which we found delicious. This week, at the home of Mrs. Urban in Roselle, we were served a Polish dish, Kluski Ze Sliwkami, that we enjoyed so much we took four helpings!

We hope few of our readers will fall for the promises of candidates who plan to balance the budget by finding new ways to tax the public.

Few politicians dare to talk economy in the expenditure of public money.

It is like buying a TV set on the installment plan. The gullible voter will pay and pay through increased taxes.

Can we have a strong political party without patronage? Not in this day and age, when very few people are willing to work for their party without payroll promises.

In a full page advertisement, recently in Newsweek magazine, the American Railroad Association pictures northwest Cook county as being "overridden" with paved roads.

The railroads say that the highways cost a lot more than railroad tracks.

Every hamlet in the territory covered by this paper is shown in the map and offered as evidence by the railroads that taxpayers of this area are spending a lot of money for cement that should have been spent for railroad transportation.

Bazaar after bazaar, advertising programs after advertising programs, special appeals for contributions arrive by nearly every mail.—Is it any wonder that Community Fund is growing in popularity?

NOT TOO CONCERNED with the approaching Thanksgiving dinner table, these gobblers feel secure in their experimental status as they are checked by Murray Smidt who runs what is probably Arlington Heights most unusual industry.

Unusual Industry

Menagerie Flourishes In Heart of Village

While farm land is being bulldozed under at a rapid rate in the northwest suburbs, "Old MacDonald" would still feel right at home in Arlington Heights, where 1,000 baby chicks, 100 white rats, 60 turkeys, and six "breeding" rabbits reside just a corn cob's throw from the center of town.

This menagerie composes what is no doubt the village's most unusual industry, the Dawe's research laboratory at 1008 W. Euclid, just off the Northwest hwy.

Set well back from the tree shaded street, the laboratory's old barn and three small frame buildings are hardly noticeable.

IN FACT, they would likely have gone undetected by the Herald had residents of a newly erected adjacent apartment building not complained of being roused at dawn by the crowing of roosters. The roosters, 14 of them, were removed last week.

Presiding over this animal kingdom is Murray Smidt, a 26-year-old agricultural graduate from the University of Illinois.

Purpose of the operation, which has occupied its present site for 10 years, is to run tests on vitamins, enzymes, and other "fortification products" that will be added to animals' feed. Dawe's is the world's oldest and largest supplier of vitamin products for poultry feed, notes Smidt.

THE REACTION of the animals to various diets is recorded, compiled and forwarded by Smidt to the main office in Chicago.

An experiment presently under way is to determin what diet will darken the pigmentation of a broiler's skin. Most housewives, says Smidt, prefer yellow to the natural white colored skin.

A thousand chicks pass through the laboratory each month. They are received when they are a day old and kept four weeks.

Dawe's has another laboratory on Buffalo Grove rd., north of Arlington Heights, where it works with hogs and sheep.

THESE ANIMALS, notes Smidt, were once proposed for the Arlington Heights site, but plans were abandoned after residents protested. In fact, he notes, it may not be too long before the laboratory will be leaving its Arlington Heights location.

Apartment buildings and a car wash have gone up around the laboratory, and Smidt notes Dawe's occupies its site on a rental basis.

Democrats Form Volunteer Group

A new political force was born this week—the Wheeling Township Democratic Volunteers, first voluntary organization of Democrats in northwest suburbs.

Formation of the new group was announced by Dr. Norbert J. Hruby and Charles Houchins, co-chairmen.

Hruby, of Arlington Heights, is associate dean of the University of Chicago's University College, widely-known as one of the founders of WTTW (Channel 11), Chicago's educational TV channel. Houchine, a Mount Prospect citizen, is a corporation attorney.

The group was organized spontaneously in the township area to focus attention of voters on the significant issues of the November 8 election campaign, according to the spokesmen.

MEMBERS PLAN an intensive program to promote voter registration—the final day is October 11—and a get-out-the-vote drive on the remaining Saturdays before election day.

The group is co-ordinating its efforts with the regular Democratic organization, although as a grass-roots movement it is not formally a part of it.

Aim of the volunteers Hruby said, is to help the voter face the challenge of the election—to know the issues of the campaign and to know not only for whom he is voting but why.

Mrs. Charles Cullen, member of the membership committee said: "Many voters say they'd like to play a bigger role in the selection of our local and national leaders. Here's their chance. We're calling on everyone interested to help out during the next six weeks."

Volunters may call Mrs. Cullen at Cl 5-4425.

Southside Project Is Issue

Arlington Heights trustees decided to gamble this week when they unanimously voted to deny water to a residential development going up just south of the village.

The stakes are high.

On one side is the trustees' hope that their action will compel the developer, Palco Enterprises, to seek annexation to the village and thus enable local officials to insure compliance with the village's high building and zoning standards.

On the other side is the trustees' fear that the developer will be able to acquire his needed water from another source and thus complicate the village's southward expansion to the toll road, as envisioned by the master plan.

THE AREA in question is south of Central and west of State rd. It was subdivided into 330 lots in 1924. Palco Enterprises owns 60 of the lots, is negotiating for more, has model homes up, and, according to a spokesman, intends to begin selling houses next month.

Speaking for the developer, Harvey Rawson told trustees last week that arrangements had been made to obtain the needed water from the Hatlen Heights subdivision water company. He said, however, that his organization would prefer to get the water from Arlington Heights because he was convinced that the area would eventually come into the village.

None of Palco's presently owned 60 lots are contiguous to the village, a necessary requirement for annexation. Trustees are hoping, however, that the lure of water will spur the developer to acquire other lots and seek annexation to the village.

THOUGH Village Manager L. A. Hanson noted that the developer is exceeding county requirements by putting in underground improvements and paved streets with curbs and gutters, Trustee William Sauer observed he is under no obligation to continue doing so as long as he is outside the village. Gravel roads and open drainage ditches would be sufficient under county regulations.

It was also noted the houses are going up on lots with 40 and 50 foot frontages. Arlington Heights zoning code requires a 70 foot frontage. The difference is not as great as it seems, however, for there have been waivers of the 70 ft. requirement in the village when a property owner is unable to comply.

Village Attorney Stephen Jurco pointed out to board members that the only way the village could control the development would be to annex it. He noted that since the land was already subdivided, the developer need only satisfy county requirements.

TRUSTEE Wendell Prunty moved that the petitioner's request for water be denied on the basis that the village might soon be facing a water shortage within its existing boundaries.

This motion was quickly amended, however, when Village Manager Hanson asked if it meant the village wouldn't consider anymore annexation preceedings.

The final motion simply denied the request for water without stating a reason.

Fall Fishing Days Begin on Saturday

One of Arlington Heights park district's most popular events — Fall Fishing Days — will begin Saturday, Oct. 1 and run through Oct. 9.

Recreation and Pioneer park pools will provide lush fishing grounds for area anglers on weekends from 1 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. on week days.

OVER 2,000 residents participated in the event last year when it was held at Pioneer park pool only.

This year the park district has purchased 200 lbs. of fish for each of the two pools from a hatchery in Spring Grove, Ill. The greatest number of the fish will be Rainbow and Brook Trout. Blue Gills and Bass will also be stocked.

Equipment will be furnished or anglers may bring their own. Fly and casting rods may not be used.

PRIZES WILL be awarded for the biggest fish caught in the nine day period.

Admission is 25 cents for children and 50 cents for adults. This will entitle them to 30 minutes of fishing or until a catch is made within this period.

Merge Districts 24, 25?

Wilson School Vote Favors Annexation

Residents of Wilson school district 24 have voted nearly 100 per cent in favor of annexation to Arlington Heights district 25.

With the final figure yet to be tabulated, over 90 per cent of the legal voters of the district, which includes Virginia Terrace and Hasbrook subdivisions in the northern part of the village, have indicated their desire to see the one-school district 24 annex to the district 25 system.

Spearheaded by the PTA, 150 residents of district 24 commenced circulating petitions for the annexation last week. By Saturday they had gathered far more than the legal requirement of two-thirds of the signatures of the voters of the district.

THE NEXT STEP is to take the petition before the county board of school trustees for a public hearing. The board can either deny or approve the petition for annexation.

Previous action by the county board in such cases and existing feeling among members of both district 24 and 25 boards of education indicate approval of the petition. If such is the case, it is likely annexation would be accomplished in time for the 1961 school year.

"We're most gratified by the response of the people of the area, and their willingness to work on the project," said Mrs. Dean Arnold, PTA president, as she noted that some of the people who circulated petitions "don't even have children."

The board of education of district 24 started off the petition drive last week with a meeting explaining the advantages of annexation to district 24.

LISTED WERE:

—public kindergarten facilities (now lacking in district 24).

—specialized programs in such fields as foreign languages, industrial arts, and home economics.

—special programs partially subsidized by the state.

TWO-THIRDS of district 24's nearly 500 pupils live in Arlington Heights. Thus annexation would insure the same quality of junior high and elementary education for all children in the community, note board members. High school administrators have observed this would make their job easier.

About two-thirds the physical size of district 25, district 24's northern boundary extends to Hintz rd.

Much of the area north of the vilage is undeveloped. The village's master plan, however, envisions Arlington Heights' eventual northern boundary also extending to Hintz rd.

Last of Red Hot Mamas In Palatine

Palatine was enlivened by a striptease on the downtown "triangle" property last week. However, entertainer Patsy "Tex" Slaughter ended up with a one-way ticket out of town and a 15-day stretch in County jail.

Patsy's sentence, passed at a special Saturday night court session, included six-months- reduced- to- 15- days in jail on a vagrancy charge, and a $200 fine and court costs, all suspended, for disorderly conduct.

ONE OF THE big (5 feet, 8 inches; 150 pounds) brunette's companions during her 10-day sojourn in the village was also arrested for disorderly conduct and fined $50 and costs. The pair was picked up in Arlington Heights Saturday while they awaited a bus.

Described by police as a "common night walker," the former resident of Dallas, Tex., was noted as a "suspicious person" in Palatine police files because the motel where she set up headquarters thought it strange that she was never seen during the daytime. A local businessman also signed the disorderly conduct complaint for her triangle antics.

Mayor Is Recovering In Hospital

Edward Carlisle, village president of Arlington Heights is recovering from surgery at Billings hospital, Chicago.

He entered the hospital three weeks ago, and after a series of tests was operated upon last week.

Contacted by phone, the village president says he is feeling better daily and is looking forward to returning to village affairs.

Trustee Robert Bukowski has been serving as president pro tem of the village board in the mayor's absence.

Knockout Gas

The first use of sulphuric ether gas as an anaesthetic was in 1842 in Georgia.

Roller Rink Is Open Saturday

Indoor roller skating will open at Recreation park fieldhouse Saturday, Oct. 1. Skating will be offered each Saturday and Sunday from 1:00 p.m. - 5:00 p.m. and on Wednesdays, 3:30 - 5:30 p.m. with the exception of the first Wednesday of each month.

Skates will be furnished without charge. Skaters may use their own skates only if they have recommended plastic wheels for gymnasium floors. Wooden or metal wheels will not be allowed.

The activity will be adequately supervised so as to insure greater safety and enjoyment for all. Admission is 25 cents. (AF

See the World, Join the Navy

Arlington Heights will enjoy the services of a recruiter as an extension of the Navy Recruiting station in Des Plaines. This new service will be offered from 9 a.m. to noon on Saturdays in the village council room on Vail and Wing streets. The recruiter will be available for information on all Navy enlisted and officer programs, as well as for general Navy information.

A Prime Need Stressed

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS trustees found themselves in a bind this week.

Developers of a subdivision going up just outside the village's southern limits requested village water be run into their homes on the grounds that the area will eventually be annexed to Arlington Heights.

The assumption is probably correct. The village's master plan envisions Arlington Heights' eventual southern boundary as the toll road. Until annexed, however, the builders can continue constructing houses on lots with 40 and 50 foot frontages, governed only by county standards, far below those of Arlington Heights.

Fearing lack of control of the development, trustees denied the requested water. The developer claims he can get water elsewhere. If he does, he can not only continue building under county requirements, but will complicate any future expansion of the village to the south.

The quandary in which the village board finds itself dramatizes one of Arlington Heights' prime needs:

A detailed annexation plan and an aggressive campaign to sell it to property owners surrounding the village.

One of Arlington Heights' few hopes to attract industry and broaden its tax base is to annex unincorporated land for such a purpose. But unattached land is hungrily being eyed by other communities.

Elk Grove Village has had propositions from builders to extend its boundaries north of the toll road. Des Plaines is on the move. Palatine recently moved up to Arlington Heights' western boundary.

Aside from the growing scarcity of land, the recently adopted comprehensive county zoning code casts some doubt on the mile and a half control communities were once thought to have over unincorporated land surrounding their boundaries.

If property surrounding Arlington Heights is allowed to develop under standards less than those of the village, it will, when annexed, lower the value of village property.

An example of the problems that can be created by such development is Arlington Heights Park Manor in the eastern portion of the village. The subdivision was eventually annexed by the village to control its growth, but only after it was subdivided and built up with septic tanks and wells.

The present board of trustees can hardly be held responsible for the present predicament south of Central rd. or the mammoth special assessment program necessary for Arlington Park Manor. The board, however, can guard against such future problems by implementing an aggressive, well planned annexation program. (AF

Twelve Area Teens Among Scholarship Semi-Finalists

Twelve high school students from districts 211 and 214 have been selected as semifinalists in the 1960-61 National Merit Scholarship competition.

The students are Terrance Drabant, Carol Fox and Carol Kaiser of Palatine high school; Conrad C. Neumann of Arlington high; and Mary Brunberg, Richard Cook, Gerald Gehrke, Carol Hausknecht, Robert Miller, Joan Skibbe, Craig Taitel and John Wirman of Prospect high.

These semifinalists are among the 10,000 high scoring students on the National Merit Scholarship qualifying test, a test of educational development given in more than 15,000 high schools last spring. The semifinalist group is composed of the highest scoring students in each state and in United States territories.

THE SEMIFINALISTS are eligible to win a four-year Merit Scholarship to the college of his choice.

John M. Stalnaker, president of the National Merit Scholarship corporation, which conducts the annual program, stated that "Merit semifinalists represent the most promising brains in the nation. From this group of able, attractive students will come the scholars and intellectual leaders of tomorrow."

Semifinalists will take a second rigorous examination on December 3. The three-hour scholastic aptitude test of the College Entrance Examination Board will be given in testing centers throughout the nation.

Students whose scores on the second test substantiate their performance on the qualifying test and who are endorsed by their high schools will become finalists in the competition. In past years more than 95 per cent of the semifinalists have become finalists.

AS FINALISTS the students will be eligible for scholarship awards sponsored by 115 business and industrial organizations, professional societies, foundations, individuals and the National Merit Scholarship corporation itself.

In the final phase of the competition the high school grades, extra-curricular activities, school citizenship and leadership qualities of the students will be evaluated along with their scores on the tests.

The names of the Merit Scholars will be announced about May 1, 1961. The exact number of winners will depend upon the extent of sponsor support of the Merit program.

All finalists receive certificates of merit attesting to their high ability. All colleges and universities are informed of their names enabling students to be considered for a wide range of other awards. Studies show that more than 50 per cent obtain scholarship assistance from other sources.

Each Merit Scholarship is a four-year award to cover the undergraduate college years. The exact amount is tailored to the student's need. Average grants have been about $750 a year.

FOR STUDENTS who require final assistance awards may reach a maximum of $1500 per year. For students who already possess financial resources which will enable them to attend the college of their choice awards of $100 a year are granted.

The minimum stipend is a form of "educational insurance" for the student who receives it as the amount will be increased at any time while he is in college if there is a significant change in his family's financial situation.

Finalists designate the college they wish to attend and the course of study they plan to pursue. The colleges chosen by merit scholars in most instances also receive cost-of-education grants ranging up to $500 per year to help defray the actual costs of educating the students.

The Merit Scholarship program is now in its sixth year. It was founded in 1955 with grants from the Ford Foundation and the Carnegie Corporation of New York. The National Merit Scholarship corporation and sponsors have contributed direct financial assistance to nearly four thousand students and their colleges.

THE COMPETITION is open to students in any public, private or parochial high school in the United States and its possessions.

In discussing the Merit Scholarship program Mr. Stalnaker warned against comparing schools on the basis of the number of semifinalists in each. "The awards are given to students," he emphasized. He pointed out several factors combine to make the winners including parents, friends and community as well as good schooling. (B8

Conversation Piece

Tame Hummingbird Is Neighborhood Darling

Delight of the youngsters for blocks around but the cause of an impending nervous breakdown of a Boxer dog is the newest addition to the Mogytych family — a hummingbird.

Probably the only hummingbird ever to be tamed in the northwest suburbs, or in the Chicago area, according to a local naturalist, it has become a "conversation piece" in the neighborhood of Anthony Mogytych Jr., 818 N. Dryden ave., Arlington Heights.

First time Mogytych saw it, he thought it was a large moth, and after calling his wife and two children out to look at it, he accidentally knocked it down with a spray of water as he was hosing his garden.

SINCE IT couldn't fly and Mogytych was concerned about it, he took the tiny "flying jewel" into the house and let its feathers dry, then released its outdoors. It flew off, but returned to the Mogytych garden, and later was joined by several others.

However intrigued he was by the audacity of the tiny birds, Mogytych had work to do around the garden and he did it. Wheeling black dirt around his garden and filling in close to his building, he dumped the barrow, his wife, Kit, right behind him with a rake to level off the dirt as he dumped it.

Just as she was about to level with her rake, she uttered an exclamation. A bird's wing was sticking out of the dumped black dirt. Yes, it was the hummingbird, and they retrieved the little thing and rushed it into the house.

FOR THREE days, the bird didn't move, while they made frantic efforts to feed it sugar water in a demitasse cup; then, the bird revived. The Mogytyches were happy. Now, the bird was moving around, but couldn't fly, although it was eating the sugar water.

"I finally noticed that it was splashing the sugar water on its feathers," said Mr. Mogytych, "and, as a result, when the feathers dried, they were stuck together. I decided to give it a bath in lukewarm water. From then on, it was on its own.

"But it drives our Boxer crazy, hovers over him and annoys him. It's much too fast for the dog. With its beak an inch long and a tongue about ¾ of an inch, it hovers near any light fixture and goes after the mosquitoes and other bugs flying around the light."

They won't let it go now, for they fear it's too late to migrate to Florida or Bermuda. Next summer, however, they will let it go.

MEANWHILE, Randel, 12, his sister, Kathryn, 7, and the senior Mogytyches are having a ball, and there is a constant stream of visitors.

Said Leonard Dubkin, naturalist and author of several books on the North American fauna, one of which is "Murmur of Wings:"

"This is very unusual. They usually don't live very long in captivity. It probably won't live through the winter. It's not too late; they are still migrating. The only place I have seen them in captivity is at the Bronx zoo in an enclosure called the "Jewel Box." This one is undoubtedly a Ruby Throated Hummingbird, of the female species."

But the Mogytyches will battle this thing through the winter, enjoying it in motion, as it sleeps on the pussywillows or kerosene lamps, as it bathes under a faucet of running water.

BIRD WHO CAME to dinner may be shorter than your forefinger, but he is "driving our Boxer wild," and may stay through the winter, reports Anothony Mogytych Jr., as he whirs through the house and takes his bath willy-nilly everytime someone turns on the faucet. (AF

Area Road Mishaps Show Marked Drop

Traffic accidents in the northwest suburban area showed an appreciable drop this past week, according to District 3 state police reports.

Among the more serious mishaps which occurred:

- On Sunday, police charged Francisco Cruz, 18, of 3220 Buffalo Grove rd., Arlington Heights, with driving under the influence of alcohol and not having a driver's license following an accident at the intersection of U. S. 12 and U. S. 45.

Police said a car driven by Cruz sideswiped another auto while both were proceeding west on U. S. 12, then fled the scene of the mishap. He was later apprehended, and driver of the other car, Richard B. Hale, 33, of 1200 Fern dr., Mt. Prospect, signed a complaint against Cruz. There were no injuries. Damage to Hale's car was estimated at $50.

ALSO ON Sunday, police cited Audrey Missty, 37, of 4814 Wabansia, Chicago, with following too closely after the car she was driving east on U. S. 12 ran into the rear of an auto which had slowed for a rough spot in the road near Palatine rd. Driver of the other car was Ronald M. Hedrick, 20, of 115 Westgate rd., Des Plaines. There were no injuries. Damage to the vehicles was figured at about $300.

- On Friday, a Palatine motorist was run off the road by an unknown vehicle into a construction excavation while headed south on U. S. 12 near Palatine rd. Driver of the car, Danforth P. Wright, 21, of 474 N. Quinten rd., Palatine, suffered bruises in the crash and said he would see his own doctor. A passenger in the car was not hurt. Damage to the vehicle was estimated to be $400.

- On Saturday, Richard A. Schroeder, 16, of 206 W. St. James, Arlington Heights, was cited for driving too fast for conditions after the car which he was driving north on Illinois 59 skidded on wet pavement and smashed into the rear of a car stopped for a stop sign at Illinois 72. Driver of the other car was Concetta T. Cirero, 36, of Box 275, McHenry. There were no injuries. Damage was figured at $300.

- ON WEDNESDAY, Sept. 21, Floyd S. Gustafson, 18, of 1038 N. Birch, Deerfield, had a rear wheel blowout, causing the car he was driving to tip over on its side and slide down U. S. 14 about three miles west of Illinois 53 before righting itself. Gustafson, who was headed east on U. S. 14, was not injured, although his car was described as a total wreck.

- On Tuesday, Sept. 20, Jean C. Sailer, 16, of 7 Oak st., Willoway terrace, Elk Grove township, was cited for following too closely after she rammed into the rear of a car on Oakton st. a quarter of a mile east of Illinois 72, sending it into a truck in front of it. The second car was driven by William L. Robson, 19, of Orland Park, while the truck was driven by Roy Lee Willis, 34, of Selmer, Tenn. Damage to the vehicles was figured at $1200. There were no injuries. (B8

Personal Property Tax Help Offered

Anticipating a states attorney's crackdown on delinquent personal property taxpayers, Rolling Meadows justice of the peace Liston Pennington is keeping his books open until November 1 and offering consulting services to persons who feel they are unjustly assessed.

Pennington said that added personnel in the states attorney's office will be able to make it tough on those who have been glossing over their annual payments.

"As I understand it, if the tax is not paid, our records of delinquents are sent downtown," Pennington said. "At a subsequent time, the states attorney's office will return these to the local j.p.'s. (By that time, spring, 1961 there will be only two j.p.'s instead of five in Palatine township). These two will be county officers and will sue the delinquents according to law."

"MOREOVER, I have been informed that records as old as seven-years will be dug up," Pennington said. "Taxpayers will be notified to appear and pay the tax. If they fail to come, a summons will be issued and suit instituted. If a payer is still uncooperative, a judgment will be made by default.

"A property owner is then given 21 days to pay. Thereafter a transcript will be made of his property and a lien placed thereon at a rate of six per cent a year," Pennington continued.

"The lien would remain until it has been satisfied. In addition, the delinquents will be charged for court costs and counsel fees by year according to how long the roles are delinquent."

Pennington warned that liens placed against property violated mortgage contracts which specify no liens shall be placed against property. He also said titles of delinquent properties would be clouded until the debts were cleared. (B8

A piano brings so much ... to all your family!

THERE'S a special kind of magic in a piano. There's the warmth of a family, together, singing songs around a piano. There's the wonder of a child who discovers that music is a language of beauty—and he can speak it. There's the poise and confidence of a young adult, a little happier, a little better-educated, a little more suited to success because he knows music.

WONDROUS thing, a piano. It costs about one-third the price of an automobile and lasts five to ten times as long. It's simple enough to play that a 7-year-old child can learn. It's challenging enough that gifted musicians spend their lives delighting in the beauty and complexity of the music it can bring forth.

IF YOUR family doesn't have a piano, you'd be wise to investigate the benefits of owning one. You can do that at Lyon-Healy. There you will find the largest selection of pianos in the Chicago area. There your every question will be answered honestly and expertly. And you'll be pleased to learn that as little as $25 down will put a new piano in your home now.

(You might want to try Lyon-Healy's Rent-to-Own plan; rent a new piano for as little as $9 a month plus cartage. No obligation to buy . . . but if you do, 3 months rental payments and all cartage will be applied to the price of the piano.)

MAY we have the pleasure of your visit at a Lyon-Healy store this week? Oh, yes — bring the family. A piano is very much a family matter.

Federal Aid Helps Medical Research

A considerable portion of the medical research in America is being financed by the federal government. A number of agencies are engaged in medical and related research, but more than three - fourths of all federal funds invested in research programs under the direction of the National Institutes of Health, a bureau of the United States Public Health Service.

In 1960 about 80 per cent of the public funds appropriated for NIH in turn were awarded to non - federal institutions such as medical schools and colleges, universities, hospitals and scientific institutions for the support of research, research training, and the construction and equipping of new and modern research facilities.

RESEARCH project grants constitute the largest part of these expenditures. The purpose of these grants is to stimulate research in medical and allied fields by making available funds for such research, and actively encouraging scientific investigation of specific problems on which scientists agree that urgently needed knowledge is lacking. For example, a project named, "The Microbiological Profile of a Hospital" has been awarded by NIH to Lutheran General Hospital in Park Ridge to study further the possible role of air borne bacteria in infection.

Initially, National Institutes of Health research grants could only be made on a year-to-year basis, but now the average grant is for three years. Lutheran General's $52,600 grant extends over a three year period.

Since its inception in 1946, the research grants program has operated under a basic tenet that the integrity and independence of the research worker and freedom from control, direction, regimentation, and outside interference is paramount. This philosophy is a very important reason why the research program has been so successful.

THE HIGH level of health standards in America today is no doubt greatly influenced by the outstanding success achieved in medical research programs carried out in the past under the direction of NIH. Likewise, research projects, numbering in excess of 9,000, being carried on this year in more than 750 non-federal institutions will have an important bearing on the future health of the American people whose life span has already been increased to more than 70 years.

The balance of the funds appropriated this year for the National Institutes of Health is being used in medical research at its vast facilities in Bethesda, Maryland. Seven national institutes doing research in neurological diseases and blindness, mental health, cancer, arthritic and metabolic diseases, allergy and infectious diseases, heart, and dental research are located in the twenty buildings making up this huge medical center. One of these buildings is a unique 14 story hospital in which laboratory facilities occupy as much space as patient areas. The total staff of NIH, most of whom are located at Bethesda, number more than 7,000 including about 1,000 with doctoral degrees.

The Power of Television

by ED. LANDWEHR

It's pretty hard to think of anything in our life that is giving us as much all-around entertainment as our television set. Sociologists even say that it is 'making us a nation of families' again by keeping us together in our living rooms as of days of old.

For us at LANDWEHR TV, Arlington Heights, it is particularly wonderful, because we are in the middle of it all, so to speak. We meet a lot of nice people every day handling the problems of keeping the best of TV Viewing in the home.

To do the best job we're getting the latest bulletins from electronic institutions which keep us up-to-date in a fast, changing industry. Service instruments and techniques, types of sets and color are improving steadily.

In connection with these ideas, we're going to appear in this newspaper every week and let you know about some of the interesting subjects and experiences that come our way. We are sure that this column will be enjoyable and make your TV viewing more appreciative.

Addresses Rotary

Belgium Faced Congo Dilemma: Consulate

Belgium's Consulate General told members of the Arlington Heights Rotary club Thursday that nationalism and political unrest placed his country in an untenable position in the Congo.

Felix Standaert, chief of the Belgian consulate in Chicago, spoke to the club in an effort to clarify circumstances surrounding the recent withdrawal of Belgian influence from the central African colonies.

At the same time President Eisenhower addressed the greatest United Nations assemblage ever herded under one roof, Standaert skillfully defended his country's actions in the Congo.

"IT'S TO bad that Belgium, a comparatively small country in Europe, only comes into world news when something goes wrong," he began.

"The central African Congo, about one-third the size of the United States, has a population of 13 million natives and 100 thousand Europeans. The Belgian government colonized the Congo region in 1908, and when we came in, there was no existing government.

"Native tribes, separated by space and customs, were only remotely associated. There was no written language. The people were uneducated, ravaged by disease, engaged in barbaric practices.

"We took on a great challenge and even a greater responsibility in entering the African continent, but we hoped to bring about the first real solidarity and cohesion of the peoples."

HE POINTED to his country's success in halting the raids of Arabic slave traders, establishing highways and schools, implementing social and labor legislaion.

Under Belgian direction the first Congolese universities were established, one at Leopoldville and one at Elizabethville. Natives accepted the guidance of Belgian leaders and began to prosper.

"Our long range plan was to develop the Congo politically, socially, and economically so that it could one day take care of itself," Standaert said. "Then we planned to pull out.

"But a short time ago, as recently as 1955, outside occurences began to affect internal politics in the Congo. Conference of natives in Ghana and other countries urged immediate independence for the black peoples.

"Patrice Lumumba, sometimes prime minister of the new Congolese state, attended a 1958 independence conference, returning to the Congo to spread the flame of nationalism."

STANDAERT explained that political parties began to spring up like mushrooms, some adopting codes of violence and inciting native uprisings.

"As early as January, 1959, Belgian leaders realized there were only two basic solutions to the problem. The first, involving military force, was not in keeping with Belgium's moral standards and was rejected," Standaert said.

"The second solution involved the continuance of education in the attempt to constructively ready the Congolese for self-government. We chose this path, but needed more time to prepare new institutions."

In September, 1959, Belgian governors forecast the Congo would be independent in four years, Standaert continued. Native leaders, demanding immediate and full freedom, rebelled and set to stirring opposition.

THE CONGO'S unsettled affairs caused economic investments to cease. The program of preparation was stifled. The Belgians countered with an offer of independence in two years. Native leaders roared their disapproval.

"Our backs were to the wall," Standaert reflected. "We were forced to set June 30, 1960, as Independence Day. General elections were held and a parliament constituted.

"Then, after our withdrawal, we drew heavy criticism for (1) leaving too soon, and (2) leaving too late. Our position was untenable. Today's Congo strife is the result."

Standaert said that the Belgian government does not resent United Nations intervention in the Congo, but that it does not agree with all U.N. methods of restoring order.

HE CITED the peace of the Katanga Province, an area the Belgians claim needed no direction from outsiders.

Today, the Consulate General concluded, the Belgian government stands ready to provide technical assistance to its longtime colonies if requested to do so.

"We tried to head off the necessity of looking at the situation in retrospect," Standaert reflected, "and can now only make available our facilities as coming from one independent nation to another."

(B8

CONSULATE GENERAL Felix Standaert told members of the Arlington Heights Rotary club last Thursday that "Belgium was placed in an untenable position in the Congo, being unable to please the natives or the rest of the world in the matter of withdrawal from the central African colonies." Standaert's explanation of strife in the Congo was well received by Rotarians. (B8

Small savings aren't worth worrying about!

— One of the Seven Myths about Thrift

SMALL SAVINGS, a matter of two or three cents on the dollar, mean the difference between success and failure in business. They are just as important to you. If you can buy a bottle of milk for 21c instead of 23c, you have saved only 2c but you have cut your milk bill by 10%. Cut your entire grocery bill by 10% and you really have something to think about. No matter what your income is, there are always a few cents a day, a few dollars a week, that can be put into savings. In time, these funds grow to sizable proportions.

Four Prominent Men Buy Realty Business

Four prominent suburbanites have purchased Arlington Realty co., 535 S. State rd., Arlington Heights.

Announcement of the purchase was made by Edward M. Levin, who had owned the firm for 10 years.

THE NEW OWNERS, who will operate the new business as Arlington Realty, Inc., are William G. Kleiner, Herbert W. Carl, and Elmer E. Zilen, all of Arlington Heights, and Aldo Cinquini of Mt. Prospect.

Levin will retain an office in the building but the entire real estate brokerage business will be operated by the new ownership.

The new firm will maintain membership in the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors and the MAP Multiple Listing Service, of which Arlington Realty is a charter member.

The four men are well-known in suburban realty circles and were associated with Charles H. Wilson, Inc., Arlington Heights, prior to organizing the new corporation.

KLEINER, 1215 N. Chestnut, Arlington Heights, a native of the village, was graduated from Arlington high school and Northern Illinois university, where he played basketball and football. His latest "athletic feat" was to win the Real Estate Board's annual golf championship this summer.

Carl, 632 S. Walnut, Arlington Heights, has lived in the village 12 years. Prior to coming on the local real estate scene he was real estate appraiser and loan officer for a federal savings and loan association. A graduate of the University of Illinois, he was a Naval officer in World War II.

Zilen, 438 Banbury rd., who has lived in Arlington Heights for six years, has a total of 12 years exerience as a builder and real estate broker. He is presently a trustee of First Presbyterian church.

Cinquini, 9 N. School st., Mt. Prospect, has been a real estate broker for three years. He was a combat infantryman in World War II and saw action in France and Germany.

A GRAND opening is planned for October 1, according to the new owners who added that they plan to completely remodel and refurnish the realty office in a colonial theme.

New telephone number for Arlington Realty, Inc., is CL 3-8100. (B8

Drivers License Control Aim of Computer System

In a further major move toward "automated" efficiency for the Driver's License division, Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier this week announced that a new powerful electronic computer system has been installed to handle licensing and control of Illinois' 5 million drivers.

The computer, an IBM 7070, is the first of its kind to be installed by any state government. The powerful system uses punched cards, magnetic tape and magnetic disks to process driver information. It can both read and write simultaneously at a speed of 62 thousand characters of information per second.

THE NEW system, according to Secretary Carpentier, will make it possible to review the entire driver's license file in ten hours, ten times faster than the previous system. "Our main concern," said Secretary Carpentier, "is to speed up the issuance of licenses. But an important secondary fact is that the IBM 7070 system will provide valuable driver statistics, a priceless tool in drafting enlightened legislation for Illinois highway safety."

Some 25,000 driver examination reports, convictions, license renewal applications, and accident records will be processed by the computer system daily. After automatically determining the positive driver's identification number for each transaction, the 7070 scans the tape file of 5 million drivers, matching each of the day's transactions against the driver's master record.

In millisecond speeds (a millisecond is one-thousandth part of a second) the IBM 7070 will update driver's records, issue new and renewal licenses, suspension and revocation notices, and traffic safety citations to drivers who have had no accidents or convictions since the last license renewal.

IF THE information compiled by the 7070 would affect the status of a driver's license, an abstract of the driver's complete record is automatically printed out for use by a trained review officer prior to issuance of a suspension or revocation notice.

Each compilation by the computer results in automatic preparation of the document to be mailed to the driver as well as an updating of the license division's own files. Licenses, warning letters, suspensions, and cancellations are all prepared on highspeed printers operating directly from magnetic tape.

In illustrating the speed of the new system, Secretary Carpentier pointed out that the IBM 7070 is capable of reading all 1,800 pages of the Chicago telephone directory in three and one-half minutes and adding up all the numbers in 81 seconds.

Secretary Carpentier emphasized that the complicated conversion from the old system to the new computer operation was carried out without any interruption in normal work flow for the Driver's License Division. (B8

Thompson Rally Is Slated October 17

Tyler Thompson, candidate for congress to fill the 13th District seat held by Marguerite Stitt Church, will be in Arlington Heights Monday evening, October 17. His appearance will be sponsored by the Northwest Suburban Thompson for Congress committee.

Thompson will speak to the group before an informal "Meet the Press" session is held, when reporters of the local newspaper will be invited to have their questions answered.

Co - chairman for the meeting, to be held at the Pioneer Park Fieldhouse at 7:45 p.m., are Mr. and Mrs. H. Robert Powell.

THEY HAVE announced that other candidates in the November election will also attend, and the voters of Arlington Heights and nearby communities will have an opopportunity to meet them.

This campaign marks the first time that Thompson, a minister, has stepped into political competition.

Thompson is challenging Mrs. Church's voting record in international affairs, charging that she has consistently voted against foreign aid measures, even those proposed by the Eisenhower administration.

Life-Saving Miracle Performed in Surgery

Records at the Northwest Community hospital, Arlington Heights, reveal that cardiac resuscitation, one of the life-saving miracles of modern surgery, has been utilized successfully in the new hospital's operating room.

Cardiac resuscitation, as explained by operating room personnel at Northwest Community Hospital, is a procedure followed only when a patient being operated upon stops breathing. The chest cavity is swiftly opened and the heart is massaged—pumped by hand just as the heart itself would pump if it were operating normally.

This life-saving measure is rare, because patients are normally given complete physical examinations to determine if they're strong enough for an operation. On the other hand, circumstances sometimes make it necessary that "poor risk" patients be operated upon. Very old persons, victims of severe highway or industrial accidents, or serious burn cases are among those which must sometimes go to surgery even though their vitality is very low.

THEN, OF COURSE, all surgical precautions are taken. A battery of indicating instruments—defibrillator, cardioscope, pace maker—is set up and carefully attached to the patient. Complete audio and visual readings of heart action are given to the operating team. The information provided is comparable to a continuous electro - cardiogram. The moment the heart flutters, the second it fails to function normally, the operating room personnel are made aware. Then, at the critical moment, the chest is opened and the heart exposed.

Recently at Northwest Community hospital, a badly-burned boy had to be brought to the operating room. Dressings must be changed frequently on badly burned patients. Skin grafts must be checked and dead tissue removed.

BUT A severely burned body is a seriously weakened one. The boy at Northwest had been burned deeply over one entire side, on both hands, and on one leg. Loss of body fluids was critical. However, redressing was essential to recovery. As the work proceeded it was noted that the blood pressure was falling. Then heart action stopped. Breathing ceased. The operating team was alerted by the anaesthesiologist, and the chest cavity was opened.

The heart massage was successful. Today the boy is alive, mentally alert, and improving rapidly. (B8

150 Women at Tea Hear Mrs. Church

Political enthusiasm on the distaff side was much in evidence last week when 150 GOP women attended the get-acquainted tea and reception sponsored by the Wheeling Township Women's Republican club.

The affair was held September 20 in the Prospect Heights home of Mrs. Andrew Duros.

Among the distinguished ladies who mingled with the guests were Mrs. Samuel Witwer, Mrs. Benjamin Adamowski, Mrs. Francis X. Connell, and Mrs. Arthur E. Simmons.

Mrs. William G. Stratton, who flew in for the occasion and was scheduled to meet the Governor for dinner in Bloomington that same evening, charmed everyone with her graciousness.

CONGRESSWOMAN Marguerite Stitt Church, who is running for re - election in the 13th district, addressed the group. Mrs. Church urged everyone to strongly support the local ticket.

"You don't begin to win elections from the top down," she said. "You win them from the bottom up." She emphasized that in this campaign "we will have to work as we have never worked before."

THE WHEELING Township Women's Republican club urges all women interested in doing precinct work to contact Mrs. Edmond Shanahan, CL 3-8769, or Mrs. Eugene Schlickman, CL 5-5596.

Membership in the club is open to all Republican women within the township whose approximate boundaries are Wilke rd. on the west, the Des Plaines river on the east, Lake - Cook rd. on the north, and Central rd. on the south. Mrs. A. J. Baugous, CL 3-8027, is membership chairman.

First Aid Class Set For Adults

Knowledge of first aid skills could save the life of a member of your family.

These skills can now be learned right in this area as the Chicago Red Cross first aid department has begun standard and advanced courses in first aid, Wednesday, Sept. 28, at Arlington high school's adult evening school.

Volunteer instructor, York Castle, 104 W. McDonald rd., Prospect Heights, reports that people may still register for the courses, which run from 7:30 to 9:30 Wednesday evenings, by calling CL 3-0205 or by coming to the school, room 246, during class hours.

DURING THE courses, students will learn how to control bleeding, restore breathing, reduce poisoning effects, control shock, and many other essential emergency care skills.

Applicants must be at least 15 years of age. The only charge is a $1 registration fee which goes to the school, and $1 for the textbook and bandages used during the instruction.

More than 25,000 Chicagoland residents have received this free Red Cross instruction during the past fiscal year.

ANOTHER section of the expressway between Central and Kostner ave. was completed by workmen last Friday. If a 50-star American flag suddenly appears at 704 N. Salem, where Janet and Dave Bone live with their three sons, it is because Jonathan received it as a birthday present Monday. It is in keeping with Jonathan's favorite song—The Star Spangled Banner—and many a morning he awakens the family by picking it out on the piano with one finger. Those who came after dinner for cake, ice cream and chocolate milk in honor of his fifth birthday Monday were his brothers, Christopher and Bobby, Leanne and Nancy Niell, Marjorie Phillipp, Patty and Tod Shumate, Charles and Vickie Slater, Randy Wille, John Oertel and David Stein.

Eastwood Events

A fall off a slide at Recreation park on Saturday resulted in a broken arm for 6-year old Terry Bart of N. Dryden ave. His unfortunate accident necessitated an overnight stay in Northwest Community hospital, but Terry is now convalescing at home.

The Eastwood round-robin bridge tournament resumes play this month with 16 local couples participating. Hosts for the September meetings are the Jack Andersons, Ken Andersons, Matt Cockrells and the Wally Ellertsons.

Former area residents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Raasch, now of St. Petersburg, Fla., have been visitors since the end of August at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Hank Wallace, N. Dryden. Their desire to celebrate a quartet of September birthdays with their family is the chief reason for their present visit. Grandchildren Barbara and Bill Raasch, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Herman Raasch of N. Dryden, celebrated their 11th and 15th birthdays respectively on the 4th and 28th, while Mr. and Mrs. Raasch Sr. have birthdays on the 17th and 30th. Besides the 30th being Mr. Raasches' birthday, it is also the occasion of their 48th wedding anniversary. Several family get-togethers have honored all the birthday people. The senior Raasches plan to visit in Arlington Heights until the middle of October.

Word has been received from former residents, the George Moores, that their older son, Denny, underwent an emergency appendectomy last Saturday in Peoria where he is attending Bradley university. Mr Moore's mother, who was a frequent Eastwood visitor, is also a hospital patient in New Jersey.

FOR TWO MONTHS this summer Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scott, and daughters Jean and Marie, toured Europe. Their exciting experiences began with their trip across the ocean aboard the Queen Elizabeth, and were climaxed with their jet ride home in less than eight hours, at the almost unbelievable speed of 600 miles per hour.

Their travels took them by train and bus through England, Holland, Belgium, Germany, Austria, Italy, France, Switzerland and Spain. Aside from their regulation tour, the Scotts visited both East and West Berlin and were much impressed with their pilgrimage to the shrine at Lourdes.

Still filled with a zest for travel, Jean took off for Yellowstone National park immediately after her arrival home. This is her third summer working with other college students at Old Faithful Inn. Sandwiched in between times Jean climbed mountains, rode horseback and swam in the warm geyser waters.

BOB INMAN'S journey to Cambridge, Mass., where he entered Harvard university, also provided a week's vacation for his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Inman and brother, Gregg, of N. Douglas ave. After saying goodbye to Bob in Boston, his folks went on to New York where their sightseeing was done from a different angle. From a "whirley-bird" they looked down at the Statue of Liberty, the Hudson river, the UN building and at Khrushchev's ship docked in the harbor.

Highpoints of their visit were seeing President Eisenhower and Tito, "The Sound of Music" with Mary Martin and "Bye Bye Birdie" a satire on rock and roll music, were on their playgoing agenda. As a respite from their busy schedule, Mrs. Inman and Gregg visited one day with Mrs. Inman's sister and family, the John Hoslers, in Boundbrook, N.J. (A

Chorus to Introduce New Director at Open House

Town and Country Mixed chorus extends an invitation to all music lovers in the northwest suburbs to attend its annual open house, to be held Tuesday, Oct. 4, at 8 p.m., in St. Philip Episcopal church, 342 E. Wood st., Palatine. Anyone interested in further information may call Mrs. Maryirene O'Connor, FL 8-5287, or Mrs. Kathleen Pitelka, FL 8-0095. Refreshments will be served.

MRS. NELSON BOWSER

The new director for Town and Country Mixed chorus for the 1960-61 season is Mrs. Nelson Bowser of Palatine. Mrs. Bowser was born in Grove City, Pa., but at an early age moved to Orlando, Fla. At the age of 15, she started directing the local Methodist church choir and was active in dramatics and radio work in Orlando. She attended the University of Miami, where she received her BA degree in music, and traveled throughout the southeastern states with the university choir.

BEFORE moving to Palatine last year, Mrs. Bowser lived in Maywood, where she was director of St. John Lutheran choir and later the Plymouth Congregational church, both of which she still directs. The combined choirs presented a spring concert with scenes from Grieg's "Song of Norway," the staging and dances also directed by Mrs. Bowser.

When Fred Waring held his workshop in Chicago for a week during August, 1959, she attended the sessions on programming, staging, lighting and choral conducting.

MRS. BOWSER has been music consultant for Follette Music Publishers, bridging the gap between the needs of the public schools of the country and the materials available through the music firm. At the present time she is on the music faculty of the Palatine public schools. During the summer months, she has been taking graduate work toward the degree of master of education in music at Northern Illinois State college, De Kalb. Martha Bowser lives in Palatine countryside with her husband Nelson, a biochemist for the U. S. Government and two children, Katherine, 9, and John, 3½.

Announcing the 1961 Ford...

Beautifully proportioned to the CLASSIC FORD LOOK

An honor to be proud of, this is the medal presented by the international fashion authority, Centro per L'Alta Moda Italiana, to the 1961 Ford for functional expression of classic beauty.

The 1961 Ford Galaxie Club Victoria—beautifully built to take care of people

BEAUTIFULLY BUILT TO TAKE CARE OF ITSELF

The 1961 Ford introduces a whole new concept of what a car can do for you... and for itself!

It lubricates itself. New nylon bearings and a newly developed lubricant keep the '61 Ford freshly greased for 30,000 miles. Goodbye grease racks! What's more, it cleans its own oil. The 1961 Ford's Full-Flow oil filter lets you go 4,000 miles between oil changes.

It adjusts its own brakes. A "mechanical brain" keeps brakes adjusted for the life of the lining.

Rust? Ford's body is specially processed to resist corrosion, even to galvanizing body panels beneath doors.

Ford takes care of itself on the turnpike, too, with a new 390-cu. in. Thunderbird Special V-8 that has all the punch you'll ever need. The 352 Thunderbird Special V-8 and 292 Thunderbird V-8 thrive on regular gas. And, for top economy, you can choose the '61 Mileage Maker Six.

This is the 1961 Ford... beautifully proportioned to the Classic Ford Look...beautifully built to take care of itself.

HERE'S HOW THE '61 FORD TAKES CARE OF ITSELF

LUBRICATES ITSELF. You'll normally go 30,000 miles without a chassis lubrication.

CLEANS ITS OWN OIL. You'll go 4,000 miles between oil changes with Ford's Full-Flow oil filter.

ADJUSTS ITS OWN BRAKES. New Truck Size brakes adjust themselves automatically.

GUARDS ITS OWN MUFFLER. Ford mufflers are double-wrapped and aluminized—normally will last three times as long as ordinary mufflers.

PROTECTS ITS OWN BODY. All vital underbody parts are specially processed to resist rust and corrosion, even to galvanizing body panels beneath doors.

TAKES CARE OF ITS OWN FINISH. New Diamond Lustre Finish never needs wax.

State Teletype Network Now Available to Police

Any law enforcement agency in the northwest suburban area is now able to join a state wide teletype network, according to Illinois Bell Manager G. W. Kaucher, Arlington Heights.

Police officials, including the Illinois Association of Chiefs of Police, have been cooperating with Illinois Bell for several years in planning and designing this new system.

The new network provides for the first time a flat rate monthly charge for messages from law enforcement groups using a teletype system. Previously charges were figured on a mileage basis.

A FLAT RATE is considered beneficial to the municipal agencies involved because funds for this purpose must be budgeted in advance.

"As various police and law enforcement agencies avail themselves of this service," said Kaucher, "it will be a boon in aiding the apprehension of law violators crossing city and county lines."

"The reliability and speed of the teletype network will strengthen police communications and put law enforcement agencies in all corners of the state in constant and immediate touch with each other," he said.

MESSAGES sent from any point can be received in a matter of minutes by all participating agencies. The system could flash detailed descriptions of missing or wanted persons; lost, found or stolen property; stolen automobiles; crime reports and other information.

With teletype, accuracy is coupled with speed—both sending and receiving stations get duplicate messages in "writing" and a check can be made to make certain messages are properly received.

A group of suburban communities around Chicago will have the new teletype network established this month, or next. These communities are Evanston, North Chicago, Waukegan, Lake county sheriff's office and Arlington Heights.

Other towns in the area are considering joining in with the network.

Municipalities in non-Illinois Bell served territory can be a part of the teletype network through arrangement with the local telephone company involved.

SEVERAL states throughout the country have used a station-wide teletype network successfully for several years.

"How does it work?" said Kaucher.

"Suppose your car was stolen while you were shopping. You would call the local police and describe your car. They would type out your car description on teletype. It would instantly transmit the information to all agencies on the network. In this way, a whole geographic area, or even the whole state would be put on the alert for the missing vehicle.

"What really happens," said Kaucher, "is that several, separate groups become a single, coordinated unit. And this means quick and efficient law enforcement for the public."

Clearbrook School Is Facing Critical Year

A big year financially and educationally faces the Clearbrook school for retarded children, Rolling Meadows, as its fall term settles into routine.

September 6 was opening day with an enrollment of 20 students. Each child's family pays $20 a month tuition. This, supplemented with gifts from community groups, helps complete the school's $8,000 budget.

Two fund raising activities are now in progress. The first of these is a Christmas card sale for individuals and businesses. Women may give a Christmas-card selling house party, or individually contact Mrs. Robert Weed (Cl. 5-1670) for Christmas card information.

CLEARBROOK is also helping to sell tickets for Arlington Heights Village Theatre presentation of "The Girls in 509." Reserved seat tickets are $1.75 for each of three performances: Thursday, Oct. 20, Friday, Oct. 21, and Friday, Oct. 28.

The school profited from a spring fashion show given by the Meadowbrook Women's club. Presentation of a $50 check was made Wednesday, Sept. 21.

Two other charity drives have earmarked the school as a recipient. The Suburban Community Chest council sent a check for $337.98. The Council is a federation of Chicagoland Community chests for clearance of industrial contributions. It gives funds to communities who do not have a Community chest drive.

The Mt. Prospect Combined Appeal has allocated $1,000 from their October drive to Clearbrook.

THE SCHOOL WAS also honored recently by a visit from Mrs. Loetfiah Roosdiono, Djarkata, Indonesia, secretary of the Association for Retarded Children of Indonesia. Her visit was arranged by the U. S. department of state, foreign specialists program, office of cultural exchange.

While visiting the school, Mrs. Roosdiono commented on curriculum, discipline, and facilities. She noted that Indonesia had an illiteracy rate of 90 per cent until 15 years ago when the country gained its independence from the Netherlands. The rate is now 20 per cent. Prime targets of their special education programs have been the educable mentally retarded child and the trainable mentally retarded child. (B8

LUTHERANS BELIEVE...

Every Christian is a priest.

St. Peter, in his first epistle, addressing the whole Christian Church, says, "ye are a royal priesthood."

He could claim this, because Christ made it so when He died on the cross and offered there the once-for-all sacrifice for the sins of mankind.

After that there was no longer any need for a Temple priesthood to offer blood sacrifices of animals. Christ became the High Priest who made the eternal sacrifice; and those who believed it no longer trotted to the Temple to offer animal sacrifices. Their sins were forgiven through faith in Jesus Christ . . . period.

And it was at this point that every believer in Christ became a priest, subject only to the High Priest, Christ.

Lutherans believe that every Christian, since he is a priest, must act like a priest. In other words, every Christian is to function as a priest.

His functions are two-fold. First, to make intercession, which he does in his own private devotions. Secondly, as a priest, to use his God-given talents to serve his neighbor through the work-a-day world. "I am a priest," says a Lutheran. That's humbling. . . and demanding.

The twenty-six Northwest Suburban Lutheran congregations invite you to worship with them next Sunday

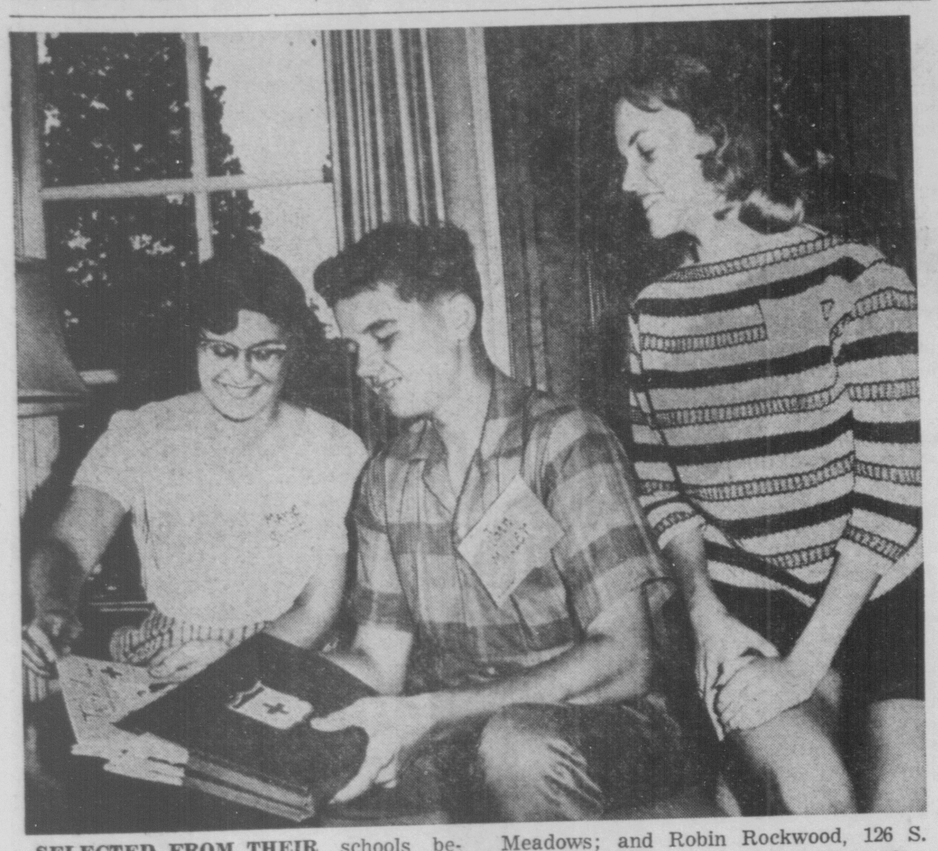
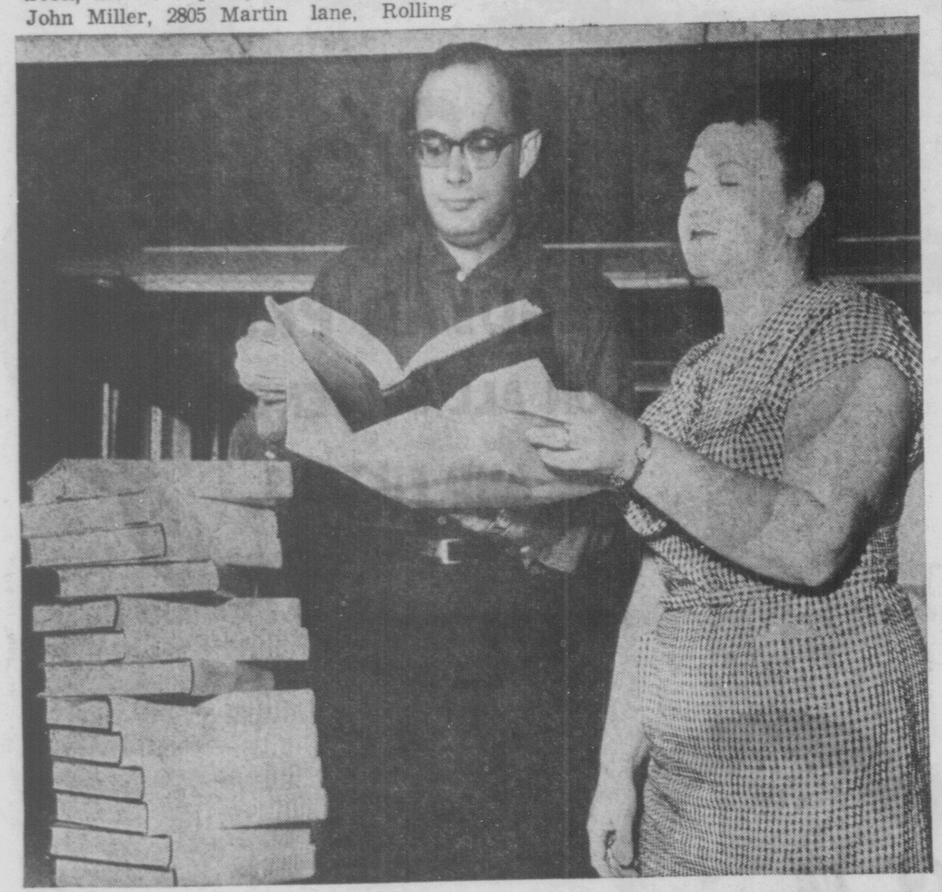
Pupil Finds Finnish Schools Good

Although the winter goes down to a frigid freeze of 60 degrees below zero in the Finnish land where Arlington Heights' first foreign exchange student is studying his high school lessons, he writes his parents that he wouldn't change places with anyone else "for a million dollars."

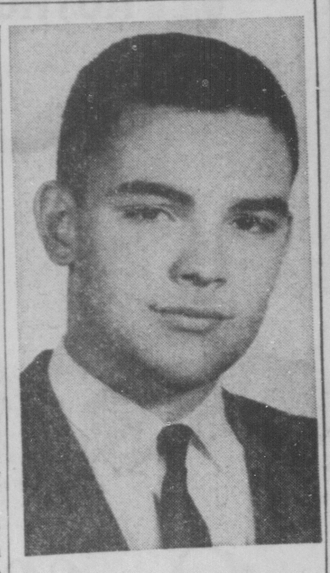


SELECTED FROM THEIR schools because of their leadership abilities are these northwest suburban delegates who attended the Junior Red Cross training center at Lake Forest academy. They are Marie Scott, 217 N. Dryden, Arlington Heights; John Miller, 2805 Martin lane, Rolling Meadows; and Robin Rockwood, 126 S. Elmwood, Palatine, volunteer counselor. These students, along with others from the Chicago area, learned to plan, interpret, and develop Red Cross programs of service in their schools.



EXAMINING NEW 12-volume set of encyclopedia is Mrs. J. A. Schroeder of Martha st., Roselle, who won the books as part of a Paddock Publications promotion at the North Cook County 4-H Fair. The set was presented to Mrs. Schroeder by Charles E. Hayes (left), executive editor of the 13 suburban newspapers.

Craig Quackenbush, the student, is attending his first semester of senior high school at the Helsinging Normaalilyseo in Helsinki, considered the Number One Finnish school.



Son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Quackenbush, 545 S. Vail, the youth left this country in June, sailing from Montreal June 9 for Finland, in order to get acquainted with his "host parents," Mr. and Mrs. Vaino Aloha.

SEVERAL hours of each summer day was spent in learning the language, but the "lazy summer days ended abruptly with the first day of school."

Craig writes that as he finished his initial week in the Helsinki high school, he thought with a grin of the easy schedule facing his Arlington Heights schoolmates.

His was a six-day week, as in most of European schools, and the day in the Normaalilyseo begins at 8 a.m. and ends at 2 or 3 p.m., depending on the scholar's curriculum. A quick snack is possible between classes, although there is no regular lunch period. And each student takes from 12 to 14 subjects, one of which is a foreign language.

CRAIG'S interest and excellent scholastic record in foreign languages was a major consideration in the awarding of the American Field Service scholarship that sent him to Finland.

However, he writes, he's far behind the rest of his class in the study of Swedish, Finland's second national language, as most students begin their study of Swedish early in the grade school.

A "snap" course for the youth is English, a once-a-week class for him. His only work is to give a lecture in class concerning American life.

Quackenbush's parents were a bit apprehensive when they learned from the Aholas that the winters didn't get too cold, only about 60 degrees below. A later letter, however, reassured them by telling them not to worry too much about Finnish winters, as it didn't get down to 60 below very often.

CRAIG WROTE his Arlington Heights high school buddies: "Helsinki is a wonderful city. I have never had more fun in my life. I miss the States, of course, and things are very different here, but I wouldn't want them to be the same.

"I love Finland, Helsinki, and everything about the country."

He wasn't quite sure whether he was to spend a full year in the Finnish school or just a semester, but felt that this was a decision that should be left up to the organization that sent him there.

Closing his letter to his buddies with the Finnish farewell "Nakemiin," he added, "and I'll most likely see you second semester."

But, it isn't the finish of Craig's unusual education, although it may be only the beginning of his Finnish.

CHECKING TO SEE if her ice skates still fit is Beth Robinson, as she and brother, Steve, prepare for annual Arlington Heights PTA Trade Fair to be held Oct. 15 at Miner schol and Oct. 22 at South school. Object of Fair is to allow youngsters to sell outgrown boots, skates, and clothing, and pick out new sizes. Teenage Scholar Seeks Entrance To High School

Emphatic proof of the advanced curriculum and teaching methods offered by high schools in Arlington-Prospect district 214 came this week with the determined efforts of a Barrington family to enroll their daughter in the school.

Facing defeat after refusal of the school board to accept the girl on a tuition basis, Mr. and Mrs. Luke Carroll achieved their goal of better and more advanced education for their daughter Judith by moving her to Arlington Heights. On the basis of her residence, the school board accepted her as a student.

MISS CARROLL, mentally gifted and with a high I. Q. rating, had previously completed her first two years of high school in New Canaan, Conn., in an "accelerated" program of study. In moving to the Barrington area her parents learned such a program was not carried by the Barrington school and was, in fact, offered by only a few Chicago area schools.

The unique program provides bright students, usually only the top five per cent of an entire class, with the opportunity for more rapid coverage in greater depth of various subjects.

By attending her local school educators admitted Miss Carroll would be "penalized" by repetition of subjects and loss of the advanced status she had achieved.

IN REFUSING to accept Miss Carroll as a tuition student the school board was sharply divided in a four-three vote. Among reasons given by the board for their refusal was the feeling the special facilities of the accelerated program should be offered to residents of the district first.

The decision to admit Miss Carroll, unanimous with the four members present at the next meeting, was contingent upon a written legal opinion of the district's law firm stating her admission would be acceptable under state statutes.

This week Judy Carroll started classes at Arlington high, back on her accelerated program — a program which meant enough to the gifted girl to give up her family home to pursue her studies. (ACM

COMMONLY should not be loosely used to mean frequently, generally, or usually. What is COMMONLY understood is understood by all. What is GENERALLY understood is understood by the larger number. FREQUENTLY means often. USUALLY means customarily.

Do not say. "I would sooner stay home than attend the party." Say, "I SHOULD RATHER stay home than attend the party."

Do not say, "We saw the sun sink down behind the hills." "Down" is superfluous, as "sink" means to go DOWN. Say, "We saw the sun sink behind the hills."

Civil War Specialty For 2 Palatine Boys

If you want to know a particular detail about the Civil War and don't know where to find it, chances are two young Palatine boys can give you the answer.

Micky Sullivan and Ronald Buckley have amassed a collection of instruments, cannon balls, arms, and equipment that is most amazing for their youth and limited financial resources.

Storehouse for their treasures is a small room in Micky's basement that sometimes overflows, Mrs. Frank Sullivan says ruefully.

The display circles four walls. Right now it has been displayed on a piecemeal basis at the Palatine library.

HIGHLIGHTS of the boy's work are a complete surgical kit, a tiny Smith-Wesson gun still loaded with seven bullets, a 25 cent gold piece, an 1861 Enfield gun, bought on an installment plan, and a confederate uniform that went through several harrowing battles.

The boys have neatly typed labels for each item, and have a storehouse of knowledge backgrounding each.

The tragedy for the collection is that a third high school buddy moved to Colorado this summer taking the bulk of their cavalry division display with him. The boy, Jim Herrick, still keeps up with his collecting friends and is scouting the Colorado area for new sources.

THE SURGICAL kit is an item that was Ron's father's and his grandfather's before that. Though they don't know the kit's history, they know it is civil war vintage. If they could verify whether it had seen action, its value would be enhanced thousandfold. Still shining, in a beautiful wooden box, the instruments in many ways look very similar to modern surgical devices.

Included is a tourniquet that has never been opened, saws, knives, drills packets of needles, and scissors.

The gold piece is a treasure, donated by Micky's mother. The installment plan gun, however, is an outside purchase, as is most of the collection. It was paid for a dollar at a time to Paul Sully a local barber who has an interest in artillery.

The uniform was worn in the 5th Maryland division by Argil H. Warner. Looking like it was made yesterday, the soft blues of the rebels is the first thing that arrests the eye as one enters the collection room. Right now it hangs on a dress form, though the boys are trying to find a dummy so an authentic kepi (cap) can be worn. Though quite moth-eaten, Micky explained that it is an unusual find since it is still in one piece.

THE COLLECTION has led the boys to an interesting correspondence with relic owners and civil war suppliers. In addition to their letters and cards, they have collected newspaper clippings concerning the war, and books written at the time. They have also collected resource books from which they are able to judge the authenticity of items.

Some of the display is not antique, though it helps round out the story of the era. The boys make small men from kits and now have more than 100 with which they are able to stage mock battles. Micky has also recently added a train, replica of that day.

Each glance around the small room reveals something new: a knapsack hanging on the wall, a rusted grease bucket used to smooth axel axle motion, a saber that has very little rust, though most leather parts of the scabbard and saber handle have rotted away.

Ron eagerly displays a piece of a tree with a bullet in it, lodged there during the battle of Spotsylvania. He has also built a replica of part of a cannon to show how different priming instruments they have were used. Plates of glass hold money of the day, 100-years ago, and letters almost indecipherable have been translated with the help of school English teachers.

SCHOOL IS the place where the original interest in the war and its momentos was kindled. For Micky it started with a brief session with civil war history in the sixth grade.

Ron entered the picture in in eighth grade. Teachers through the years have encouraged the now sophomore's interest and lent them books and information on the period.

"We're always looking for items," Micky said. "Maybe you can help us. If anyone around here is cleaning out their attic and finds something we can use, we'll be glad to help rid them of it."

High Interest In Young Republicans

Wheeling Township Young Republicans, exuberant over the high interest shown in the new organization, have scheduled a third meeting for Wednesday, October 5, at 8 p.m. in Wheeling Township Republican headquarters, 15 N. State rd., Arlington Heights.

"The turnout of members has far exceeded our expectations," said Tom Houser, organizing officer. "We welcome everyone interested in furthering the cause of the Republican Party."

Men and women between the ages of 18 and 36 from the northwest suburban area are invited to attend the October 5 meeting. Members need not be registered voters or of voting age.

On the meeting's agenda is the presentation of a slate of officers, discussion of the YR constitution, and preparations for the visit next month of Samuel Witwer, GOP Senatorial candidate.

Frank Callahan, Bill Moore and Houser have been hard at work laying the foundation for the young organization, and each expresses pleasure with the 30 memberships applied for to date.

Those interested in more information concerning the Young Republicans may phone Houser at CL 5-7789 or Bruce Ladd at CL 9-2041. (B8

Hospital Emergency Staff Is Kept Busy

A bee sting, a slipped - on apple, and a vaporizer accounted for the unusual in accidents treated at Northwest Community hospital last week.

Victim oi the yellow jacket or bumble bee is Thomas Listen, 5, of Arlington Heights. The staff gave him medication and discharged the tot.

Gary Gorski, 7, also of Arlington, slipped on an apple Wednesday, Sept. 21, and injured his back in a fall. After an examination, he was discharged.

Ruth Gomez, 25, of Rolling Meadows burned both her feet at home on a vaporizer Wednesday. Her wounds were cleaned and dressed.

THE STOMACH pump was used threee times during the week. Pamela Berry, 19 months, of Arlington Heights, had the treatment after her parents suspected the child of drinking ammonia. William Stephen, 3, of Mt. Prospect, is believed to have swallowed turpentine, and Donald Holmes, 20 months, of Arlington Heights, ate medicine and had the "washing" treatment.

Victims of dog bites are three northwest suburban children. Timothy Fanz, 4, of La Grange, was taken to the hospital by Arlington Heights police Thursday after he tangled with a canine. The emergency staff cleaned and dressed a small area below his right eye.

Arlington police also brought Raymond Perez, 8, of Arlington Heights for bite treatment. The child needed stitches on a 1½-inch cut on his left cheek.

Linda Petersen, 8, of Palatine, was brought to the hospital by Schaumburg police. She had a ¾-inch dog bite on her right hand.

Many persons came to the hospital for emergency treatment of bone fractures. John Skaling, 38, of Palatine, hit in the chest with a board while at work, suffered a fractured rib. Six-year-old Susan Keegan, of Elk Grove village, fell off her bicycle and broke her left arm.

PAUL KANTER, 5, of Mt. Prospect, fell at home and broke his right arm. Ted Thurman, 11, of Arlington Heights, caught his finger in a car door which caused the fracture. A broken ankle was suffered by Harris Birmingham, 52, of Palatine. He fell from a 14 foot ladder at a Mt. Prospect school.

Victim of a fall, but with no apparent broken bones is Bobby Walters, 25, of Arlington Heights, who suffered a chest injury when he fell from a tree last week.

No immediate care was necessary for Michael Corral, 8, of Roselle. He swallowed a chicken bone Wednesday. X-rays showed it in the stomach. (B8

Elk Grove Township Hall Ready Nov. 15

Elk Grove township officials expect to move into their new town hall being constructed on the west side of Arlington Heights State rd. just north of the Northwest tollway by Nov. 15, William Rohlwing, township supervisor, said this week.

The $54,000 one-story building will include three offices, one 20 by 34 - foot meeting hall, and a garage where the township highway department will store its equipment, Rohlwing noted.

Rohlwing said there will be offices for a secretary, township assessor and highway commissioner Ronald L. Bradley.

PERSONS FILING for general assistance (relief) funds will be able to apply at the new facility at 2250 Arlington Heights State rd., Arlington Heights, Rohlwing exlained.

The budget for the town hall has a $73,000 ceiling on it, the supervisor said, and other money will be expended for grading and blacktopping around the building. A parking lot with 3 stalls will be provided, but twice that number can be accommodated around the garage at the rear of the building.

"The town hall isn't costing the taxpayer anything," Rohlwing declared, pointing out that no taxes were levied for its construction. He explained that the building is being financed from funds accumulated from excess commissions paid the tax collector.

ALL MONEY collected over the tax collector's salary - set by state statute - and his expenses accumulates in excess commissions. "Building this fund up is possible by having persons residing in the township pay their taxes to the township tax collector rather than the county. Once the taxes are paid to the county, the money is lost," the supervisor observed.

Under new legislation which goes into effect in 1961, however, if a township surplus exists for two years without being levied, the school district of that township will be able to tap this source for revenue. A special town meeting, though, would have to be called to transfer these funds.

Most large townships now rely on excess tax commissions to finance projects, such as the building of town halls, Rohlwing said.

THE OLD ELK Grove town hall, which was located at the corner of Higgins rd. and Arlington Heights State rd. where the new Elk Grove Park & Shop is now situated, was used by the township for 50 years back when Rohlwing's father was township supervisor.

The annual town meeting this spring was held at Lions Park field house, Mt. Prospect, and business meetings have been conducted at the residence of township clerk Robert Greinke.

Persons in the unincorporated areas of Elk Grove township and the villages of Mt. Prospect and Elk Grove Village are eligible to be served by general assistance, Rohlwing commented.

Township tax collector Arnold Scharringhausen will probably continue to hold office hours at 2 E. Busse, Mt. Prospect, rather than establish his offices in the new town hall "since we don't have police protection out here," Rohlwing said.

THE 104 BY 50 - foot building will have a brick exterior, he continued. He said both he and highway commissioner Bradley would have regular office hours at the new town hall.

It was also learned that excess tax commissions in Elk Grove township this year are expected to climb to a figure of $35,000 to $40,000 compared to the $100,000 anticipated in more populace Wheeling township.

More than 5,000 Republican workers and volunteers attended the recent headquarters opening and saw a panel presentation, "Let's Talk Accomplishments," telling the story of Gov. Stratton's program during the past eight years. More than 58 specific accomplishments were received including a commendation of the Taxpayers' Federation, leading municipal and state tax authorities.

Savings and Loan Month Proclaimed

Gov. William G. Stratton has proclaimed the month of October as "Savings and Loan Month" in recognition of the services of the state's 587 savings and loan associations in promoting thrift and home ownership.

Arlington Heights Federal Savings will join other Illinois savings and loan associations in a statewide observance featuring the theme of "Save the Savings and Loan Way."

Associations will call attention to their home financing activities which contribute to the continued progress of the home building industry and related segments of the economy, to the improvement of residential neighborhoods, and to increased family pride resulting from home ownership.

ILLINOIS savings and loan associations whose total resources now exceed $6½ billion are serving over 3 million savers and home buyers the proclamation points out. For the past five years they have loaned more than $1 billion annually for the construction, purchase and remodeling of 6 out of 10 Illinois homes.

In the proclamation Gov. Stratton requests the appropriate observance of "Saving and Loan Month," during which time Illinois associations will encourage the practice of thrift as a vital part in checking inflationary pressures, and in providing through loan repayments and new savings an adequate supply of funds for sound and economical home financing.

Elements of a New Approach

State Plan Agency Listens To Flood Relief Proposals

This is the second of two articles dealing with two of the suburbs' most pressing problems, water supply and flood reduction. An article last week dealt with water supply. This article, based on proceedings at the 1960 Metropolitan Planning conference, discusses planning for flood damage reduction.)

by BRUCE LADD

The Illinois General Assembly, in creating the Northeastern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning commission (NIMAPC) in 1957, conceived an already matured public body.

The commission, full-grown at birth, has undertaken to exercise great leadership in matters of metropolitan planning for the six counties of Cook, DuPage, Kane, Lake, McHenry and Will.

In three short years the commission has enhanced its importance to the northwest suburbs, formulating and coordinating methods of improving transportation, building, conservation, water supply and overall patterns of community growth.

AT ITS THIRD annual conference this month, the commission hosted 400 governmental officials and representatives of civic agencies. Two hours of the full - day meeting were devoted to a panel discussion concerned with "Planning for Flood Damage Reduction."

Under the chairmanship of Dr. Gilbert F. White, head of the department of geography at the University of Chicago, the panel of three experts discussed new planning approaches to reducing flood damage, the elements of such planning, and the application of local powers to bring about flood - proof developments.

(Flooding is not a problem unknown to the northwest suburbs. Arlington Heights, Elk Grove Village, Hoffman Estates, Mt. Prospect, Palatine, Rolling Meadows, Wheeling and many DuPage county villages have been knee - deep in water in recent years.)

Leadoff panelist Tate Dalrymple, hydraulic engineer with the United States Geological Survey, explained "How Planning for Flood Damage Reduction Began."

IN 1900 the annual average flood damage approximated $100 million, he began, and today the damage is estimated annually at $300 million. These heavy losses prompted the Federal Flood Insurance Act of 1956, with rates based on frequency and seriousness of flooding.

"The Geological Survey began intensive studies of flood patterns in 1950 in an attempt to accumulate sufficient information for distribution to local and state governments," Dalrymple said.

"We found that good topographic maps were not used enough in local communities. These maps help tremendously in analyzing needs. They were much help in planning prevention of floods such as those in 1954 and 1957 on the Little Calumet river, Chicago Heights.

"The Survey prepares flood plain maps for distressed areas and matches funds provided by local communities. We make suggestions regarding solutions to flood problems.

"Now that governments have begun to plan for flood damage reduction, it is necessary to keep at the job. There is a variety of solutions. We cannot assume a 'do nothing' attitude concerning flooding."

JAMES E Goddard, chief of the local flood relations branch of the Tennessee Valley Authority, referred to the Federal Flood Control Act of 1936 in his discussion of "Why Planning for Flood Damage Reduction Is Needed."

"Since 1936, an efficient and effective flood control program has been conducted throughout the country," Goddard pointed out. "There are now more than 1,100 flood reduction projects economically feasible.

"But flood control is only a partial measure in the approach to flood damage prevention. Corrective measures are seldom complete solutions, as new growth keeps creating new problems.

"Floods, threats to the lives and welfare of the public, must be approached from a preventative standpoint. There is hardly an urban area in which you cannot find one or more examples of how man has ignored nature's requirements and built in the path of flood waters.

"Builders too often ignore the danger of future flooding, exemplifying the need for planning for flood damage reduction by others."

GODDARD CITED the need for planning and controls, such as subdivision ordinances, to insure the most economical use of the flood plains. He suggested only coordinated action between builder and government will satisfy flood reduction demands.

The panel's third member, James S. King, assistant chief of the north central division, U. S. Corps of Engineers, stressed the necessity of understanding local flood conditions while discussing "The Elements of Planning for Flood Damage Reduction."

"Understanding of local flood conditions and a knowledge of the possible alternative adjustments are necessary in order to plan for flood damage reduction," he indicated.

"Local, state and federal groups must coordinate efforts. Then the elements in comprehensive flood damage reduction planning can be put to work."

HE OUTLINED the elements as follows: (1) providing flood data; (2) flood proofing (using modern building techniques); (3) flood plain evacuation and land use change; (4) flood plain regulations; (5) engineering works, and (6) flood insurance.

In concluding, King referred to Public Law 645 which authorizes the Corps of Engineers to compile and disseminate information on floods and potential flood damages.

"The information we provide is only utilized to the utmost when local communities first pave the way by adherence to the elements of planning on the local level.

"Without local initative, our efforts become wasted and ineffective. Flood damage reduction must begin at home," he said.

PANEL AIDES in the flood reduction discussion were Thomas B. Casey, chief engineer of the Illinois Division of Waterways; A. L. Tholin, engineer with the Chicago department of Public Works, and Ralph W. Snyder, city manager at Highland Park.

It is worth noting that panel members referred to "flood reduction" rather than "flood control." Their plans of attack call for planning and prevention (resulting in reduction), and not simply a control of existing flood ills.

Also significant is testimony given by M. Clifford Boyer, director of the Indiana Flood Control and Water Resources commission, who attended the NIMAPC conference.

"Because of the rapidly increasing demand for suburban housing," Boyer told conference delegates, "developers are being attracted to tracts of land which lie along or athwart surface drainage systems.

"The Federal Housing and Veterans Administrations recognize this danger, and it is now their policy in Indiana not to accept financial responsibility for any such proposed development until it is examined and a statement regarding flood potential is made by my commission."

Boyer said the FHA requires the developer to submit certain data to the commission when a flood hazard may be present. This data includes a plat of proposed construction, a topographic map of the area, a plan of any proposed surface drainage channel, and cross sections of bridges and culverts.

THE STORM drainage pattern is also outlined and outflow rates indicated. In effect, the FHA requires the developer to make sure his building site is safe from flood damage.

"If a developer objects to the requests of the FHA and commission," Boyer commented, "mortgage loans are not approved. This pretty well guarantees the developer's cooperation. It's as simple as that."

Those interested in flood reduction information may write to the NIMAPC, 72 W. Adams st., Chicago, or to the Indiana Flood Control and Water Resources commission, 1330 W. Michigan st., Indianapolis 7, Ind.

(A13

TWO SMALL BOYS contemplate splash across water filled street in front of their northwest suburban home. A spring flood, caused by inadequate storm drainage provisions and lack of flood planning, forced homeowners to wade in and out of homes. (A13

SUBURBAN HOME becomes an island as a result of flood. The Indiana Flood Control and Water Resources commission requires developers to make provisions for flood prevention. If a developer does not comply, the FHA refuses to okay mortgage loans for that building project. There is no such stipulation in Illinois law. (A13

Variegated September is One of the Busiest Months

For the past two years your Sidelights prologue has announced a social picture for September that's as variegated as it's busy. Let's make it three in a row and again proclaim that the last report of September's events is like the first - everybody's busy with a little bit of everything and no one's complaining that time drags.

Guests last week of the W. L. Vinbergs, 825 S. Chestnut, were Mr. Vinberg's sister, Mrs. Amy Gaylord and their cousins, Miss Lucille Bovat and Mrs. Lillian Kennedy, all of Omaha. Joining the Omaha branch of the family was Mr. Vinberg's brother, Blair of Grand Island. Mrs. Gaylord remained here for an indefinite stay when the others returned to Nebraska Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wright and Susan of Kansas City were overnight guests last Wednesday of Mr. Wright's brother, Robert and his family, 301 N. Derbyshire. They were en route to Beloit, where Susan this week begins her second year at Beloit college.

SATURDAY afternoon the Wright household was a-bounce with the fun of a birthday celebration for Kim who was 8 last Thursday. Ten neighborhood friends agreed with the powers that be at 301 N. Derbyshire that Saturday was a far better day for a birthday party than a split-session school day.

James Connor, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. John K. Hayden, 1649 N. Vail, was christened a week ago Sunday in the St. James Catholic church of Arlington Heights, and his day commemorated at a 4-generation family gathering in the Hayden home. Adding their blessings to the occasion were the infant's great-grandmother, Mrs. George Ladd, his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Luehring and his sponsors, the James H. Ladds, all of Arlington Heights.

The previous Saturday most of the same family group attended the wedding in Half Day of Robert D. Ladd to Marjorie Lease. Here from Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. to serve as his brother's best man, was James W. Ladd. James, a former Arlington Heighter, enjoyed a week's stay in the area visiting many local friends.

Recent Sunday dinner guests at the Otto Adam home, 510 N. Evergreen, were Dr. George Kotcher and family of Chicago.

JOHN DREWES, 916 S. Dunton, allowed his 81st birthday, September 15, to slip past the notice of local nieces, nephews and cousins who in turn didn't allow the occasion to go uncelebrated. Led by Mr. Drewes' son, Al, and his wife, they surprised him in his home Saturday night with slightly-belated birthday congratulations and very timely party ingredients.

Co-planning and hosting with Mr. and Mrs. Drewes were the Ed Schimmings, William Lauterburgs, Fritz Lauterburg and his daughter, Kathy, the Jack Leggs, Mrs. Clara Schroeder and the Albert Kuhl family, all of Arlington Heights; the Rudy Wolfs and Wally Ladendorf family of Des Plaines.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Yochem, 919 N. State, recently returned from a 4-day business and pleasure trip to Dixon and Rockford. Last week Mr. Yochem spent several days in Washington, D.C. and Maryland, returning home Thursday.

MR. AND MRS. FRED Utterback, 116 S. Pine, returned Sunday after a 3-week vacation spent partly at Lake Louise. From Banff they went to Colorado, a long jaunt except when one is visiting a daughter, son-in-law and grandchildren, The Banff-Lake Louise stay was exceptionally pleasant because the temperature back home in Arlington Heights was nudging 100 degrees while the Utterbacks "Banffed" in refreshing, crisp Canadian air.

After eight days at the picturesque resort town they left for Loveland, Col. to spend a week with their daughter and family, the D. D. Bensons.

Betty Hey was 4 last Thursday and celebrated with six neighborhood friends at a party in the Hey home, 501 N. Highland. Mothers of Betty's guests accompanied their children, partly to help un-frost faces and de-cake fingers and partly to enjoy a "coffee and" visit with Mrs. Hey.

Saturday afternoon Kathy Walsh entertained five neighborhood friends at a luncheon party in her home, 509 W. Euclid, to celebrate her September 26 birthday. Games and giggles rounded out a full afternoon schedule that wouldn't have been possible on her school-day birthdate. Kathy was seven.

DEBBY HAUSER, 101 N. Forrest, was 11 years old September 19 and celebrated three days in a row. On the Friday before her birthday she was hostess to four neighborhood girl friends at a theatre-slumber party. This does not mean that Debby and her guests slept in the theatre; it doesn't necessarily mean that they slept at all.

As everyone knows, a slumber party is for late refreshments, the late late movie on TV and late, late, late chatter. Debby's followed party rules to the letter. Her wide-awake guests were Linda Baughman, Gayl Gronauer, Peggy Shively and Carol Zellner.

The next evening Debby and her parents hosted local friends, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Mears and Carole at dinner, then everybody enjoyed a bowling party to further celebrate the birthday.

A Sunday brunch at the Pancake House in Wilmette climaxed the weekend for Debby and when her birthday arrived Monday it was well-done.

MISS VIOLET Jeffery, 1311 W. Campbell, left here by jet a week ago Monday to visit in Phoenix with her sister and family, the Richard Johnsons, before entering Mexico City college for post-graduate study of Spanish and world affairs. Miss Jeffery spent a week in Phoenix, then went on to Mexico. She was graduated two years ago from the Northwestern University school of speech and will be working for her master's degree in Mexico City.

The James Stoll family, 525 S. Ridge, spent the weekend in Milwaukee with friends, the James Munsons formerly of Arlington Heights

GREETINGS from another former local family, the Richard Bradfords, were recently relayed to their friends here by Mr. and Mrs. Evrell Plank, 609 Catino. The Planks were overnight guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bradford in LaCrosse as they returned home from taking their son, Don, to Northfield, Minn. for the beginning of his senior year at Carleton college.

Local friends of the junior and senior W. E. Kopplins were relieved to learn last week that the Charles Kopplin family of St. Louis en route here via the Wabash railroad, were not injured in the freight-passenger train collision that derailed or overturned almost all cars of the passenger train.

Mr. Kopplin, known as "Bud" to local friends, reported here last weekend that all the cars up to the one he and his family occupied were derailed and that he realized a collision with with the freight train was inevitable as he watched it backing off the main line. His wife was treated for shock in a hospital near Morrisonville, Ill. where the collision occurred, then was released and the family arrived here without further incident.

MR. AND MRS. Charles Barton, 321 S. Windsor, spent the past week in Denver attending the International Association of Assessing Officers convention. The program planned for the ladies included a tour through the air force academy, a trip to the mountains and to the Garden of the Gods and a typical western barbecue.

Among the young people of Stonegate who spent the weekend at Lake Geneva with the Senior Tuxis of the First Presbyterian church of Arlington Heights for the fall retreat were the Misses Anne and Claire Ewing, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle W. Ewing, 110 S. Stratford, and Bill Bredehoft, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Bredehoft, 201 Wilshire.

Touring Repertory Group To Perform Paton Drama

by MRS. W. E. BAILEY

The dramatization of Alan Paton's "Cry, The Beloved Country" as presented by the Bishop's Company, unique repertory company touring 50 weeks of the year coast to coast, can be seen Oct. 2 at 6:30 p.m. in the sanctuary of The First Methodist Church of Arlington Heights.

This unusual production, adapted from the novel, is rich in high poetic compassion. The human hero of the story is an old and humble Zulu parson from the hills above Ixopo in South Africa. He sets out for Johannesburg in search of his only son. Finally he finds the boy in prison, the murderer of a white man who had devoted his life to justice for the black race.

In the scenes between the native father of the murderer and English father of the murdered the story reaches a height of drama seldom equalled in contemporary fiction. It is more than a story, it is a profound experience of the human spirit.

THE ENGLISH theatre, as most people know, was born before the altar of the church. The long separation between church and stage is being brought to an end by the Bishop's Company, first modern American Company to reunite the forces of religion and theatre.

The Company's record includes over 500,000 miles of travel in 48 states and Canada. The casts of the touring units are inter-racial and inter-faith. The Company is an independent organization named in honor of Bishop Gerald H. Kennedy of the Methodist Church.

This performance marks the beginning of the annual Family Missions Festival of the Arlington Heights Methodist Church. It is a series of four Sunday Evening sessions, including a snack supper, followed by special programs for adults and children. (A

What Causes Frustrations Among Suburb Housewives?

by NATALIE MEYER McKENZIE

(Third of a Series)

Why frustrations?

Many reasons can be named. Inability to accomplish a day's or a year's or a lifetime's goals; new, friendless in the northwest suburbs; a husband who travels five and six days a week. These can all contribute to a frustrated womanhood.

When frustrations?

Probably small ones constantly. But the time of boredom and uselessness felt and mentioned by most women is when the job must be abandoned to await motherhood. This continues until the precious mite becomes a human being, able to communicate and form a personality. Often the time of frustration extends until there is more than one child and they have reached school age with the unlimited possibilities for reentering the outside world that the PTA, room-mother, scouting circuit offer.

One woman's story may perhaps be the exception. It would be interesting to know with how many others it rings a bell, strikes a familiar chord.

THE WOMEN no longer lives in the northwest suburbs. This was the beginning of the most unbearable and frustrating time in her life. She moved away from home, away from the friend at the other end of the telephone line, away from church contacts, away from stores a short walk away.

After her first child was born she began her feeling of boredom.

"He is a darling boy, was a darling baby, but babies can't talk," she wrote. "I used to get almost desperate for the sound of a human voice. I watched and/or listened to an awful lot of TV (after we got it) for a while."

While her child was still little she continued playing music for her church and taking vocal lessons. "They kept me interested, as I couldn't GET interested in housework. With only one child to clean up after, housework wasn't too bad anyway, and our house was small, so that helped, too."

TWO BABIES to care for didn't help her situation. The bugbear of many women—wives of rising young executives—entered the picture—extended business trips.

"I became quite disorganized. For one thing it would be a whole week before I'd see the man who had gone to work! He had changed jobs and didn't get home except Sunday evenings, when he would leave a pile of dirty clothes, pick up a batch of clean ones and leave again early Monday morning. I can't remember exactly any more, but I think there must have been times when our little boy didn't see his daddy for weeks at a time.

"With my husband away, my old routines were all changed. For one thing, I hated to go to bed at night! I've heard widows say that nights were the hardest. I have an inkling of how they feel. It's so darn lonesome. So I read and watched TV and wrote letters.

"That's in addition to what housework I did (and don't let anyone tell you that you don't have a tendency to get slovenly when you know there's no man to keep things up for!)"

THINGS SEEMED to go from bad to worse for this woman. The next step down was another move—this time 60 miles from the now familiar locale.

"We were too far from our old location for me to use the phone. We knew no one, we had two sets of neighbors where both man and wife worked. A desert island with the two children couldn't have been much more isolated. And there is no place to go around here unless you have a car. The nearest store is six miles away.

"Your editor is right about MY neuroses and frustrations! But then I don't think there are too many who are in the situation that we were. I read recently that a large proportion of our population is shifting constantly, but most people have friends or SOMEONE or something in which to confide. I was pregnant, and very self-conscious about it when ,sanrdifyId. we vepandregna we moved here and wouldn't go to church.

"The point is that when we are about to make changes, I don't think we prepare ourselves in many ways. For instance, I had been used to the stimulation of an office, and the necessity for keeping aware of pulses. You are more keen in every way when you are alert and keen mentally. I had not prepared myself in any way mentally for the changes I was to face as a first time-mother.

"Superficially, yes. I knew, or thought I did, all there was to know about having a baby and taking care of one after I had it. I certainly found out how little I did know. Even so, it wasn't the BIG thing of having the baby or the necessities in taking care of one that floored me. It was the everydayness of being alone with my darling little mite of humanity who slept a lot and was so good, but who was my anchor to the house."

THE OUT TO the morass for this woman was a new beginning. She and her husband borrowed every library book on religion and read and discussed and searched until they found the one that satisfied them. They began doing things together outside the home like singing in the choir.

They baby-sat for each other saving what was prohibitive for them in sitter fees. She keeps up her singing and hopes to polish her rusty organ and piano playing. Since her children have reached the age where more chauffering is required, she gets out of the house that way. Her children are beginning to bring their friends home to play with them which pleases her.

These are some of the ways one woman found to solve her blemsroofepreh frustration.T problems of frustration. There are other ways for other people.

Square Dance Club News

Dorothy Meyer — CLearbrook 3-2298

Arlington Heights

Sounds of music and hoedown coming from South Junior high school in Arlington Heights last Friday night meant that members and guests of the Arlington Squares were whooping it up to the calling of Bill Clarke at their first Friday night dance of the season.

A good opportunity to get everyone acquainted and reacquainted was rovided with square dance bingo, a game played with names instead of numbers adding to the pleasure of the evening, caller Bill's wife, Marie, taught a clever new round dance, "Shortcake."

Prizes from Busy E. Ranchwear in Mt. Prospect were won by five members and refreshments that disappeared as fast as they were served ended the evening's fun.

All square dancers in the area are reminded to mark their calendars now for the next open dance, Saturday, Oct. 8 at Miner Junior high school in Arlington Heights. Everybody's welcome.

Congress Expressway Will Open October 12

Governor William G. Stratton this week announced that the last paving section on Congress Street Expressway, main Chicago traffic route between the city's loop area and lake front and western suburbs of Cook county, will be opened to traffic on Wednesday, October 12.

A program marking completion of the $177,000,000 expressway is being planned on that date. First suggested more than 40 years ago, most of the 15 mile expressway has been completed in the last eight years.

A total of $105,000,000 in state, county, and city contracts to complete the project has been let since Governor Stratton took office.

J. Russell Christianson, president of Oak Park, will preside at ceremonies conducted on the expressway. Mayors and presidents of cities and villages along the route will participate, along with Governor Stratton.

THE GOVERNOR said that state workmen are now completing the last construction project on the expressway in the vicinity of Oak Park. The project consists of about two and one half miles of paving between Des Plaines ave. and Central ave.

It is the final portin of a 6.8 mile stretch constructed by the state, involving the relocation twice of two railroad lines.

Completion of this project will eliminate a traffic bottleneck on the expressway that has existed since the first sections of the paving were opened to traffic.

AN AVERAGE of 160,000 vehicles daily are expected to use the expressway, which has been under construction for a number of years under supervision of the Illinois Division of Highways and in cooperation with the city of Chicago and Cook county.

Motorists using the expressway will save between 30 minutes and one hour daily travel time in each direction between the western suburban areas and Chicago's loop district and lake front as compared to the time required on regular routes.

Universalists to Hear Psychologist on Religion

Dr. A. E. Hoover, a member of Countryside Universalist Fellowship, will be speaker next Sunday morning when "The Feeling Side of Religion" is discussed at 10:45 a.m. in the little white schoolhouse" on Ela rd., just south of highway 62.

How much and in what ways does emotion influence the thinking of religious liberals? Is our dedication to rational analysis also an emotional expression? Does a liberal find less security or more security in his religion than a follower of an orthodox religion?

THESE ARE SOME of the questions that will be considered by Dr. Hoover and by the group in the discussion period which will follow his talk. Dr. Hoover studied philosophy at Roosevelt university, did graduate work in psychology at Illinois Institute of Technology and is now assistant professor of management in the college of business administration at Roosevelt university. He is also director of Hoover associates, a firm of industrial psychologists.

A wide variety of speakers and topics are heard in the schoolhouse each Sunday morning. Last Sunday, E. C. Alft, a teacher of economics and American government at Elgin high school and at Elgin Community college, spoke on "Anxiety in Our Times and Society."

A graduate of the Maxwell Graduate School of Citzenship and Public Affairs at Syracuse university and a recent Johy Hay fellow at Yale university, Mr. Alft leads an adult evening discussion course on Great Ideas in Western Literature.

Oak Lawn Operator Low Bidder for School Buses

A new bus operator will soon be "in business" for Arlington-Propect district 214 following weeks of negotiations and deliberations by the board of education.

At stake will be the transportation of students to and from both Arlington and Prospect high schools on regular morning and afternoon school bus routes as well as later activity and athletic bus schedules.

THE NEW operator and low bidder on the contract is Lee Stahl, Oak Lawn. Stahl has operated for 15 years and now serves almost 35 schools. These include the private schools in Chicago such as the Chicago Latin School and University of Chicago as well as Bremen high school, Oak Lawn, Orland and Worth township schools.

Stahl's bid was $28.50 per day. Bids ranged to $33.60 including an estimate of $30.66 for operation of the bus system by the school district itself.

The new operation is to start "as soon as possible." A final contract is to be signed between the district and the Stahl corporation by tomorrow, or negotiations will again be started for another operator.

THE ACTUAL COST of bus operation was set at $21.50, with $7 additional to be applied toward purchase of the school buses. Agreement on the new operator and proposed contract came Monday night at the high school board meeting.

The school district owns 30 Superior body-Chevrolet chassis buses purchased last spring. Title for the buses will remain with the district until the end of the three-year bus contract.

Principal problem in the current operation of the school buses is the location of a suitable terminal and maintenance garage. The parking site must be as close to the schools as practical and local zoning regulations have limited the selection of property. This was one of the major problems faced by the present operator Jelco Transportation company of Milwaukee.

Jelco, low bidder on the operation last spring, bid $28.75 on the present contract. A firm contract on the negotiations of last spring had never been signed by the firm which is presently operating the bus system on a daily basis.

IN ADDITION to providing bus terminal and maintenance garage facilities the Stahl firm will provide complete insurance coverage for the bus operation. The firm must also satisfy a performance bond for which the school district will pay.

Investigation of the Stahl firm included recommendations from the various schools presently being served by the firm as well as a financial statement of the firm's operation.

The changeover should not affect students. Bus routes and schedules will be maintained without interruption.

Ensemble To Treat Area Women

The Lyrics, a 6-voice ensemble formed a year ago, will present a musical montage Wednesday, Oct. 5, for members of Arlington Heights Woman's club. This is the first appearance of the group in Arlington Heights and the program will begin at 1:15 p.m. in Recreation Park field house.

Their program will bring together songs of many ages, from the Renaissance to Broadway, in a half hour of entertainment entitled, "Dimensions in Vocal Music."

THE MUSIC study group of the club will hear Alec Catherwood, a violin student and teacher at the American Conservatory of Music, at 1:30 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 6, in the home of Mrs. T. O. Grisell, 620 N. Highland, Arlington Heights. Co-hostesses will be Mrs. John Galondak and Mrs. George Hasbach. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Galondak at CLearbrook 3-5463 or Mrs. Hasback at FLanders 9-1698.

Barber Shop Singers in Competition

Members of the Arlington Heights Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America will attend the Illinois district convention and contest September 30, and October 1 and 2 at Bloomington, Ill.

The chorus, having won the area 11 contest last April at Maine township high school, will compete with other choruses from Illinois.

THE TOP chorus, judged by society contest rules, singing in this preliminary contest will qualify for the 1961 international contest. It will be held in June in Philadelphia, when 15 of this country and Canada's best choruses will compete for the international championship.

The 66 member chorus from Arlington Heights is directed by Earl Auge, 801 N. Pine.

GUEST OF honor at a dinner party September 21 was Marianne, daughter of Marilou and Ray Crough, 1228 N. Chicago, who was celebrating her ninth birthday. Sharing the festivities were Patty McGuire, Jennifer Rollefson and her brother, David. The following Saturday the Crouches entertained 10 of Marianne's friends from dancing school at a luncheon party and scavenger hunt.

With twin brothers, Robert and Ronald, at home to assist parents, Connie and Chuck Dolejs, 1200 N. Race, Kathy Schmidt, Roxanne Kuhl, Jerry Staubitz, Barbara Warner, Roxanne Petrucci, Kim Vogtritter, Gail McBride, Cathy Narup, Kathy Gutski and Barbara Swanson, both of Lynnwood, and Loni Larson, whose sister, Thea, was unable to attend, to share in the celebration of her seventh birthday at a party Saturday afternoon.

It was a family celebration at home September 26 for Jimmy, son of Betty and Bob Gumz, 1248 N. Chicago, as he marked his 11th birthday, but the presence of a cake precluded his brother, Roger, in wishing him many happy returns.

It was a family celebration, too, for Eileen, daughter of Dorothy and Bill Henneman, 1200 N. Chicago, who observed her second birthday last Sunday at a dinner arty. Present were her brother, Michael, sisters, Mary Kay, Patty, Diane and Christine, maternal grandmother, Mrs. Alice Peters, aunt, Miss Shirley Peters, both of Chicago, and aunt, uncle and six cousins, the Frank Shied family of Milwaukee.

SEPTEMBER 25 also marked the natal day of Reid, son of Hazel and Taft Lowell, 1246 N. Yale. Helping him celebrate his third birthday last Sunday at a family party were his sisters, Claire and Kay, maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Idle, Chicago, and aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. John Idle, Meadowdale, and cousins, John, Jim, David and Phillip.

Birthday cake and ice cream were the highlights of a family party September 19 in honor of Patty, daughter of Margaret and Travis Brann, 1400 Clarendon, who was celebrating her second birthday. Helping to devour the cake and ice cream was her brother, Gary.

One of the last summer get-togethers was held September 17 in the home of Phyllis and Walter Busch, 1320 N. Chicago, whose guests were invited to come uniquely dressed in kiddie costumes. Having fun identifying one another were Lois and Gil Martin, Joan and Ed Donath, Jean and Marvin Hayes, Pierette and Walter Leckie, Phyllis and Hal Fluhrer and Joan and Jack McKey. The evening was topped off with a buffet supper.

VFW Penny Social Attended by 250

"More than 250 players enjoyed their social last Wednesday," states ticket chairman Miss Lorraine Schubert. The Penny Social, an annual affair held at the VFW clubhouse, attracted a record crowd this year.

Grand prize was a Waring electric blender. Mrs. Ann Gothard, 509 East Frederick street, Arlington Heights was the lucky recipient. Second prize went to a member of the auxiliary, Elinor Huff, 1411 W. Euclid, Arlington Heights. She received a Sunbeam automatic percolator. The Sunbeam steam iron "went home" with Jean Maszk of 3602 Pheasant drive, Rolling Meadows.

MRS. JOHN Heidemann was in charge of the distribution of tickets. Also during the evening, the penny social prizes were awarded. Mrs. Eugene Schoenbeck announced the many lucky winners.

Local businessmen were most cooperative in donating 50 prizes for the evening. Mrs. James Goman and Mrs. Harold Nebel distributed these gifts to the winners. "We want to publicly thank all the Arlington Heights merchants and businessmen who cooperated so well by donating these beautiful and useful prizes," stated Mrs. Nebel. "It helped make our party the best ever."

VFW post members helped as waiters throughout the evening.

Park Board Changes Are Announced

Two replacements for Arlington Heights park board were announced this week. They are Douglas Thomson, 919 S. Vail, and Wilbert Becker, 116 S. Fernandez.

Thomson, a resident of the village for three years, replaces Dean Bradle, who is moving out of the village.

Becker, who has served as secretary of the board for 10 years, will replace Robert Skallerup, who is also moving.

THOMSON IS regional sales manager for Lederle Laboratories. Becker, a resident of the village for 33 years, is employed by Kehe Motor Service.

Both men, if they desire to continue serving on the park board, must stand for election next April. They were appointed by other board members to fill the interim period.

Twenty per cent of the funds raised in the local "Doughnut Day" drive will remain in Arlington Heights, as in other communities where local Salvation Arm service unit committees are organized. Say yes when they ask to play in the band

says BENNY GOODMAN
celebrated clarinet soloist, orchestra leader, TV and recording star

"Music may never be a career for your child", says Benny Goodman, "but playing in the band can be one of the most rewarding of all school activities." Benny Goodman, one of the world's most popular musicians, is also a parent who knows the lifelong benefits a child gains from playing an instrument. "A person who has never played an instrument can't possibly know the satisfaction of making music. It's an experience every child deserves."

The fun of playing an instrument is only one of the rewards your youngster gains. Ask any music educator. He'll tell you that the child who is active in music usually does well in other school subjects too, becomes more poised and confident, and acquires self-discipline. Because an early start in music is so rewarding, many schools encourage even fourth-graders to join the band.

Now you can give your child this chance. Rent a brand new instrument. "It costs no more to play the best."

Northwest High Schools Face Growth Crisis

Enrollments Surge Upward

by HELENE BRISTOL

Crowded classrooms, half-day sessions and classes in rented church quarters. These are an "old story" to almost all parents of elementary school children in the northwest suburban area — parents, whose children have at some period of their grammar school days faced one, or all, of the problems brought about by fantastic increases in school populations.

To date the problem of overcrowding has been found mainly in the elementary schools, but now the upsurge of student enrollments is reaching the high school level.

Parents and interested local residents are asking, "are the high schools ready?" "Do high school administrators realize the 'population explosion' problems they face?" "Will there be sufficient schools ready at the high school level for my child?"

"DO HIGH SCHOOL administrators realize the 'population explosion' problems they face?"

Most high school officials, school board members and administrators alike, not only realize the problem, they have had nightmares about it.

In typical "American success story" tradition they have faced the problem, studied it, come up with their solutions and are on the way to eliminating the "problem" completely—at least for the time being!

"Are the high schools ready?"

THE ANSWER in Palatine district 211 today is "frankly no." The present school building, erected in 1928, is well over capacity. With three new additions—additions which total more space than the original building—the school capacity is about 1200.

Today the enrollment is almost 1600.

Classes are being held in auditoriums, cafeterias, teacher work - rooms — in fact, the janitor's storage room is almost the only area of the school not turned over to classrooms.

The school is maintaining its scholastic standing and curriculum but only under massive inconvenience and extra effort on the part of teachers, students and the school administration.

AT ARLINGTON — Prospect district 214 the picture is brighter. Capacity of both the Arlington and Prospect high schools is 2500, or a total of 5000 students. Enrollment today is 2370 at Prospect high and 2048 at Arlington, a total of 4418.

Next year the estimated enrollment will be 5400, or 400 above capacity. With two schools to absorb the increase overcrowding will not be "too severe" according to school officials.

"Will there be suficient schools ready at the high school level for my child?"

Yes. With three new high schools under construction in the Palatine - Arlington area the future is much brighter for prospective high school students.

The first school scheduled to open is the new district 211 building at Quentin rd., and Illinois st., southwest of Palatine. Set for completion next summer, construction is running several weeks behind. Mercury Builders, Chicago, general contractors, stress the school will be ready in time for September, 1961, classes.

At present work on the academic and administration sections is far along with glazing and rough plastering now underway. Cafeteria, library and vocational training quarters have steel framework in place and cement work almost completed. Work on the gymnasium is barely started.

The school, as designed by Nicol and Nicol, architects, will have an opening capacity of 1,600 students with gymnasium, heating plant and cafeteria built for an eventual enrollment of 2500. The academic quarters similarly are designed for expansion to 2500. Cost of the building site, equipment and landscaping will be about $2,880,000.

Enrollment in district 211 will be about 1950 next September, with enrollments expected to rise to about 2350 in September, 1962, and about 2750 in September, 1963. By 1964 the expansion of the new building will be needed to accommodate an estimated district enrollment of more than 3100, substantially more than 3100, substantially more than the 2800 capacibuildings.

CONSTRUCTION was started August 26 on the third high school in Arlington district 214. Known as Forest View high school, the structure will be located on Goebbert rd., a short distance northeast of the intersection of State and Algonquin rds, in Elk Grove township.

Scheduled to open in September, 1962, Forest View school will come "just in time" for an estimated district enrollment of 6400 - 1400 more than the capacity of the present Arlington and Prospect high schools.

Designed by Samuelson and Sandquist, architects, the school will accommodate 2500 students. It will be on a campus-type plan, with separate buildings for administration, vocational training, academic studies, cafeteria and physical education.

Full work crews and new methods of construction should keep construction going even through this winter according to spokesmen for E. W. Sproul Construction company, general contractors. Cost of the completed building, completely landscaped and equipped, will be about $4,400,000.

"Sufficient schools" for Catholic parents in this area have been only a dream at the high school level in the past. If a parochial secondary education was desired students traveled long distances to Morton Grove, Des Plaines or Evanston.

Next year the dream will become a reality for Catholic boys at least.

DOORS OF ST. Viator high school will open in September, 1961. Located on Oakton st. east of Dryden st. in Arlington Heights, the school will serve parishes in Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect, Prospect Heights, Wheeling, Des Plaines, Rolling Meadows, Elk Grove, Hoffman Estates, Palatine and Barrington. Boys from more distant parishes will be accepted as long as space is available according to a spokesman for the Clerics of St. Viator who will administer the school.

Starting enrollment is expected to be about 700 freshmen and sophomores, with junior and senior classes to be added in 1962 and 1963, respectively. Eventual capacity of the school will be about 1800.

The $3 million buiding was designed by Stickle and Associates of Cleveland, architects. M. A. Lombard of Chicago, general contractors, have a mass of workers on the school site, with final foundation work set for completion this week. A gigantic crew of bricklayers is now being hired to speed work through the winter for the scheduled June 1 completion date.

Instructors at the school will be the Viatorian priests with outside teachers hired in specialized subjects, particularly athletics. The ratio of priests to lay-teachers will be about three to one. The school priest-faculty will live on the third floor of the academic wing with their own cooking, dining and living facilities.

In addition to 52 classrooms there will be eight science laboratories, counseling rooms, offices, electronic reading and foreign language rooms. The school will include a cafeteria, library and chapel seating 200. Adjacent to a 900-seat auditorium will be a large music department. Physical education facilities include a 2600-seat gymnasium and the only indoor school swimming pool in the area.

WHAT ARE future building plans? Will these three high schools now under construction solve the growing enrollment problem?

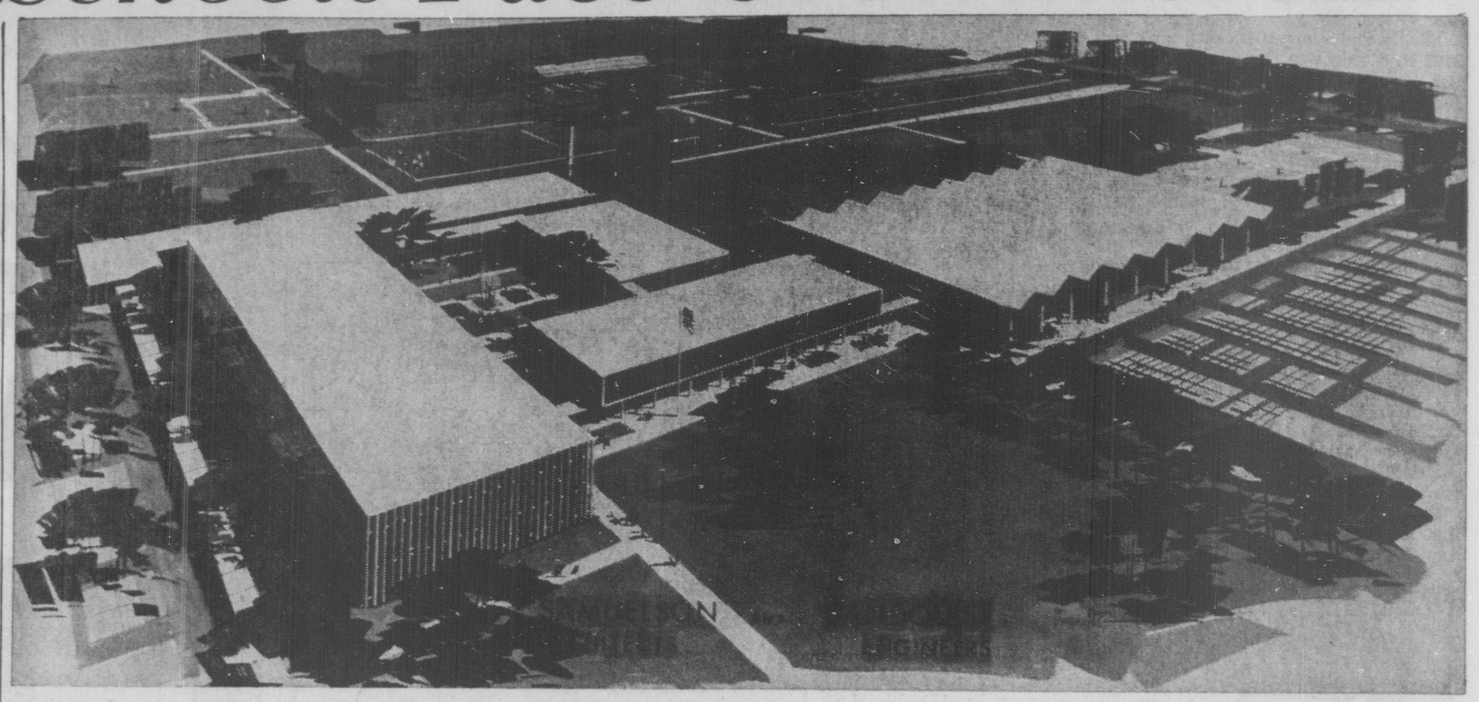
For the time being, but it is only a temporary solution with the need for classrooms continuing to grow.

In district 211 the present building under construction will have to be expanded to its full 2500 capacity by 1964. The school board has looked ahead farther and has secured two additional building sites at the south end of the district which runs, as does Arlington district 214, from Lake county on the north to DuPage county on the south. The additional Palatine district sites are in Hoffman Estates and in the Weathersfield subdivision area, both in Schaumburg twp.

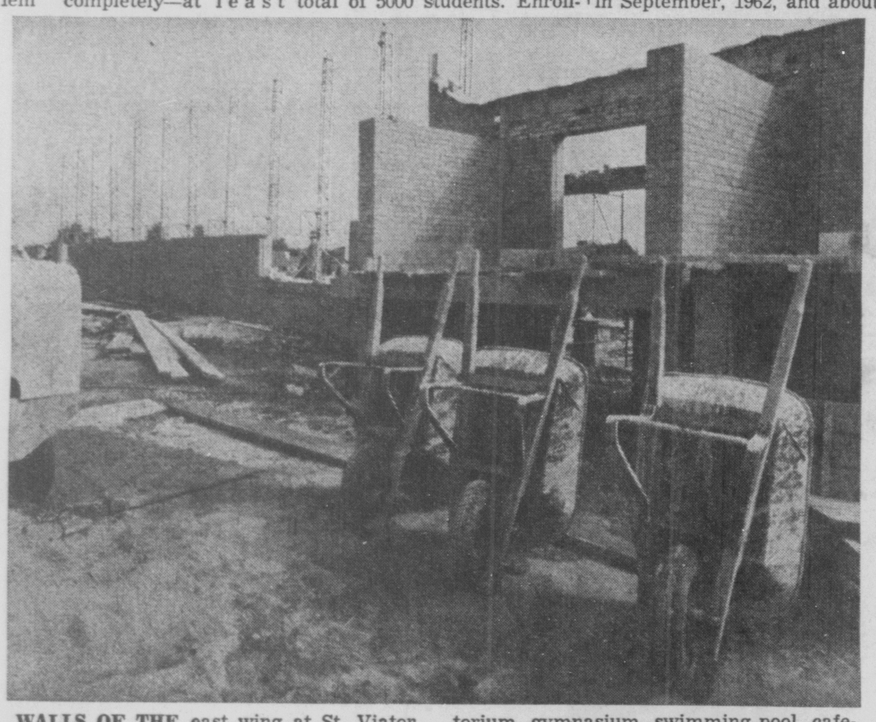
In Arlington-Prospect district 214 three additional sites are now owned by the school due to foresight by the board of education. One site is located in Elk Grove village at the south end of the district, while two sites are located to the north in Wheeling twsp.

According to the Viatorians, additional Catholic boys high school facilities will be planned by the Chicago archdiocese as the need arises.

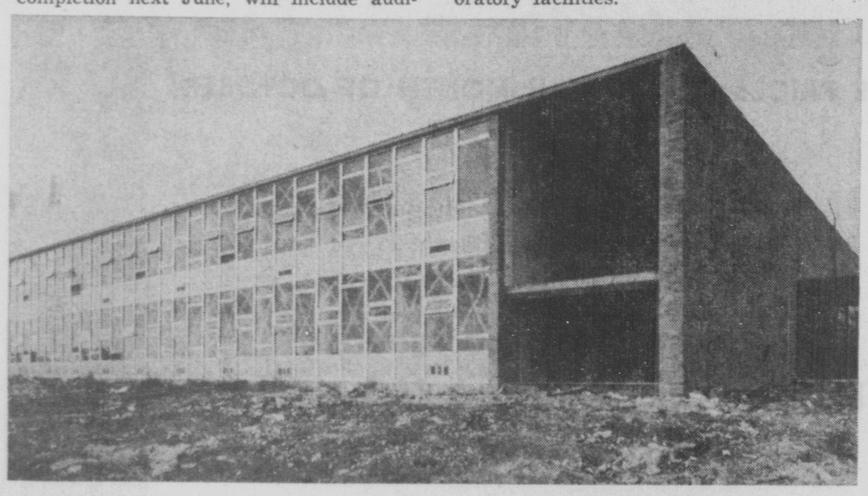
A new Catholic girls high school is scheduled for the area within the next few years. Land for the school has been set aside in Rolling Meadows. The school will be administered by the Religious of the Sacred of Mary. The same order of nuns will operate the St. Colette elementary school in Rolling Meadows.



THE CAMPUS-TYPE school plant of the new Arlington-Prospect district 214 Forest View high school will be unique in the area high schools. Scheduled to open in September, 1962, the large academic wing at the left above will be joined by corridors to the vocational plant at the rear and the combination administration-business study building at center front. The cafeteria will complete the fourth side of the "square" building arrangement with the large physical-education building at the right.



WALLS OF THE east wing at St. Viator high school are rising rapidly in an effort to bring the complete building under roof by December 1. The school, scheduled for completion next June, will include auditorium, gymnasium, swimming pool, cafeteria, chapel and living accommodations for the priest-faculty in addition to the regular academic, administrative and laboratory facilities.



ACADEMIC AND administrative rooms are far along in the construction of the new south Palatine district 211 high school. Work on the cafeteria, library and vocational quarters is still "in the open" and not under roof while the large gymnasium and physical education wing lacks the steel framework. Running several weeks behind schedule the contractor states they still expect to finish the entire building in "ample time" for school opening next fall.

Zooming Enrollments Confront Area Highs

by HELENE BRISTOL

High school enrollments are zooming, both from increases in entering freshman classes and from a mass of new transfer students.

Enrollment in the Arlington-Prospect school district 214 rose to 4,418 this September compared to 3,776 a year ago. Next year district 214 expects 5,220 students in their present two high schools.

In Palatine district 211 enrollment this fall is 1,594 compared to 1,328 a year ago. Next year enrollments are expected to reach 1,970.

Sufficient class space is presently available at both Arlington high school with an enrollment of 2,048 and at Prospect high school with 2,370 students. Both these buildings were designed for a student capacity load of 2,500. By September, 1962, when enrollments will bring overcrowding at the two present schools it is expected the new Forest View school near State and Algonquin rds. will be finished. Construction is now under way.

PALATINE high school with 1,594 students is almost 400 students over the building capacity of 1,200. School is being conducted on a shift system with every square inch of space utilized for classrooms. Teachers lounge, cafeteria, work rooms and even the home-economics department "living area" is being used for classes.

Where do all the students come from?

The normal trend is rising birth rate accounts for a continuing increase of students in each freshman class. In many schools the normal "drop out" rate decreases this class size substantially by the senior year. In the two northwest area high school districts the low "drop out" rate is more than matched by the large number of transfer students who come from outside the district.

CONTRARY TO opinions by both school officials and area residents, the majority of transfer students to the two northwest suburban districts do not come from the metropolitan area of Chicago. The largest numbers come from other states or from the general suburban area, indicating a tremendous mobility of population.

At Palatine high school of the 140 students enrolled since June, 46 students come from out of the state, including three from overseas (Germany, Belgium and Hawaii). There were 58 students from other Chicago suburbs, but only 24 from Chicago.

The tremendous transfer influx is pointed out at Prospect high where 30 per cent of the senior class represents students who did not start their freshman year in the district. At Prospect there are 61 new students from out - of-state, compared to 41 from Chicago, 16 from Illinois outside the Chicago area and 56 from other suburbs. The out-of-state figure includes the school "exchange" student from Madrid, Spain, as well as students from South Africa, Okinawa and England.

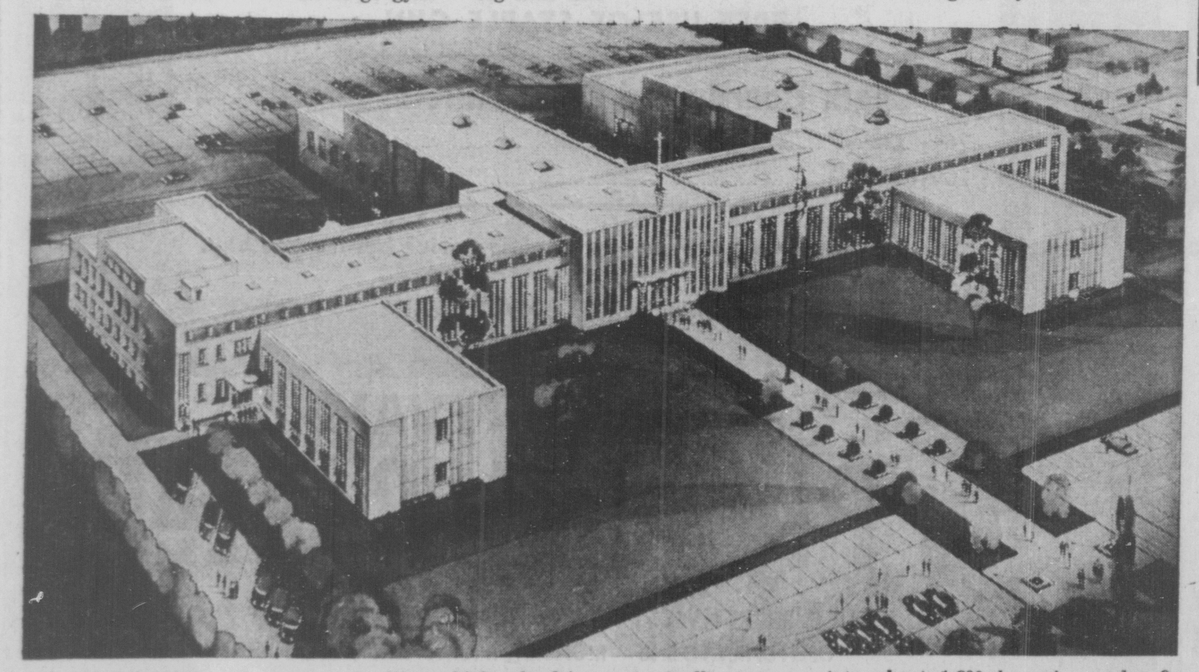
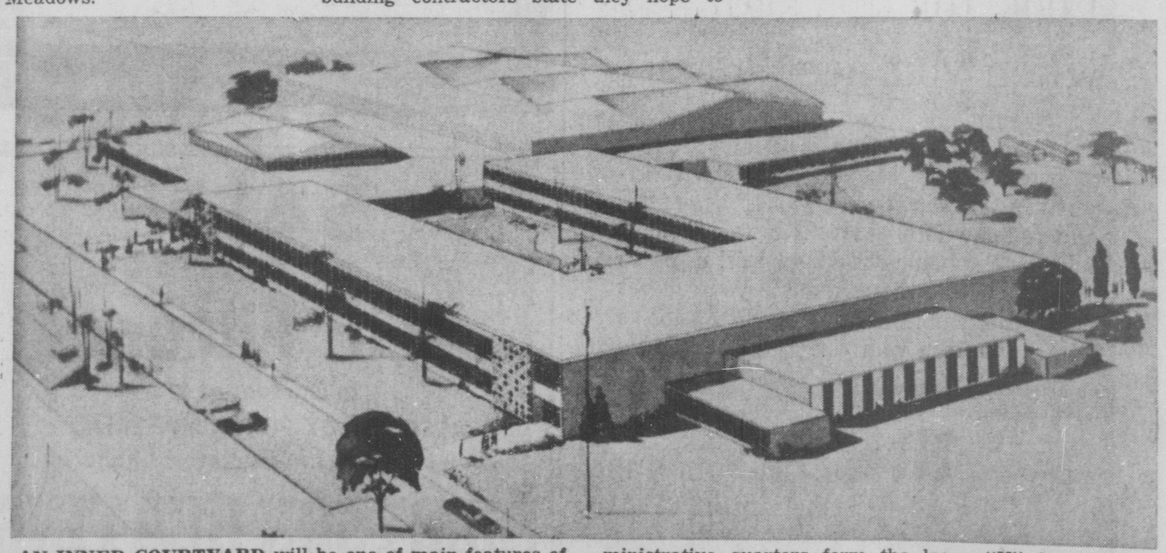
AT ARLINGTON high school the out-of-state transfer figure is almost equal the combined total of Chicago, suburban and Illinois transfers. There are 114 new stu- from outside of Illinois compared to 61 from Chicago, 45 from the suburban areas and 13 from Illinois. The Arlington foreign students come from Turkey, France, Mexico, Puerto Rico and Canada as well as the school "exchange" student from Argentina.

At Arlington particular effort has been made to make the new transfer students feel "at home." Friday a social period was held with school officials, members of the girls Triple S service club and boys "A" club on hand to welcome the new school members.

UNDER CONSTRUCTION less than a month the new district 214 Forest View high school is well along with foundation footings and forms. School officials and building contractors state they hope to progress with work so that progress can be continued through the winter. The school, on Gebhardt rd. south of Arlington Heights, will serve 2500 students.



IN SEPTEMBER, 1961, the new St. Viator high school in Arlington Heights will look like this to the approximate 700 freshmen and sophomore students who will comprise the opening student enrollment. The $3 million school will eventually accommodate about 1,800 boys in grades 9 through 12 from the 16 Catholic parishes in the Arlington Heights area.



AN INNER COURTYARD will be one of main features of the new Palatine district 211 school on Quintens rd. southwest of the village. Scheduled to open next September the building will accommodate 1600 students with plans for future expansion to 2500 students. Academic and administrative quarters form the large "U" in the foreground with the library shown at right front. The fourth side of the court will be formed by the vocational training and cafeteria wing with physical education facilities shown in the center rear of this architect's sketch.

Cardinals Journey to LaGrange Saturday

KICKIN' IT AROUND

by BOB FRISK

A PASSING COMBINATION that never had a chance to operate on a varsity level in high school is finally getting that chance in college. And the results could be extremely profitable both now and in the future for Coach Howard Fletcher and his Northern Illinois Huskies.

When George Bork was a junior at Arlington high and a highly-regarded prep passer, Rich Bader was a senior and a hightly-regarded prep end. However, unfortunate circumstances intervened and eliminated any chance this passing combo had for making headlines on the high school front.

In Arlington's first game of the 1958 season Bader incurred an injury that sidelined him for the remainder of the season. Taking a short pass from Gene Dahlquist, who was alternating with Bork at quarterback, Bader suffered a crack in the ankle bone that at first was expected to keep him out of competition for just four weeks. However, the senior standout, who ranks as one of the top sprinters to ever don the Cardinal and White, never got back into action.

RICH BADER

Bork continued on and shattered all of Arlington's passing marks in a brilliant senior year. George registered 1,002 yards on his aerials thanks to 70 completions in 125 attempts. In addition, he threw for seven touchdowns and earned special mention on the All-State squad, just missing a first team berth.

Now, both Bork and Bader have graduated from high school and both are performing for Fletcher's Northern Illinois Huskies. In Northern's opening win two weeks ago frosh Bork passed seven yards to soph Bader for one of the victor's four touchdowns.

Although this passing combination may not come into much prominence this year, the future looks promising. Fletcher is high on the performance thus far of Bork who, as a freshman, can play varsity ball. "George was one of the real surprises in camp this fall," Fletcher commented. "He has a long way to come, but he's a real good passer and kicker, and handles the ball fairly well. In fact, he has all it takes except speed."

"We'll be watching those Northern Illinois results. And don't be surprised if a few of those touchdowns come via Bork to Bader passes.

ARLINGTON'S MIKE DUNDY, an All-State halfback in 1959, has some talented competition at the halfback slot on the University of Illinois' frosh grid roster. The plebes reported for practice last week, and the array of talent—particularly at halfback—is one of the most imposing in years. Although there's a definite shortage of outstanding quarterbacks, halfbacks are present in both quality and quantity.

In addition to Dundy at halfback, there are Nick Boysaw of Urbana and Jim Jackson of Chicago Farragut, Illinois All-Staters in '59; Jimmy Warren and Tom McCullom, New Orleans speedsters with Warren a :09.7 man for the 100; Percy Hunt of East Chicago, Ind., one of the northwest Indiana area's outstanding performers; Bill Rowden of California, a track standout too with a :47.3 clocking for the 440; Bill Vitek, a star on Chicago's DeLaSalle unit last fall; and Dave Anderson, an outstanding Ohio native.

First report we have is that Mike hasn't got a chance to show his stuff yet with even the possibility of the Arlington speedster being shifted to quarterback. Dundy isn't the fancy-dan type of runner who commands a second look in the early stages of drills, but he's a hard worker and the type of back we'd like for those crucial situations. If given the chance he deserves, Dundy could make it in Big Ten football.

THIS 'N THAT:

An Eastern, Ill. college gridder currently has the distinction of being one of the largest—if not the largest—player in the United States . . . Tony Sokol, 19-year-old Cary native, stands 6-6 and weighs 406 in full uniform . . . His newly-ordered gear arrived last week and it included the 52-inch football pants and jersey which stretched comfortably around his 54-inch chest and 20-inch neck . . . He's still waiting for the size 14 double E shoes . . . The big fellow prepped at Crystal Lake high but didn't spend much time in athletics . . . Tony's time for the 50 yard sprint, in full uniform, is 9.6 seconds . . . Pat Solon of Arlington Heights, a halfback for the Notre Dame prep unit, recently earned "Player of the Week" honors in an area newspaper . . . Solon, who also earned the honor in 1959, scored 18 of his team's 19 points against Taft two weeks ago and was a standout on defense.

Hottest rumor on the managerial prospects for the San Francisco Giants next summer pushes the chances for either Joe DiMaggio, if he wants it, or Lefty O'Doul, if the Yankee Clipper doesn't want it. And we're leaning toward the latter.

Jim Hoffa, Jr., son of the Teamsters Union prexy, has quit the Michigan State football squad . . . A standout prep guard in Detroit, young Hoffa wanted to devote more time to his studies . . . Maine West's Keith Connolly and Glenbard West's Bob DesRochers, the two current scoring leaders in the Interim and West Suburban, have gotten off to impressive starts in the area bids for All-State backfield candidates . . . Hinsdale's Jim Carmignani is another back with the talent and statistics to merit some All-State consideration at this stage of the campaign . . . Included on the Culver Military Academy grid roster is M. B. Ryan, a 155-pound halfback from Arlington Heights . . . Cross country candidate at Earlham College is Tom Martin of Palatine . . . Two of the St. Procopius players sidelined in the clash with Prospect two weeks ago are just getting out of bed this week . . . Halfback Joe Schiller and veteran center Andy Sewall are both recovering from concussions . . . Here's a headline we ran across on one sports page that should make you look twice and wonder: "Mass Destruction is Speedway Feature" . . . Fastest tackle at Purdue University is a 285-pounder from West Virginia who ANCHORED his high school 880-yard relay team!

Wally Grace, Arlington's Athletic Director, has a busy Saturday afternoon coming up. After watching the frosh-soph game between Arlington and LaGrange in LaGrange, Grace will dash over to Riverside to take part in the ceremony honoring William A. Shuey of R-B. The stadium at Riverside is going to be named for Shuey, past athletic director at the school.

Alter AHS Starting Alignment

Faced with bouncing back after a crushing defeat in its conference opener, Arlington high school will journey to LaGrange Saturday afternoon for another sample of West Suburban football in 1960.

The Cardinals' first experience is one they'd like to forget.

A strong Downers Grove eleven breezed to a 54-0 victory over the Cards last Friday in the WSC opener for both schools. It was the most decisive defeat Arlington ever has absorbed in league play.

"BUS" ORMSBEE'S aggregation will feature a new look in its starting offensive alignment Saturday, but the new faces don't change the old problems -- lack of size and experience.

In an attempt to bolster the squad that now stands 0-2 this season, Ormsbee has moved halfback Tim O'Gorman to the quarterback slot, quarterback Ross Retterer to end, and end Grant Wallhoff to tackle.

O'Gorman worked at the quarterback slot as a soph but has been a halfback for the past two years. Retterer is a good blocker, has a good pair of hands, but is short on speed. However, Ross could develop into a capable flank.

WALLHOFF, ONE of the top performers for Arlington through its first two tests, doesn't have the impressive size for a tackle, weighing only 170, but he's aggressive and an outstanding competitor.

In addition, Ray Miller, a junior halfback, will be starting his first game on a varsity level Saturday, filling in for O'Gorman. Tackle Vince Furlong, a converted fullback, will be starting only his second contest, but Ormsbee was pleased with the junior's performance against Downers.

A 168-pounder, Furlong was called into action at a tackle slot when junior Mike McDonald was sidelined with an injured hand.

ORMSBEE DOESN'T plan any other lineup changes for the Lions with Gary Gullett at one end, Gar Simmons and Denny Buren at the guards, and Dan Jennings at center. Halfback Jerry Totzke and fullback Mike Koening round out the backfield.

Furlong, Simmons, and Wallhoff came in for praise on their defensive efforts against Downers and Koenig gained the offensive plaudits. Mike is the squad's leading ground gainer after two contests with 76 yards in 16 cracks.

A new coach is guiding LaGrange this fall and the Lions of Tony Juska boast a 1-1 mark with a fictory over Oak Park and defeat at Glenbard West.

JUSKA MAKES no alibis for the loss to the Hilltoppers, stating "we were just outplayed." The former Peoria Richwoods head who coached in the Peoria area for ten years doesn't boast an exceptionally big offensive lineup but has some size in his defensive alignment.

Four seniors will operate in the starting backfield for the Lions. Halfbacks Tom Melchoir and Dick Ruggles have been the effective LaGrange weapons on offense thus far with each accounting for a pair of touchdowns.

Dan Milligan, a 6-1, 180-pound quarterback, and Bob Hopkins, a 5-9, 180-pound fullback, round out the Lions' starting backfield.

In the preliminary clash Saturday Bill Daletski's young Cardinals will be out to make it three in a row on the winning ledger, two in league play, when they tackle a club they lost to as freshman, 7-6.

DRIVING FOR SHORT yardage in East Leyden's 19-6 win over Willowbrook last Saturday afternoon is Al Carlsen of the Eagles. The Warriors' Ron Hock (15) and an unidentified gridder put the clinching tackles on the victor's quarterback. Carlson scored one touchdown and accounted for an extra point in the opening Interim assn., contest of 1960 for both schools. Moving in too late for assistance is Leyden's Al Korth (52).

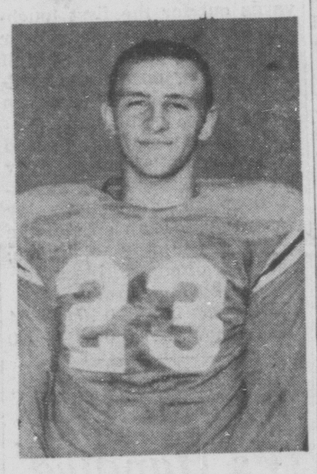
Knights Record 27-0 Win In Loop Opener

by TOM McSHANE

The Prospect Knights opened their bid for the Interim association football crown last Saturday with a convincing 27-0 win over Proviso West.

Displaying the same defensive skill that throttled St. Procopius in their opener the week before, the Knights held the Panthers to two first downs and 30 yards gained in chalking up their second victory in a row.

BOB GLASER



KEITH GRAMS

Prospect struck quickly the first time Coach Bill Beckman's charges got the ball. With Halfback Tom Petrosino leading the way, the Knights stormed 75 yards in eight plays to take the lead. Petrosino swept left end from the six for the touchdown. Dutch Leonard kicked the extra point.

PROVISO WEST kept the ball for one series of downs after the kickoff. Then Guard Wolfgang Meister backed the Knights into a hole with a punt that got away from Halfback Keith Voigt at the Prospect 15. Voigt corralled the ball at the four where he was downed.

Seven plays later the quarter ended with the Knights in possession on their own 30.

On the first play of the second period, Voight redeemed himself by smashing over right guard for 43 yards to the Proviso West 27. Quarterback Fred Lussow then dropped back and hit Leonard with a perfect touchdown pass, but the play was called back when the Knights were charged with offensive holding.

THE 15-YARD penalty, one of many called against Prospect during the afternoon, moved the ball back to the Panther 42.

Lussow, unmindful of the penalty, dropped back to pass on the next play, found himself walled in by three huge linemen, reversed his field, and raced into the end zone going away. Leonard added another point to make it 14-0.

Prospect scored again the next time it got the ball. This time the Knights moved 68 yards in five plays with Lussow leading the way. The all-conference quarterback hit Ends Mark Thorne and Mike Field with 10 and 21 yard passes to move the pigskin to the Panther 29. Two plays later, after another penalty, Halfback Keith Grams circled left end from the 30 and scored untouched to make it 20-0. Leonard added his third conversion.

THE FOURTH Prospect touchdown came in the opening minutes of the third period as Beckman substituted freely, testing his second and third string squads.

This time it was Quarterback Bob Glaser who scored the six-pointer. Glaser caught the Panther defense flat-footed on a second down play with the ball on his own 42 when he called a quarterback sneak, broke over center, and went 58 yards for the score. Leonard missed the point attempt.

The rest of the game was a seesaw punting contest as both teams had trouble getting started.

The Knights meet their second Interim foe Friday night at the Arlington high field when they host a Willowbrook team that dropped a 19-6 decision to East Leyden last week.

Knights Seek 3rd Straight Victory

by BOB FRISK

The Knights are back in town and ready to give the home fans another display of their 1960 brand of football.

After a successful journey to Proviso West in Hillside last Saturday afternoon, the Prospect eleven, headed by Bill Beckman, will entertain Willowbrook's Warriors Friday evening in an Interim assn., clash on the Arlington high field.

Friday's encounter will touch off a string of four consecutive "home" games for Prospect with Maine West, North Chicago, and East Leyden following.

The first three games in the four game pigskin package are set for the Arlington high gridiron with the East Leyden test slated for Prospect's new field on Oct. 22.

PROSPECT WILL carry a 2-0 mark into Friday's fray, boasting impressive wins over St. Procopius and Proviso West. Willowbrook dropped its initial tilts to York of the West Suburban and East Leyden.

Although the Foundry road Knights will carry the favorite's role into Friday's clash, Beckman's performers can't regard Vic Lesch's Willowbrook unit as a pushover.

Every team is pointing toward the talented Prospect squad and Willowbrook is no exception.

Lesch has seven senior lettermen back this fall, but the squad lacks any exceptional size in its starting alignment. The Warriors' starting line will average 165. Prospect goes at 202.

LESCH SWITCHED quarterback Fred Langille, a letterwinner in '59 to an end slot and now has two juniors and a sophomore alternating in the important signal-calling berth.

Junior Dick Romanek is slated to get the opening call Friday although junior Chuck Shissler and soph Harlon Kraft should also see action.

Juniors Gene Whitehorn and Ron Hock man the halfback slots with senior Larry Fontaine, a 190-pounder, at fullback.

HEADING THE linemen is center Joe Kusta, a rugged 194-pounder and a possible all - Interim selection. Lettermen giving Kusta some support in the forward wall are guard Rich Barta, a "scrapper," who only weighs 147, tackle Otto Stephani, and tackle Gene Hallongren.

Prospect's Beckman was naturally pleased with the Knights' impressive 27-0 win over Proviso West last Saturday and credited the whole team — starters and reserves — with a good performance.

Although the offensive unit registered another effective exhibition with 363 total yards, it's that defensive outfit that is making everyone take notice. In two games Prospect's hard-hitting defense has yielded only 85 total yards, an unbelievable figure when you consider that Procopius halfback Joe Schiller raced 70 yards from scrimmage for a touchdown.

WITHOUT SCHILLER'S run St. Procopius would have been tagged with a minus 37 yards rushing!

In addition, the Knights' defensive platoon has given up only three first downs in two games.

Beckman did pass out some post-game orchids to such players as Bill Zadel, Jim Minikel, "Dutch" Leonard, Mel Aukamp, Jeff Rogers, and Keith Grams with Rogers turning in one of the best performances of his high school career.

A DEFINITE All - State candidate, Jeff was all over the field in the victory and threw the key block on all four Prospect touchdowns.

Grams turned in some impressive running and also some creditable blocking. Beckman was pleased with the blocking of both Grams and Bruce Andrise among the backs.

The Prospect coach did indicate one possible lineup change for Friday's test with Bob Glaser a probable starter at quarterback. Regular signal - caller Fred Lussow has some pulled ligaments in his foot and isn't expected to see extensive action against Willowbrook.

Glaser filled in for Lussow last Saturday, working almost 2½ quarters, and raced 55 yards on a "quarterback sneak" for one touchdown. A pleasant surprise in the Prospect camp this fall, Bob also completed two of seven passes for 26 yards.

Morton West Blanks PHS Frosh-Sophs

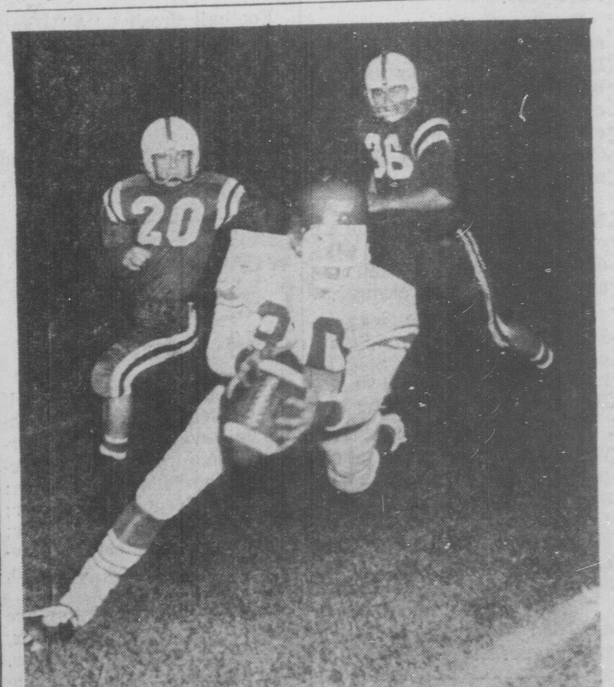
A strong Morton West frosh-soph eleven, conquerors of Maine West in its first outing, rolled past Prospect high school last Saturday morning, 20-0.

The visitors scored single touchdowns in the first, third, and fourth periods in handing Ted Wissen's young Knights their initial defeat in two encounters.

A pass set up the first score and a 25-yard run brought in the second six-pointer. The latter came after a fourth down penalty gave Morton a first and ten.

A pass interception on the last play of the game gave Morton its final score. The visitors ran for the extra points.

Prospect's frosh-sophs had opened their 1960 season with a 21-0 victory over St. Procopius. Their next game will be with Proviso West Saturday, Oct. 1, at 9:30 a.m. at Prospect.



PIRATE END Wayland Campbell makes a lunging grab of a Lenny Rose toss during the first period of Friday's Palatine-Barrington clash. The pitch was Rose's only completion of the evening and one of Palatine's total of two, the other being a Dick Sundling to Bill Phillips combination.

New LL President

Lee McKay, of 304 W. Hawthorne, Arlington Heights, has been named president of the Arlington Little League program for 1961.

The officers were elected at a recent Little League meeting with Ken Hood the new vice-president; Newell Crockett, treasurer; and Mirrel Kephart, secretary.

Other officers named were: Howard Jarvis, assistant to the president; Fred Jasper, assistant to the president; Dick Glantz, finance; Bill Appleby, field development; Bob Pagliai, equipment; Dick Whitson, manager recruitment; Ed Bebber, chief umpire; John Garrity, manager liaison; Fred Holst, statistician; and Paul Splittorf, players agent.

MAC SAYS

by G. A. McELROY

THE NORTH SUBURBAN Conference football season started last weekend in typical fashion with two upsets in four games. Palatine and Woodstock, picked as the leaders by Paddock Publications, were both beaten. Barrington outfought the sluggish Pirates all the way to win 20-0. The Barrington victory was not an upset but the margin of victory certainly was unexpected. Broncho alertness and team spirit was the difference. Woodstock, boasting eight regulars from a champ team, lost 6-0 to a second place McHenry team riddled by graduation.

The situation was similar on opening day last year. Dundee, a 7th place finisher beat Crystal Lake who took third with a 5-2 record. McHenry trounced Woodstock 19-0 who went on to win all the rest and the title while McHenry finished second. There will be more upsets this year for the North Suburban is so evenly matched that any team can beat any other on any given weekend. Palatine and Woodstock are not out of the race with one loss but these two meet at Palatine Friday night and the loser will probably have to kiss championship hopes goodbye. When a team gets upset it usually comes back strong the following week. As this happened to both Palatine and Woodstock both should be in an extremely competitive mood tomorrow evening.

Barrington appears to have been considerably under rated. Niles had to score twice in the last period to beat them two weeks ago. Then last Saturday Niles whipped Oak Park 32-0. The way it looks to us Barrington and Crystal Lake, 21-0 winner over Dundee, are championship co-favorites at the moment. This week we pick Palatine over Woodstock by one touchdown if the Pirates can bolster their pass defense and improve their own throwing. We think that Zion will pull a mild upset by beating McHenry, that Barrington will beat Dundee handily, and that Crystal Lake will win a tossup decision over Libertyville.

The Barrington jinx over Palatine in football continues. Friday the Bronchos were rated the underdog for the first time ever against the Pirates and they did not like it and were keyed up for a 20-0 win. Ten years ago when Tom Frederick came to Barrington the school had just experienced two undefeated seasons in a row. Frederick continued the string of good teams and has never coached a losing team in his tenure as head coach. His grid record in 10 years is one of the best in the suburban area. Palatine got a little consolation last weekend by beating both Barrington teams in cross country by 15-43 and 17-41. On the football front it was four decisive wins for Bronchos over Pirates at the various team levels.

ELGIN BEATING THORNTON and East Aurora topping Bloom emphasizes the fact that the Big Eight Conference, as usual, is one of the strongest in the state. Freeport is expected to repeat as champ but don't count out Elgin. North Chicago, who tied Crystal Lake last week and beat East Rockford 7-0 Saturday, is the favorite to cop a 4th straight Tri-County crown.

Morton crushed powerful Austin of the City league 47-0 a week ago and was touted as a Suburban contender. Along comes New Trier and whips them 29-14. Don't count out Evanston in the suburban. The defending champs took strong Waukegan 28-14. We like the chances of Prospect and East Leyden in the Interim Association both of whom opened the league season with impressive wins over West Proviso and Willowbrook. Warren seems to have the best club in the Northwest Conference.

AS WAS EXPECTED, the real effect of the split of Prospect and Arlington highs comes this year when Arlington is very short on football and basketball talent. The 54-0 drubbing at the hands of Downers is an exaggeration of the situation but points to a rough season for the Cardinals. Maine, last year's WSC champion, lost to Riverside in the league opener. Hinsdale may win the title this year in a breeze as they opened with a 49-6 win over York.

Palatine's cross country team is taking on the best of them this year. Included on the schedule are Maine, winner of the West Suburban 8 years in a row; Crane Tech, champ of Chicago; Lane Tech, largest high school in U. S. with an all male enrollment; Evanston, Suburban League leader; and York, always a state track power. Cipri, Trepus, Timmerhaus, Anderson, Field, and Langhoff are leading the squad over the two mile route . . . Sam England who came to Leyden three years ago as grid coach has brought the Eagles to a contending position in the Northeast Conference. "Mac Says" picks Arlington to beat Leyden and Libertyville to win the conference . . . Northbrook proved they are still on the championship trail in the Northwest Conference as they dumped Niles of the Northeast 14-12.

10 YEARS AGO

Ray Hartwig at tackle and Steve Roake at end looked like all-staters as Barrington rolled over an improved Palatine eleven at Community Park Saturday night 26-0. Palatine sophs were massacred by a hard running Broncho team which averaged more than 7 yards gain per play . . . Crystal Lake, favored to win the North Suburban, was upset 18-7 by a fired up Woodstock team . . . Bensenville, considered a Northwest contender, could only beat Ela 6-0. Jerry Centoni at fullback was a standout for Ela. A pass from Daly to Kratachovil set up the Bison touchdown on the one foot line and Daly at quarterback sneaked over. Palatine plays Wauconda and Bensenville meets Antioch on Saturday . . . Hardy Hodgsen won the club championship at Inverness Golf Club for the third time.

Arlington Harriers Stop DG

Arlington's cross country teams handled Downers Grove last Friday afternoon in their opening West Suburban tests of the 1960 campaign.

Coach Russ Attis' varsity Cardinals edged the Trojans 26 - 29, and Frank Bohac's frosh - sophs won 27 - 30.

Bill Bulat of Downers was the individual winner in the varsity match, but Arlington came home with second, fourth, fifth, seventh, and eighth.

SCORING FOR the Cardinals were Jim Hendricks, Tim Smith, Joel Martin, Tom Benson, and Gary Brodnan.

Dan Bedford paced the finishers for the local frosh-sophs with a third place. Rounding out the Arlington scoring were Bill Moore with a fourth, Robin Auld with a fifth, Bob Dodge with a seventh, and Terry Witt with an eighth.

Arlington's harriers will travel to LaGrange Friday afternoon for another WSC test and will host neighboring Palatine Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Prospect Frosh Unit Triumphs

Prospect high school's frosh football team opened its 1960 season on a winning note last Saturday morning with a 14-0 victory over Morton West.

The plebes coached by Hal Henson, Dick Mudge, and Rusty Dowell scored in the first and third periods in dumping the visitors.

Mike Phillips counted on a quarterback sneak from two yards out for the first touchdown and also carried over for the extra point. Mark Wolf carried over on a three-yarder for the second TD and ran for the final point.

The coaches were pleased with the hustle exhibited by the young Knights but stressed that the defensive play was ragged. High spot of the contest, according to Mudge, was the offensive blocking.

Score by quarters:

Prospect	7	0	7	0	—14

Arlington's JVs Handled By Downers

An undermanned Arlington JV football team fell to Downers Grove Monday afternoon, 25-0, in its second game of the 1960 campaign.

Coach Sid Brown's Cardinals had dropped their opener to Notre Dame's Dons, 6-0.

Defensive lapses proved costly for Arlington Monday. First, Downers ran a punt back for a touchdown and then a Trojan pass receiver got behind the Cards' defense for two scoring aerial efforts. The victor's final TD was set up on another long pass completion.

Although the score was one-sided, Brown did feel the Cards played well under the circumstances. They moved the ball but just couldn't push over any touchdowns.

The JVs will travel to LaGrange Monday afternoon for their third straight contest on the road. Game time is 4 p.m.

Score by quarters:

Downers Routs Cards In WSC Test, 54-0!

by BOB FRISK

If Downers Grove's Trojans needed to convince anyone about their football strength this fall, they took care of that matter last Friday evening.

Piling up 394 total yards and racing to a 34-0 halftime lead, Coach Dick Carstens' aggregation roared past Arlington high school 54-0, handing the Cardinals their most decisive defeat in West Suburban competition.

Hinsdale had pummeled the Cards 59-12 in 1951, but the 54-point margin last Friday represents a new "high" in the AHS conference grid annals.

Exhibiting size and power in the line and a fast backfield, the hosts struck paydirt the first time they handled the ball.

Downers countered two times in the first period, three times in the second, twice in the third, then tapered off to a single touchdown in the final 12 minutes.

ARLINGTON HAD only three backs with plus yardage and only two, Mike Koenig and Jerry Totzke, with ten or more. Totzke registered an even ten in four carries while Koenig emerged as the Cardinals' leading ground-gainer for the second straight contest with 50 yards in eight attempts. Mike had long runs of 17 and 14 yards.

While the visitors' ground attack was checked with just 31 yards, the aerial game didn't experience too profitable an evening either. Seven passes clicked for just 39 yards.

Arlington's closest penetration was to the Downers 30 yard line at the outset of the second period. But two straight losses and a fumble checked that threat.

DOWNERS GROVE needed just two plays to score its first touchdown after taking a punt back to the Arlington 27-yard line. Doug Elliott hit the line for seven, Ed Janoski carried for 10 to the Cards' 11, and Elliott burst through for the score with 9:45 remaining in the first period.

Al Larson then kicked the first of six successful extra points.

All-State tackle candidate Dan Jacobazzi blocked an Arlington punt to set up the second Trojans' score. Downers recovered on the Cardinals' 17 yard line and Bill Gurican needed just two efforts to register the six points.

THE HOST eleven tallied its third touchdown midway in the second period after recovering an Arlington fumble on the 50 yard line. Elliott carried four times in the drive and Tom Martinek did the honors from the one yard line.

An intercepted pass initiated the Trojans' next scoring effort. Bill Duffy picked off the Ross Retterer aerial on his own 49 yard line and after two plays failed to gain, Dick Coffin hit Elliott on a 51-yard pass that picked up the six points with 13 seconds remaining.

Gurican picked off a Retterer pass and raced 48 yards for the third touchdown of the quarter and fifth of the first half.

A BRILLIANT 50-yard run by Gurican seconds after the third quarter got under way put the Trojans in scoring position again on the Arlington 25. Coffin took the overland route for what appeared to be another DG touchdown, but a penalty nullified this score and just delayed the inevitable.

Set back to Arlington's 40, Downers used six plays to push over another tally. Janoski crashed over with 8:50 remaining in the quarter, but Vince Furlong blocked the attempted extra point.

Four minutes later Downers was at it again. Bruce Sloier slipped away on a nifty 56-yard touchdown gallop on a third and ten situation and Larson's kick sent the count at 47-0.

DOWNERS DIDN'T score again until late in the contest with one threat halted by a pass interception by the Cards' Ray Miller. The Trojans moved to the Arlington 25 at the outset of the fourth period but lost the ball on downs.

The final score came with 1:06 remaining in the game. Returning a punt to the Arlington 29-yard line, the Trojans struck in four plays with a 25-yard dash by Dick Sullivan setting up Martinek's second touchdown.

Arlington's Retterer chalked up three straight pass completions in the waning moments of the contest, moving the ball to the Downers 34-yard line before the gun ended what had turned out to be a long evening for the visiting Cardinals.

Shooting Preserve Located in Amboy

The hunting season is only days away at the shooting preserves in Illinois for the season starts October 15 and ends March 15.

Something new in the way of preserve shooting has been brought to northern Illinois where a southern plantation has been moved into the area; everything except the land, of course. This new shooting preserve is called "Briar Knoll," located at Amboy, Ill., 84 miles west of Chicago. Five types of gunning are offered. Georgia plantation style covey quail shooting—wild turkey called to the gun—duck shooting from stands in the woods—plus, pheasants and Chuckar partridge.

Briar Knoll has actually been three years in the making. It started as a private preserve and this past year it has been developed along the lines of a southern plantation shooting preserve. A scientific plan of seed planting has been followed with eleven different types of grain feeds planted to guarantee food for birds.

There is a large lake where ducks find refuge, a big woods housing a herd of 50 native deer and a thousand acres of shooting fields maintained as a hunter's paradise. Personnel has been brought from Georgia to Briar Knoll which includes management, the guides and gun bearers, and "sho' nuff" southern cooks who will preside over the kitchen and dining room of a shooting lodge that has just been built back-in on the property.

The lodge has overnight accommodations with two 3/4 beds in each room. There is a large lounge plus a game room. Highly trained bird dogs have been brought from the Southland and are available to hunters. The kennel can accommodate 40 dogs. Hunters may use their own dogs, if they prefer.

Downers Frosh Top Arlington

Scoring three touchdowns in the second quarter and adding an insurance tally in the final stanza, Downers Grove's strong freshman "A" football squad routed Arlington high Monday afternoon, 28 - 6.

Coach Chuck Harrington's plebes were seeking their second straight victory after an opening conquest of Notre Dame.

The young Cardinals countered their only touchdown in the second period when Tom Ostermann intercepted a Downers pass and returned 85 yards for the six points.

Harrington termed the only "bright spots" for Arlington the tackling of Bob Splitberger, Jim Ewart, and Bill Machut.

Arlington's frosh "A" aggregation will host LaGrange Monday afternoon, Oct. 3, at 4 o'clock in its third game of the 1960 campaign.

Card Sophs Top Downers Unit, 25-14

Arlington's frosh-soph football Cardinals, dangerously ineffective for the first two periods, erupted in the final half last Friday evening and blasted a host Downers Grove eleven 25-14.

The victory was the second straight for the young Cards coached by Bill Daletski and Dick Ohl and the first in West Suburban competition.

Arlington trailed 8-6 with a few minutes gone in the third quarter before halfback Ken Layden set sail on a pretty 76-yard punt return. Layden's score put the Cardinals ahead to stay.

WITH 1:05 remaining in the same stanza quarterback Chuck Close cracked over his own right end from four yards out for a score, terminating a drive of 43 yards, and Joe Wertheimer added the extra point for a 19-8 Arlington lead.

Close did the honors again with 4:37 remaining in the fourth quarter, carrying in from four yards after the Arlington unit had driven 70 yards. Key plays in the final scoring effort were a 15-yard aerial from Close to Hal Selleck and a 25-yard scamper by Wertheimer.

Downers closed out the game's scoring when Dale Sunnquist hit Fred Lester on a 29-yard touchdown play with just 15 seconds left on the clock.

ARLINGTON started out Friday's contest with an explosive drive from its own 36 yard line that was checked by a fumble on the Downers 26. Layden contributed a 12-yard run and a Close to Wertheimer pass accounted for 10 yards in the drive.

Following a Downers Grove punt, Arlington took charge again and marched 58 yards for its first touchdown. Wertheimer and Rog Lindstrom were the key ball carriers on this drive with Wertheimer going over from the four with 9:15 remaining in the second period.

DOWNERS broke into the scoring column with 3:35 left in the opening half when Arlington's Dan Meyer was caught in the end zone following a punt for a two-point safety. With 50 seconds remaining before the intermission the hosts took to the air with Glen Wirtanen doing the tossing and Sunnquist the receiving on a 34-yard scoring pass.

Arlington registered 214 total yards for its evening's work with 183 on the ground and 31 in the air. Fullback Lindstrom was the workhorse and the leading ground gainer for Daletski's Cardinals with 80 yards on 12 carriers, a 6.7 per carry average.

Wertheimer contributed 52 in seven carries and Layden had 32 for six. The young Cards recorded 13 first downs in the triumph.

A 277 GAME IN the Beverly Lanes Ladies Classic league was worth $100 to Marie Sibley, who bowls for Bowl-Aire lanes in the women's competition. The Lions walloped Fairview 32 - 12 with touchdowns by Bob Robinson (2), Scott Crawford, Paul Accurso and Tim Beck.. Scott Kohlrust also played an excellent game in the backfield and Charles Hughson and Ed Hansen were outstanding in the line for the winners.

In the line, Rich Burger, Dave Adams, Jim Cherwin, Bill Williams and Pat Murphy played well on both offense and defense for the victors.

It is interesting to note that the entire first team of the Prospect high school freshman squad this year is composed of graduates of the Mt. Prospect Midget football association.

Notre Dame Dons Stop St. Thomas Of Rockford, 6-2

By TOM TREBAT

Victory number one of the 1960 season came to the Dons of Notre Dame last Friday as they downed St. Thomas of Rockford, 6-2.

Quarterbacks Jim Salzman and Jim Nelson of Notre Dame were unable to move the Dons past the St. Thomas 15-yardline during the entire first half as the Tommies exhibited a rugged defense.

Salzman took to the air early in the game but after numerous incompletions, he switched to the running attack of halfbacks Solon and Schrimmenti. As proof of the game's stiff defense, neither team gained more than 50 yards rushing during the entire first half.

THE SECOND half opened much the same as the first as neither team was able to take advantage of the other's mistakes. However, late in the fourth quarter, the Dons came to life.

After several rushing plays Jim Nelson tossed 35 yards to end Ed O'Gara and the Dons took the lead. St. Thomas stormed right back and a 34-yard pass play put them inside the Don ten yardline. But the Notre Dame line rose to the occasion and stopped the Tommies on the two yardline with only three minuts left to play.

Taking over the ball, Notre Dame, in an effort to push St. Thomas back, allowed their quarterback to be tackled in their own end zone, setting up a safety and two points for the Tommies. A few seconds later, time ran out on the boys from Rockford.

BOTH TEAMS showed remarkable defense in the struggle. Notre Dame's big forward wall held St. Thomas to a gain of only 100 yards rushing throughout the entire game. Not to be outdone, St. Thomas relinquished slightly over 100 yards to the Don ball carriers.

The victory evened the Don's record at 1-1 and helped to soften the shock of losing the opener to Taft, 28-19.

For his play in the Taft game, halfback Pat Solon was chosen as player of the week in the North Shore area. This was the second time Solon has received this award.

On the sophomore scene, the Dons kept up their winning ways by smothering St. Francis of Wheaton, 38-7. It was the second win of the season for the junior Dons and their tenth in a row since they were freshmen.

Track Promoter Hurt In Officials Race

It was a damp, cool night at the Waukegan speedway last Sunday, but the racing was hot and competitive.

Miles Melius of Slinger, Wis. driving in his second race at Waukegan this season, scored his second victory in the special 50 lap championship race.

Running in the track officials race, track promoter John Kaishian suffered a cut chin requiring four stitches, the loosening of several teeth and a possible jaw fracture in a collision with another automobile.

Melius took the lead on the 21st lap after running several laps in a neck - and - neck battle with Aaron Solsrud of Brookfield, Wis. Melius then went on to place about four car lengths ahead of second place Etchie Biertzer of Barton, Wis., who was the evening's fastest qualifier.

THE ACTION was stopped on the 44th lap when the car of Don Schupel, Kewaskum, caught fire. Several cars spun and collided and only 11 cars managed to finish out of the starting field of 18 cars. Bob Mace, Chicago, and Gary Sheldon, Beloit, tangled on the 24th lap when Sheldon's steering broke. Both went into the concrete wall and were forced from the event.

Doug Bandl, Milwaukee, took the lead on the third lap and went on to win the 15-lap semi - feature ahead of Linus Peters of West Bend, and Rod Fuller of Racine.

All the heat races proved to be hotly - contested with victories occuring on the last lap in three of the heats. Bandl beat out Peters on the last lap for the first heat; Don Koelling edged Art Reeves, Libertyville for the second; and Biertzer took the lead on the last lap from Bay Darnell to win the fourth.

Melius, in winning the second, bested Greg Krieger of Milwaukee by just a half car length but had led for over half the diatance. Kreiger's car broke an axle in the main event and he failed to place in the event having completed only nine laps.

THE WILD officials race took its toll of automobiles, too. Ira Deiotte was the driver of the car that drove promoter John Kaishian into the wall on the south turn.

Besides the injuries already mentioned, Kaishian suffered shock and the race was stopped in order to free him from the car. Kaisian was driving the machine usually driven by Waukegan's Ed Jones in the stock jalopy races.

Kaishian was sent to St. Theresa's hospital where he remained overnight for x-rays. The accident happened as Deiotte deliberately drove into the side of Kaishian's car coming down the main chute, spun him around and then hit him solidly, sending Kaishian head on into the wall and wiping out the car completely.

THE SCHEDULED roll-over contest was called a draw when all cars entered were unable to turn their cars over because of slippery track conditions. Track manager, Mike Kaishian, then started all cars in a demolition race and Roy Siegfried, Milwaukee, won over the other 14 entrants in a show of thrills that pleased the 2100 fans in attendance.

All cars were totally demolished but no injuries were received by any of the drivers.

Next Sunday, the Speedway enters into its final month of racing. A special 75-lap championship feature will be held for the modifieds and another large field of cars and drivers is expected to compete. Another mud race is scheduled in addition to more stock jalopy racing as added attractions. Time trials are at 6:50 with racing starting at 8 p.m. Central Daylight time.

Prospect's JVs Register 19-0 Win in Opener

Prospect high school's junior varsity football team kicked off its 1960 season with a 19-0 victory over Proviso West last Saturday in Hillside.

The junior Knights, coached by Bob Hoese, scored once in the first, second, and fourth quarters to win their first Interim association contest.

The Panthers never could get their offense off the ground.

PROSPECT scored its first touchdown on the last play of the first quarter when Sophomore Quarterback Ken Groh hit End Jim Anderson with a pass from 13 yards out. Fullback Mike Francek added the point.

The Knights added another six-pointer in the second period after halfbacks Dan Prekel and Roger Owen, and Francek moved the ball from their own 35 to the Proviso West 15 in six plays. Francek went over center from the seven for the score.

The third Prospect touchdown came in the final quarter after Groh intercepted a Panther pass and returned it to the Proviso West 47.

TWO PLAYS later Prekel took a double reverse on the Panther 45, cut back across the field, and raced down the east sideline for the score.

This Friday, the junior Knights host Willowbrook's Warriors in the 6 p.m. prelim at Arlington high's field.

Upwards of 100,000 Chicagoland boating enthusiasts are expected to attend the big Chicago International Boat Show to be held daily Thursday, Sept. 29 through Sunday, Oct. 2, at Chicago's Navy Pier.

The four - day show under the sponsorship of the Greater Chicagoland Marine Dealers will afford the public a colorful giant preview of 1961 boats, motors and marine products. It marks the first time that new marine products have been displayed en masse for the public in the fall.

Among the 450 eye - catching exhibits will be a $30,000 marina, equipped to handle hundreds of large and small boats. The marina, boasting a launching ramp, loading and unloading docks, and full facilities for gas and oil servicing, has been constructed by the Cahill - Davis Co., of Detroit, with the cooperation of several Chicago engineering firms.

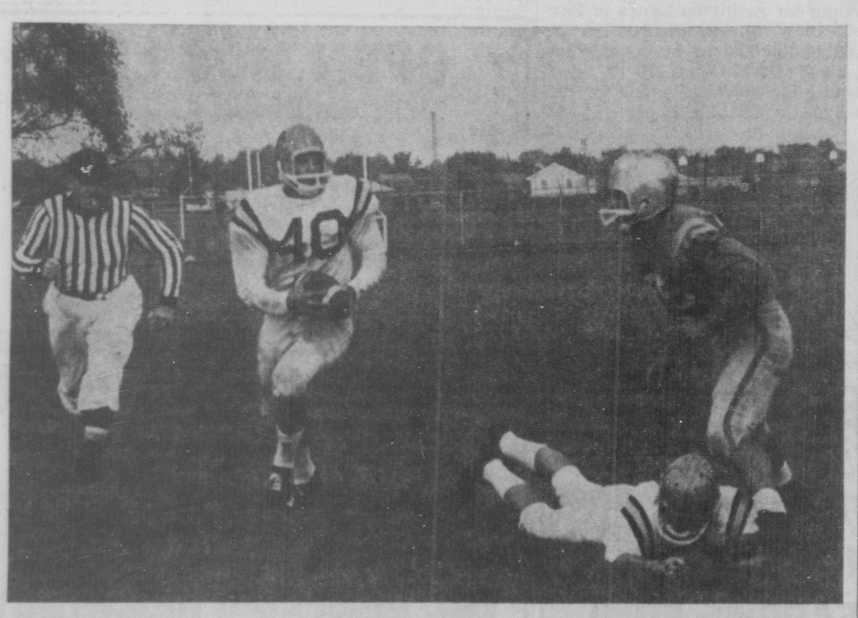
THE INGENIOUS marina has been established in protected water adjacent to the north wing of Navy Pier to permit exhibitors to give prospects a thrilling demonstration ride, in the manner of an auto dealer demonstrating a new model car.

Also on display will be the latest in inboard and outboard craft, first fuel injection engines, jet - propulsion craft, houseboats, etc. The largest assembly of boat accessory manufacturers ever to gather under one roof will be another highlight.

Admission to the show will be $1.50 for adults, $.75 for children. It will be open from 1 p.m. to 11 p.m.



EAST LEYDEN'S CLEM Ranallo (40) moves around right end for a sizable gain in the Eagles' 19-6 victory over Willowbrook last Saturday afternoon. East Leyden, a possible title threat in the Interim assn., now owns two straight victories this fall with a conquest of Arlington high in the opener.

Moran Furs Gains Top Position

The final playoffs in the St. Raymond's Holy Name Society golf league were held at Chevy Chase country club and, when the dust settled, Moran Furs proved once again that they were real competitors. They took the number one spot, the champions of the St. Raymond's league.

Once again Don Bohannan was on fire for the Moran team. He had a net 77 and took low individual net also. Here is a man who knows how to play when the chips are down.

PHIL JEUCK, captain and sponsor of the Illinois Range team, came through as he has so many times during the season with the low individual net of 76. Bernie Minton, of the same team, came from behind to win his match from George Votava, an alternate to whom he had to give several points. This was a real "nip and tuck" battle.

The Chevy Chase golf course proved to be more of a challange than any of the fellows expected. But those

Put-N-Take Field Trials Scheduled For Fall, Winter

The Illinois Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs has listed nearly a hundred put-n-take field trials scheduled for this fall and winter. These treats are becoming very popular with sportsmen's clubs as they are an easy to arrange activity and appeal to a large number of dog owners, shooters, and just plain onlookers.

The "fun" trial, as they are often called, does not put emphasis on the abilities of the hunting dog but rather is an opportunity for both the dog owner and the non-dog owner to enjoy a day of actual bird shooting not otherwise possible. Dog owners do like the trials as it gives them an opportunity to see just what their "muts" will do under actual shooting conditions. They may find they have just that — a mut — his nose may be only a decoration.

The shooter gets a good chance to practice, getting a positive opportunity to crack down on a couple of birds. Unlike wild bird hunting conitions he knows the birds are there and he only has to go get 'em. This can be done either the easy way or the hard way as preferred.

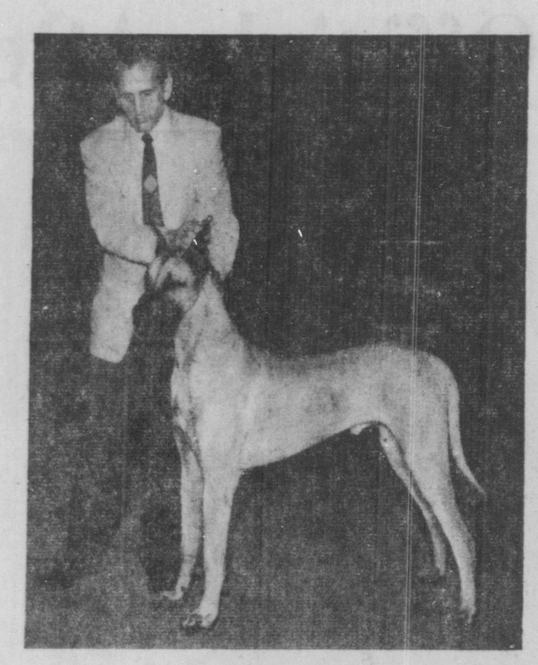
IF HE WANTS TO be sure of his birds then the birds can be planted in sparse cover, easily found and with open shots. If he is interested in doing it the hard way then the birds can be planted in heavy cover, allowed to move around and provide near wild conditions. The lame, the halt and the lazy can have shooting to suit their physical condition.

One of the most interesting developments in the past couple of years has been the large galleries of onlookers attracted to these events. Properly arranged, the shoot can be so conducted that only the birds are shot . . . not the sometimes highly critical onlookers.

Many of these field trials are limited to club members only as an extra added reason for joining a sportsmen's club, others are open to the public and may be sponsored with an eye to fattening the club treasury. With increasing experience and efficiency, the cost has been rduced so that any average wage earner can afford to try this method of getting in a bit of extra hunting. It serves to somewhat make up for lack of opportunity to go hunting in the usual way.

Russia Boasts, But—

Approximately one-third of the total cost of the United Nations is paid by the U. S. The other 81 nations pay two-thirds.



LEO EIGNER, shown with one of his trophy winning Great Danes, 2-year-old Ritter Von Lee, is an active member of Lake Shore Great Dane club and will participate in the club's show mentioned in the "Just Dogs" column. Eigner is an Arlington Heights merchant, however, he now resides on Aptakisic rd., Prairie View, having moved there from Arlington Heights several months ago.

"Daneorama"—

Many Great Dane owners from this area will be on hand October 9 to help the Lake Shore Great Dane club celebrate it's 10th anniversary, when the club will hold a specialty show on the grounds of the Oak Brook Polo club, 31st & York rd., Hinsdale. Judging the show will be the famous dane breeder and handler, William Gilbert of New Jersey.

Danes from all over the country are expected to be entered and to compete for points plus the quite outstanding array of trophies valued at over $1,000. Hours of the show will be from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m., and the admission charges will be of interest especially to parents who can get the small fry admitted free when accompanied by adults. The grownups will be charged $1.50 each. It might also be pointed out that ample parking facilities will be available. Food will be served, which will eliminate the problem of having to pack a lunch.

This show will give folks who admire these great majestic dogs a chance to see some of the top ones in the country gathered for the event. Should be some affair.

Skokie Valley Show

Entries for the Skokie Valley Kennel club show to be held October 16 will close Tuesday, Oct. 4. This annual all-breed show will be held in the Northbrook Youth Center park starting at 9 a.m. and lasting throughout the day.

On the day before the Skokie show the Western Irish Setter club will hold its annual specialty show at the Tara estate, 1800 Half Day rd., Highland Park.

Information about these events can be had by contacting the secretary of both, Dorothy H. Cory of Arlington Heights, Cl 3-2331.

Happy Sequel—

The story a few weeks ago about Glenn Wells of Palatine and his German Shepherd "Duchess" ended up on a happy note for both dog and owner. If you read the story you will remember that Glen needed one more passing score in an Open A obedience class to get the coveted CDX obedience degree with his dog. Sept. 18, Glenn and "Duchess" went up to the Lakeland Kennel club show at Cambridge, Wis., and proceeded to "bring home the bacon." In this case the bacon was the third passing score of 198½ out of 200 possible points in the Open "A" class. It was the second highest score in the class and tied for fourth highest in the obedience trial held in connection with the show. It just proves the point that practice makes perfect.

Barks & Bays—

Bowlers Hot in Fifth Night Of Paddock Classic Action

The pins fell Saturday night at River-Rand in Des Plaines.

When the firing had finished following the fifth night of competition in the Paddock Classic Traveling League, four teams had broken and one tied their high team series mark, four teams set new high game records, and to top off the good work, high series and game records also were set for the league.

All told, the 40 men competing knocked down 23,235 pins for a 194 average with 15 of them averaging better than 200.

THOUGH NONE of the eight teams were able to sweep the match—four had 2-1 marks in the won-lost column and four the opposite record—Tommy Thomas' Casablanca, rolling out of Hiway Recreation in Palatine, became the team to watch.

Casablanca's current fourth place position of 8-7 is deceiving. The squad, captained by Marvin Perry of Arlington Heights, leads the league in total pinfall, edging out the league's co-leaders, Bill Cook Buick and Timroth Plumbing.

Saturday Casablanca had its best night. Each man averaged 203 to give the Palatine team the league's high series of 3045. Ron Fogarett of Palatine once again paced his teammates with a 674 series on games of 212, 249, and 213. Harvey Randolph of Northbrook was close behind with a 653 series on games of 214, 226, and 213. Ferry came home with a 602 series and Herbert Engstrom of Elgin was one pin below the 600 mark. The fifth man, Irv Hahnfeldt of Palatine shot 517.

EVEN SO, Casablanca could not sweep all three games from the Country Lanes team of Lake Zurich, representing Bill Bond's Men's Wear. After losing the first two games despite shooting 949 and 953, Bill Bond's roared back with a 1084 game.

Every man on the Lake Zurich team rolled above 200. John Taylor of Waukegan and Captain Herb Lohman of Lake Zurich each shot 233. Earl Nichols of Arlington Heights fired 210, Don Schumacher of Barrington 207, and Bob Kennedy of Waukegan 201.

Bill Cook Buick, representing Bowlaway at Elgin, had presumably the toughest competition while keeping its first place tie with Timroth Plumbing. The automen defeated third place Gunnell's of Mt. Prospect in the final two games after dropping the opener.

NEITHER team shot spectacularly. However, Tom Kouros of Barrington Woods had games of 202, 243, and 237 for a 682 series, one pin off the season's high. Ed Duff of Niles, on the strength of a 244 final game, had a 622 series for Gunnell's.

Timroth Plumbing, bowling out of Beverly Lanes in Arlington Heights, had a chance to take the league lead but fell in its final game against Cook County Mobile Homes.

Though the Mobile Homes five did not shoot above 200 except for Dick Nethaway's 202 game, Timroth fell far off its 997 and 1033 games it had rolled earlier in the night. Heading the Timroth attack were Monte Arkus of Hoffman Estates with a 628 series and Lee Adams of Mt. Prospect with 606. Ted Zimmerman of Des Plaines rolled 635 to pace Cook County Mobile Homes.

MOYLE Construction, bowling out of Tenpin in Barrington, continued having troubles, losing two of three games to Jeffery Lanes of Wheeling. LeRoy Papineau of Lake-in-Hills shot a 236 game and Casper Dewitz of Barrington a 225 to give Moyle a 1002 game for their only win.

Jeffery returned to the victor's column when Chuck Gibson of Bensenville rolled the night's high game, 256, and Hoc Healy of Northbrook and Buck Perkins of Woodstock rolled 224 each for a Paddock Classic record 1090 team game. George Stone of Northbrook contributed a 221 game to the record.

Fogarett and Kouros continued as the individual leaders, both raising their average this past week. Fogarett stayed in the No. 1 position. With the help of a 674 series, he went from 204 to 210. Kouros via a 682 series jumped from 202 to nearly 208. None of the other bowlers are averaging 200 although Randolph is just two pins off that figure.

SATURDAY'S competition, which will be staged at Jeffery lanes in Wheeling at 6:30 p.m., finds Gunnell's once again hooked up against the league leader, this time facing Timroth Plumbing. The other leader, Bill Cook Buick, will meet fifth place Cook County Mobile Homes.

The hot Casablanca team will meet Moyle Construction which has been unable to get going. And in a battle for sixth place Jeffery Lanes and Bill Bond's Mens Wear will collide.

Loop Race Tightens In Women's Classic

The Paddock Women's Classic Traveling League, tight when play resumed Saturday night, grew even tighter as four teams are now in contention for league honors.

Although the number of league leaders dropped from three to two, two teams are now within one game striking distance.

Vernon Hills Restaurant of Lake Zurich's Country Lanes and Steve's Restaurant, bowling out of Wheeling's Jeffery Lanes, remain tied for first as each won two games Saturday.

River-Rand of Des Plaines was the victim of Steve's Restaurant and dropped from first place, a game off the pace.

THE FASTEST rising star is Morton Pontiac, representing Beverly Lanes of Arlington Heights. Morton captured all three gams from Northfield Bowl to jump within a game of the lead.

Pat Proebstle of Arlington Heights rolled the high series of the night, 555, to spearhead the Pontiac attack as the girls did not have one of their better nights at River-Rand.

Other good Morton series were 495 by Connie Labo of Rolling Meadows, 487 by Joyce Selof and 481 by Ruthmary Townley, both of Arlington Heights. A 485 by Fran Feuer of Winnetka was high for Northfield Bowl.

RIVER - RAND'S high team game of the season, 911, prevented Steve's Restaurant from sweeping all three games. Hazel Steiger of Arlington Heights shot 219 to lead the River - Rand squad's attack although she surrendered high series to Peggy Sparks of Rolling Meadows who had 519.

The series was slightly higher than those of the leaders for Steve's Restaurant. Sis Jennings of Deerfield bowled 517 and Donna Reynolds of Northbrook had one pin less.

Vernon Hills, after dropping the opener to Sims, came back to win the final two as the Sims team could not keep up its pace of an opening 861 game. Aside from a 536 series by Pat Patek of Niles, Marge Calkins of Lake Zurich shot the only other 500 series, a 504.

Elk Grove; Wheeling Town Officials Attend Meeting

Elk Grove and Wheeling township officials attended the annual dinner meeting recently of the Cook County Township Supervisors association.

Held September 15 at the Grand Manor restaurant, Grand ave. and Mannheim rd., Leyden township, the meeting included as special guests County Commissioner Fred A. Fulle of Des Plaines and John Evans from the Illinois Public Aid Commission.

Attending the meeting from Elk Grove township was Supervisor William Rohlwing and his guests, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Bradley. Wheeling township was represented by Supervisor and Mrs. William M. Weber.

AMONG THE speakers was Supervisor Herbert Maid of Stickney township who reviewed the job of township supervisor in Cook county, explaining the duties of that office including supervision of the general assistance (poor relief) funds.

William Winterhoff, past president of the association, predicted that emergency legislation will have to be enacted by the state legislature in Springfield at its next session to clarify the position of township governments since the passage of the judicial reform ballot making justice of the peace courts of record.

Under the new system, justices of the peace and constables will no longer appear on the ballot with the rest of the township officers. Rather, they will appear on a separate judicial ballot.

AT PRESENT, the five justices of the peace in each township comprise the Town Board of Auditors, the governing body of the township.

Under the new set-up, the Board of Auditors will be elected separately along with the supervisor, collector, town clerk, highway commissioner, and assessor in each township. The number of auditors will be changed from five to three.

Commissioner Fulle explained that the county board will set the rate of pay for the new justice of the peace courts. The number of justices of the peace in each township will be determined by population.

Jet Abatement Parley

Seek To Reduce Jet Noise With Research

by MELDA LYNN

Research into new types of jet engines, designed to be as noisless as possible is going "full speed ahead" area village officials learned last week at a noise abatement public hearing held in Maine Township high school auditorium.

Village representatives from Mt. Prospect, Elk Grove, Arlington Heights, Palatine and Des Plaines attended the hearing along with approximately 16,000 residents of the northwest suburban area. The hearing was arranged by the noise abatement committee of Park Ridge for the O'Hare airport area.

The meeting got off to a raucous start when the chairman began by announcing to the angry audience, "we are trying to do something about the problem." At that precise instant, a jet transport roared over the auditorium drowning out his words.

THIS BROUGHT loud boos and hisses from the audience.

Offers of the National Aircraft Noise Abatement council (NANAC) from federal agencies formed a panel to discuss the problem at the mass meeting. The federal officers represented not only the federal government but national offices of aircraft manufacturers, major airlines and the airlines' pilots' association. They listened to complaints of the audience and also told their "side" of the controversy.

The panel included Gen. Jack Cram, president of NANAC; Com. Daniel Helms, federal aviation committee; Lt. Col. T. J. Ross, technical consultant for NANAC, Lyle Woodward, representative of NANAC regional offices, Kansas City; Carl Eck of the 14,000 member air line pilots assn.; George Niles, chief controller of O'Hare field control tower; Ralph Hottman, area supervisor of the federal aviation assn. in this area and Paul Leonard, air transport representative for all the major air companies.

Panel members told the audience that they, also, had problems and that these problems could not be solved magically over night. They explained they were seeking a solution whereby area residents could find some relief from the noise and at the same time the air industry could survive.

THEY TOLD the audience that today's transport jet engines are adaptations of those designed by military forces not primarily concerned with anything but maximum efficiency and safety.

He assured his listeners that due to research by all major aircraft manufacturers, great strides have been made toward development of a new type, less noisy jet engine. These new jets are almost to the testing stage, but will not be ready for a few more years.

IN TELLING of the steps taken to help alleviate the noise problem they cited several things that have already been done. These included suppressors installed on jet engines; flight pattern changes in the O'Hare area and the installation of an order to pilots to reach a height of 2,000 feet as soon as possible on take-off. Numbers have been painted on the aircraft so offending pilots who seem to be flying too low can be reported.

The meeting ended with residents having a feeling that they can expect the "possible" but not the "impossible" from air agency representatives. The federal officials realized they were dealing with an aroused citizenry that was not going to let the matter rest until there was noticeable relief. (B8

Adult Night Classes Filling Up Rapidly

Going, going, gone!

Open classes at the adult evening school of high school district 214 are rapidly becoming filled. Response of the community to the program offered was called "very encouraging" by Thomas W. Shirley, director of adult education.

Because of heavy demand for several subjects new classes have been formed. This includes a new class on millinery on Monday nights as well as a beginning Bridge class on Wednesdays, both at Prospect high school. A new golf class for women has also been announced for Monday nights at Arlington high school.

Classes for the majority of subjects started this week in the three schools involved in the program—Arlington high, Prospect high and the Walt Whitman elementary school, Wheeling.

A SPECIAL LATE registration day has been set for Monday evening starting at 6:45 p. m. Registration will be held in room 101 of Arlington high school.

Three popular special series of the night school will start in October with registration remaining open. The ever-popular Travel and Adventure series will open on October 11 with a travelogue on "Rural England" by Alfred Wolff. The series includes ten different travels by leading experts.

The rare opportunity to see "top form" book reviews is offered in the "World of Books" series. The group of four presentations will be made by Dr. Preston Bradley and Stuart Brent.

Highlight of the lecture series will be "Exploring Today," a group of four scientific adventures around the world. The four speakers are well-known explorers and members of the Institute for Regional Exploration. Color photography backgrounds will be used in the presentations.

WHILE ADMISSION to the three series lectures can be paid at the door on the night of the presentation sufficient advance registration is necessary to insure holding the series, Director Shirley stressed.

Of particular interest to women is a class still open in knitting. A class on slip covers and draperies will be taught by Mrs. Garnette Green, popular sewing instructor.

The three shop courses—electricity, machine shop and woodshop—are still open, designed particularly for the home handy man. Special projects are encouraged in the classes. A new course in photography, including work with 35 mm. cameras, should prove popular.

In the athletic program the physical education classes for both men and women are designed for recreation, sociability and health building. A unique class in fencing is offered as well.

FOR THOSE who would like to understand their special abilities and aptitudes an unusual class in aptitude testing is offered. Both tests and individual interviews are included.

Of special interest to many is a class in business law, a simplified "law for the layman" presentation which gives practical information on a subject often considered "baffling" by non-lawyers.

A new course this year is "Practical Problems of Small Business Management." The series, offered in conjunction with the Small Business Administration, will provide expert lecturers in various phases of successful small business management.

Offered for the first time will be a course in advanced Russian, the coming "must" foreign language of the future. Conversely, the school also offers a class in English for New Americans as a service to the community.

EXPERT ADVICE on landscaping and particularly fall gardening needs is offered in a practical gardening course conducted by one of the leading nurserymen in the area.

Information regarding individual classes or the night school may be obtained by calling CL 3-0205.

'Do It Yourself' Method Can Lead To Headaches

When you sell your home, it's best to steer clear of the "do-it-yourself" method, advises the current bulletin of the National Institute of Real Estate Brokers.

You'll probably end up receiving more money for your property, and you're sure to avoid a mountain of headaches if you appoint a professional to do the job for you, according to the bulletin, "Practical Answers to Your Brokerage Questions," which was published this month. NIREB is affiliated with the National Association of Real Estate Boards, members of which are known as realtors.

Here are some of the reasons spelled out in the bulletin why you should allow a professional to handle your home sale:

"A BROKER'S greater familiarity with the market frequently allows him to obtain more money for a property than the owner could."

The owner doesn't know the proper time to present a contract, or "the additional difficulties that can arise with financing, locating sources for funds, and curiosity seekers."

"The owner may not realize that he, as a principal in the transaction, has little or no freedom to negotiate. He is backed right into a corner when he receives an offer. His position is that he must either take the offer or lose the prospect. The broker, on the other hand, can carry offers back and forth between buyer and seller and negotiate a compromise favorable to both parties."

"EVENTUALLY many owners pay a commission anyway to a person they have permitted to show the property. The owner may have undergone the travails of showing his home to a hundred non-buying shoppers only to have a broker who has shown the house once, but to the right person, consummate the sale."

"Careful screening of prospects is an activity the owner-seller is not experienced in doing. This lack of experience sometimes permits the owner to be misled by the buyer who is a super salesman himself and cajoles the owner into accepting an offer less than could be expected if the owner were dealing with a Realtor."

"Another result of inept screening, or no screening at all, is the insincere offer. The prospect convinces the owner that he can and will pay the price asked, and the owner makes his plans accordingly, only to learn that the prospect has no intentions of completing the deal. The broker acting as agent can taik to the buyer, then to the seller, and determine whether a legitimate offer has been made.

"THE AVERAGE person does not have time to leave his job and go help someone buy a house. Mr. Average Man can't attend to all the details encountered in actually consummating a sale."

Realtors have a ready file of prospects, and because they have a variety of houses listed, are receiving many more calls from possible buyers than the "do-it-yourself" seller would ever receive.

Realtors have established facilities to advertise properties for sale.

Red Owl Places Notes

Red Owl Stores, Inc., has placed privately $4 million of 14½ year 5¾ per cent notes. The notes mature January 1, 1975. Of this amount $3 million already has been borrowed and the remaining $1 million will be sold to the same purchaser on March 31, 1961.

The financing was arranged through Lehman Brothers, J. M. Dain & Co., Inc., and Piper Jaffray & Hopwood.

Of the proceeds, $1,600,000 will be used to repay bank loans. The balance will be used for expansion purposes and for additional working capital.

Red Owl Stores plans to open 50 new supermarkets years. The company now operates 169 retail food stores in the 10-state area of Minnesota, Michigan, North and South Dakota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois, Wyoming, Montana and Colorado. It also services 425 wholesale accounts.

Aorist. Pronounce ai-oh-rist, accent on first syllable, not the second.

New Features Listed In 1961 Lark Models

Refinement in styling, and an entirely new overhead-valve six-cylinder engine of increased power, available also with a new automatic transmission, are among the most outstanding new features in the new 1961 "Lark" cars, now on display in Arlington Heights at Arlington Motors, 1020 West Northwest Highway. Retaining the basic 6-passenger capacity of former Lark models, increased space has been added in the interior, particularly for increased legroom for both driver and passengers.

Styling has been changed to give body lines of the Lark an appearance of greater length, without adding to the Lark's overall length. Other improvements include safety-padded instrument panels, standard on all 1961 models. Steering ease and handling have been improved with a new-design recirculating ball type steering gear. Six-cylinder models are available with a new automatic transmission with smoother shifting. Larger "bonded" brakes are standard equipment. Glass area of both windshield and rear windows have been increased.

COMPLETELY new and more powerful 112-HP six-cylinder engine, called the "Skybolt Six," is of overhead-valve design, with a compression ratio of 8.5 to 1, and uses "regular" gas, like the standard Lark V-8 engine models. The new "Six" engine has a torque rating of 154 at 2000 r.p.m., developing 112 H.P. at 4,500 r.p.m.

Seventeen Studebaker Lark models are offered for 1961, including a new luxury-styled "Cruiser" model, a four-door sedan, to be announced shortly. The popular "Hawk" family sports car, is also included. (BB

Drug Chain Head Honored at Dinner

Highlight of a recent Walgreen executives' annual meeting was the presentation of a gold-starred emblem to Charles R. Walgreen, Jr., president, honoring his 35th year of service.

The emblem commemorates a working career which he started as a youngster making store deliveries after school hours long before he officially joined the firm in 1925 as a drug apprentice. Thereafter he gained wide on-the-job experience in practically every phase of his firm's business.

HE was elected vice president in 1933, to his firm's board of directors the following year, and company president in 1939.

Under his direction, the firm has shown consistent growth and is now in one of its greatest periods of expansion. In the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, Walgreens will have opened some 40 new stores bringing the total to over 450 stores serving 36 states.

The drug field also credits Walgreen's leadership for the nationwide popularization of the self-service drug store; the company now operates 218 self-service drug stores, the largest single group in the U.S.

WALGREEN IS a graduate of the University of Michigan College of pharmacy which, in 1951, awarded him an honorary degree of master of science. He's a registered pharmacist in Michigan and Illinois.

Walgreen is also engaged in many civic and professional activities including directorship on the National Association of Chain Drug Stores, American Foundation for Pharmaceutical Education, American Institute of the History of Pharmacy, University of Michigan Development council, and the Evanston Hospital association.

He is also a member of the American and Illinois Pharmaceutical associations, Chicago Drug and Chemical association and Rho Chi-pharmaceutical honor society.

Eagle Appoints Weindruch To Chicago Office

Eagle Food Centers, Inc. has established a headquarters branch in Chicago for its area operations and appointed Himan Weindruch to the newly-created post of Chicago district regional manager, heading up the new offices.

Weindruch will maintain an office at the chain's 6009 N. Broadway location.

Until now, the supermarket chain with five existing units in the Chicago area, and 31 in western Illinois and eastern Iowa, had maintained all headquarters at Milan, Ill.

WEINDRUCH, formerly was in charge of Eagle's store operations in the chain's home area, will function as director of the Eagle units at Broadway ave., Glenview, Highland Park, Rolling Meadows and Elmhurst.

He will be assisted by Jack Hoover, who has been named grocery and personnel supervisor for the Chicago area. Hoover, formerly store manager of an Eagle market in Moline, has been with the company for 10 years.

Also headquartering at the new offices will be Paul Simko, Chicago-area meat supervisor, Charles Flick, Chicago-area produce supervisor, and Sam David, Chicago-area liquor supervisor.

HIMAN WEINDRUCH

WEINDRUCH will also oversee all proposed markets in the Chicago area as they develop. At present, Eagle has announced sites at 50th and Racine in Chicgo, Niles, Lombard, Skokie and Des Plaines toward its 20-unit goal.

Weindruch has been in the retail food business for more than 40 years, beginning at age 11 when he peddled fruits and vegetables from an uncle's produce truck. In 1929, he went to work for the original Eagle market and was appointed manager of the second Eagle market when it was opened in 1930.

He subsequently served as store manager, buyer and supervisor.

The Weindruch and Hoover families currently residing in Rock Island, are moving to the Chicago area.

The geographic center of the United States, with the addition of Alaska and Hawaii, is in Butte County, S. D., 17 miles west of Castle Rock.

Sears Prepares For Grand Opening

Sears —2-30 ital ....

With merchandise pouring into new Sears, Roebuck and Co. department store in the Golf-Mill Shopping Center in Niles daily, preparations for the formal opening are at their height this week.

Manager N. E. Rosenhauer said today that the job of moving in the goods and setting up interior displays is progressing so well that the store can be opened within the next three weeks.

Scores of Sears specialists are joining with the store's several-hundred employes in completing the vast task of turning the unit's 230,000 square foot gross area into the finest and most complete Sears store ever built.

"GOLF-MILL will feature the latest developments in display and merchandising procedures," Rosenhauer pointed out. "Everything which will offer the greatest shopping convenience to our customers has been designed into the store."

Meanwhile, the final touches on the handsome exterior of the two-story building are being made by the contractors' staffs. The structure is of re-inforced concrete with face brick and store-trim exterior.

Adding to the beauty and convenience of the store are covered walkways leading from the main building to the separate garden shop and super-service station as well as to the malls of the shopping center.

The service station, incidentally, will have 24 separate stalls for automobile mobile maintenance and repair. Gasoline will be dispensed from 12 pumps located on two islands.

Approved For FHA Program

Arlington Heights Federal Savings & Loan association, 25 E. Campbell st., Arlington Heights, has been certified by commissioner Julian H. Zimmerman as a lending institution approved by the Federal Housing Administration to make mortgage loans insured under FHA's programs.

A letter from E. J. Dee, assistant commissioner field operations, designating the above institution as an "approved mortgagee" was received recently by D. F. Morton, vice president of that institution.

Mortgage loans insured by FHA are available for the purchase of homes and for the development of rental or cooperative housing projects.

THE MONEY for the loans that the approved mortgagee makes under FHA programs comes from its own funds, not from any government funds.

FHA insurance enables lenders to give borrowers more favorable loan terms than might otherwise be possible.

The mortgage insurance programs operated by the Federal Housing Administration in cooperation with private lenders have already benefited millions of people throughout our country. More than 4 million families have been helped toward home ownership and nearly 700 thousand families have been provided homes in rental or cooperative housing projects.

Business Bureau Offers Booklet

Although families of deceased debtors were paid $118,000,000 in credit life insurance in the past year, a study released today by the Chicago Better Business Bureau indicates nearly 60 per cent of those buying automobiles on the monthly payment plan never knew they had such coverage. Nonetheless, they were paying for it.

Investigations reveal nondisclosure of such protection is a serious problem throughout the nation. Furthermore, some charges for credit life premiums are unjustifiably high in themselves.

Working with legitimate factors in the credit life insurance field, including many automobile dealers, banks, finance companies, small loan firms, insurance underwriters and automobile manufacturers, the Better Business Bureau report urges car buyers be given specific and separate information in writing as to the cost of credit life insurance, if included in the deal.

THE REPORT goes on to show 30 states have a statute or regulation requiring that the charge for insurance premiums be indicated on the contract; 20 require that the type of insurance be shown; 15 require that each type of insurance be separately itemized.

In 22 states the law requires that a completed copy of the agreement be furnished to the buyer and three states require that insurance applications be on a separate document.

Copies of this report are available at 75 cents each, upon inquiry to the Chicago Better Business Bureau.

Oil Firm to Build Refinery Terminal

The Ohio Oil company will build a large refined products terminal in Elk Grove township in another step in the widening sales of Marathon petroleum products in the Chicago - northern Illinois area.

The new installation will be completed by March of next year, according to the announcement by M. D. King, manager of Ohio Oil's products distribution division. It will provide quick and economical supplies of Marathon gasolines and light oil to Marathon service stations and distributors in the Chicago Marathon marketing district, headquartered here. Manager of the Chicago district is R. D. Robinson.

THE TERMINAL, with a liquid capacity of 9,030,000 gallons, will consist of five large tanks, a truck loading dock and a terminal office building. Preliminary grading and building of tank pads has started. Tank erection will begin about the middle of September.

Refined products will flow into the terminal from Ohio Oil's refinery in Robinson, Ill., in the southeast part of the state. Linking the two installations is the Wabash Pipe Line, 75 per cent owned by Ohio Oil, which runs the refinery through Champaign to Griffith, Ind., and joins with Badger Pipe Line to the Des Plaines location.

With the building of the Des Plaines terminal, Ohio Oil will have nine full - owned and operated Marathon products terminals serving its marketing states of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Kentucky and Wisconsin. In addition, the subsidiary Aurora Gasoline Company has five terminals, and Ohio Oil, in partnership with other companies, owns three other terminals.

Poling & Bacon Construction co., Inc., Youngston, O., is doing the grading and filling work. Chicago Bridge and Iron co. will erect the five steel tanks.

Furniture Group To Exhibit Home Accessory Lines

Furniture fashions are changing, according to James J. Parise, president of the Chicago Retail Furniture association, which will exhibit the latest home furnishings and accessory lines at the Modern Living Home and Flower Show opening November 18 at McCormick Place, the new $35,000,000 lakefront exposition hall.

"Currently in are wooden wall plaques, formal dining rooms, colored floor coverings and lavender and purple accents," said Parise.

"Styles in wall decor are shifting from the traditional mirrors and pictures to plaques, unusual bottles, and wooden decorations."

MIRRORS over the dining buffet are getting to be as old-fashioned as shadow boxes, and they died years ago," he added.

The CRFA, in a joint effort with retailers and their top decorators is furnishing more than 45 model rooms to display the latest trends at the Modern Living Show, which will run through December 4.

Flanking the model room display, which will occupy 15,000 square feet, will be exhibits of furniture, accessories, household items and decorative objects.

PARISE says it will be the most complete line of home furnishings ever presented to the public in the Midwest.

He emphasizes that all the items displayed — including those in the model rooms — will demonstrate how people live today.

Report Collection On June Liability

City and county sales taxes collected in July on June tax liability were reported recently to Governor William G. Stratton by the Illinois Department of Revenue. City sales tax collections grossed $4,681,713 and county sales tax collections totaled $283,000.

Of the county total, $37,255.01 was collected in Cook County and $54,028.23 from DuPage County.

The collections from 1,109 cities and villages (an increase of three since last month's report) and from 50 counties represent a tax of one-half per cent on June retail sales in the municipalities and parts of counties not in municipalities.

GROSS collections of cities and villages were reduced by $187,132, the state's four per cent administration cost. Included in the net amount of $4,491,158 certified to cities and villages is $2,567.33 paid under protest but not involved in a suit. An additional $701.27 is withheld because it is under injunctional order.

Gross collections from counties were reduced by $16,977, the state's six per cent administration cost. Included in the net amount of $265,968 certified to counties is $1,297.05 paid under protest but not involved in a suit.

To date, 1,116 municipalities and 52 counties have passed ordinances permitting collection of the one-half per cent tax.

NEW MAILING CONVENIENCE—The Post Office Department's Research and Development Laboratory in Washington, D.C., is experimenting with a new "one hand" mail box. Mrs. Norman Jean Biglin, a Washington Postal employee, is shown demonstrating the box. The box not only has three slots for mailing letters, instead of the customary one (a distinct advantage on busy street corners permitting several persons to mail their letters simultaneously), but letters can be deposited when only one hand is free. One of the slots, incidentally, is for mailing letters from autos. The box permits one-handed operation because it has top-hinged flaps, much like those on mail drops on the home front door, and it is only necessary to push the letter in. With other mail boxes it is necessary, with most types, to "pull down" with one hand and insert the letter with the other. The experimental new box will be placed in operation in the near future in a number of cities over the Nation (as yet undetermined). It is one of the many developments of the new programs of research and postal improvements ordered by Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield.

Hints To Home Owners

James Fizzell
Assistant Farm Advisor

Chrysanthemums have long been the favorite fall flower. With scientific advances in the growing of these flowers, the season has been lengthened until now these useful blooms are available fresh, every day of the year.

Chrysanthemums originally grew wild in Asia and were quite similar to our common daisy. The Japanese, through their skillful breeding, developed the flower to the point where it was many times as large as it wild ancestor. It is now the national flower of Japan.

European visitors to Japan were fascinated by the large, showy flowers and carried plants back to Europe. From there they finally were imported to the U. S.

THE chrysanthemum has been bred extensively in this country, and most of the important commercial varieties are results of the work of breeders.

The University of Illinois is one of the foremost developers of chrysanthemums in the United States. Many varieties are introduced by the floriculture division of the college of agriculture each year, each bearing the trade mark, Illini, somewhere in the name. Illini Snowdrift is a delicate little variety known in the United States and abroad as well.

There are many types of chrysanthemums on the market, and at least one is suited for almost any use. The large "football mums" called "standards" in the trade, are used extensively in arrangements. Closely allied to the football mums are other large disbuds with decorative, informal shapes and the exotic spider-like Fuji mums.

THE SMALL, spray type chrysanthemums are called pompons. These work well in small arrangements and are extensively used in corsages. It is the pompon which because of its long cut-flower life is used on New Years Day to cover floats in many parades throughout the country.

Chrysanthemums are one of our best flower buys. The flowers are adapted to almost any use, and in addition, chrysanthemums are the longest-lived of all our cut flowers. With proper care, a chrysanthemum arrangement will last several weeks in the home.

Chrysanthemums are in good supply now at your neighborhood florist. Use flowers; they are the sign of a friendly, hospitable home.

Local Men To Lead Divisions

Two Mt. Prospect residents were recently elected division leaders of the Chicago Chapter of the National Association of Accountants.

CLU Designation Awarded To Two By Underwriters

Two area residents recently were awarded the coveted College of Life Underwriters designation at the national conferment exercises of the American College of Life Underwriters held in Washington, D. C.

Those honored were Morton J. Shapiro, 669 Love, Elk Grove Village, of Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Co., and Eugene R. Volpi, Jr., 619 Merle, Wheeling, of Washington National Insurance Co.

The American College of Life Underwriters grants two equivalent designations: the Chartered Life Underwriter (C. L. U.) for those connected with the field underwriting and agency operations of life insurance companies, and the Chartered Life Underwriter Associate (C.L.U. Associate) for others in life insurance.

IN ORDER TO qualify for either designation, candidates must pass a series of professional examinations and meet the stringent experience and ethical requirements of the College.

This year 929 men and women will be awarded the designations, bringing to 9,326 the number of people who have received them since the American College was founded in 1927.

The C.L.U. study program was established to meet the professional education needs of the men and women who provide life insurance service for the public. The courses cover such areas as fundamentals of life and health insurance; business life insurance, group insurance and pensions; law, trusts and taxation; economics and finance; and the practice of life underwriting.

THE TYPICAL candidate for the C.L.U. designation enrolls in a special study class at a college or university and spends three to four years in the program. Persons who attain the Chartered Life Underwriter designation are privileged to use the term or its abbreviation (C.L.U.) after their names and to wear the C.L.U. key.

They are also eligible to become members of the American Society of Chartered Life Underwriters, a professional body whose principal objective is to maintain high standards of insurance service to the public.

DuPage Group Tours Calumet, Cal-Sag Area

Agroup of attorneys, realtors and business men from DuPage County were the guests of Chicago Title and Trust company in Chicago, for a tour of the Lake Calumet Harbor area and the Cal-Sag Channel.

The purpose of the tour was to acquaint business and professional leaders from Wheaton, Elmhurst, Downers Grove, Glen Ellyn, Hinsdale Lombard, Naperville, Lisle, Roselle, Bensenville, West Chicago and Addison with current developments on the Great Lakes and the Illinois Waterway which, with the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway, promise to stimulate the economy of the entire midwest area.

Following a visit through the offices of Chicago Title and Trust company, the group boarded a chartered boat for a cruise around Lake Calumet Harbor, which has been converted into a deep-water port to which ocean ships from foreign lands sail direct from the Great Lakes by way of the Calumet River.

THEY also were given a guided tour through the Chicago Regional Port District where James Pisco, chief engineer of the district, explained how the completed harbor projects will accommodate world-wide shipping.

Following the cruise, which was narrated by Earl Woosley, civilian engineer with the Chicago District, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, the representatives from DuPage County were guests for dinner at the Chicago Yacht Club.

Modern Etiquette

By ROBERTA LEE

Q. Is it really considered good manners to use the handkerchief while at the dinner table?

A., This is not so much a question of "good manners" as of "necessity." Certainly, when the necessity arises, one must use the handkerchief at the table — but do it as inconspicuously and as quietly as possible.

Q. Is it considered polite to refuse a cigarette someone has offered you, if you prefer your own brand?

A. Yes; but refuse graciously, saying, "Thank you, but I have some."

Q. Are the candles on a dinner table supposed to be lighted before or after the guests are seated — and also, when are they extinguished?

A. The candles are lighted just before the guests are summoned — and the hostess extinguishes them as she and her guests leave the dining room after the meal.

Q. When one is in doubt as to whether an invitation can be accepted or not, how should the acknowledgment be worded?

A. There should be no uncertainty about the acknowledgment. You MUST state definitely whether or not you can accept the invitation.

Q. Is it all right to use the telephone to thank a person for sending flowers?

A. This is acceptable — but a handwritten note of thanks is much better.

License Numbering To Change in '61

Beginning next year, Illinois will have a new motor vehicle license numbering system, the first revision in license numbers since 1912, Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier, Republican candidate for re - election, said last week at a meeting of the Riverside Republican Women's club.

"With the adoption of this new system, Illinois becomes, I believe, the first state to base its numbering system on the results of scientific study, research and experimentation," Carpentier said.

"We can say with confidence that it will offer quick and accurate identification of motor vehicles."

CARPENTIER said he engaged the college of engineering of the University of Illinois to survey license numbering plans, and that the new Illinois system is based on two years of the most thorough and exhaustive study by graduate engineers ever undertaken in this field.

Many different numbering systems have been suggested over the last several years, but they were merely someone's idea of what would be an improvement or a proposal that Illinois adopt the plan used by some other state, Secretary Carpentier said.

In neither case was there any proof that the proposed system was any better than the Illinois method, he said.

"I WAS determined that, if any change were to be made, we should have definite proof that it would be a distinct improvement, and I turned to the experts at our own University of Illinois to get the proof," Carpentier said. "Once we had obtained it, we did not hesitate to put it into effect."

Under the new system, numbers only will be used for the first 999,999 sets of plates. Beyond that, instead of numbers in the one, two and three millions, the license number will be made up of two letters followed by four digits, beginning with AA 1000.

How Seed Law Keeps Standards High

If Frost Dates Are Normal Most Corn Will Survive

by L. H. SIMERL

About 96 per cent of Illinois corn will "beat the freeze" if the first killing frosts come at the normal dates or later. About 98 per cent of the soybeans will mature before the normal dates of killing frosts, according to estimates by the Illinois Cooperative Crop Reporting service and the Weather bureau.

The average dates of the first killing frosts range from Oct. 1 in the northwestern corner of the state to Oct. 30 in the extreme southern tip. By killing frost we mean a freeze that will stop the growth of corn and beans over an area as large as a county.

In the northern fourth of Illinois, where planting was delayed most, 89 per cent of the corn and beans will be safe from damage if frost comes at the normal time or later. Western Illinois aso has much late corn and beans, but this section should have about 10 days more before frost than the northern end of the state.

IF KILLING frosts should come an average of 10 days earlier than usual, about 20 per cent of the corn would be injured and 11 per cent of the beans would be caught. If the frosts came 20 days early, about 55 per cent of the corn and 45 per cent of the beans would be nipped.

Killing frosts first invade Illinois from the north, but Lake Michigan holds them back from the counties around Chicago. By October 5 frost has usually covered four or five counties in the northwest corner. The invasion then spreads rapidly, especially down the middle of the state.

By October 10 the frost line has bulged southward to below LaSalle in the center of the state, and by the 15th it has gone below Springfield. At about the same time, freezing temperatures creep over the Illinois state line from central Indiana.

Other areas of mid-Illinois are more frost resistant. Thus frosts may be later at Kankakee and Galesburg than at Springfield, which is 60 miles farther south.

THE CHAMPAIGN-Ford-Douglas-Piatt counties area has been especially frost resistant. The average date of the first killing frost in this area is October 20 to 25, or 10 days later than in the Springfield-Lincoln-Peoria area.

A similar frost-resistant island appears in southeastern Illinois from around Olney south to McLeansboro and Carmi. A long string of frost-resistant counties is also found along the southwestern edge of the state, along the Mississippi river, from around Quincy south to Cairo.

Exclusive of the exceptions noted before, the average date of first killing frosts in east-central and southern Illinois is October 15 to 20. These are the typical dates for killing frosts over a large and irregular-shaped area extending from just west of Chicago and including Kankakee, Decatur, Lawrenceville, Harrisburg, Mt. Vernon, Vandalia, Carlinville, Macomb and Monmouth.

Only seeds shipped in interstate commerce are directly affected by the Federal Seed Law. However, for the past 20 years this law has helped to maintain high standards for all agricultural seeds in commerce.

Seeds sold outside the producing state must contain labels and meet certain purity and germination tests. Here is what the law and regulations require:

On the label: 1. Kind of seed — each one over 5 per cent; 2. Kinds and quantities of all noxious weeds; 3. Date of germination tests; 4. If chemically treated, the type of treatment and, if toxic, the word "poison" in bold type; 5. If certified, an official label by an agency authorized by the state to certify seed, stating that the seed is certified or registered.

QUALITY standards: Germination tests must have been made within five months prior to shipment. Records on origin, germination and purity must be kept on each lot of seed for three years.

Warranty: 1. The shipper impliedly warrants that the seeds are as indicated on the label.

2. He may not deny or modify any of the requirements of the law by disclaiming or limiting his warranty of the seeds.

ADVERTISING: 1. Advertising must be true and accurate; 2. False advertising will bar seeds from interstate shipment.

The Federal Seed Act also covers entry of foreign seeds. Excluded are seeds that: 1. contain more than 5 per cent of another seed (except mixtures of alsike and red or white clover and certain other mixtures designated by the Secretary of Agriculture); 2. have a high noxious weed content or that have less than 75 per cent pure live seed; 3. are stained contrary to regulations of the secretary of agriculture. (Note: Imported alfalfa and red clover must be stained to indicate country of origin. Most of these seeds come from Canada.)

There is, of course, continuous sampling, testing and inspection of seeds. Stiff penalties apply when persons knowingly violate this law. A fine of up to $1,000 may be imposed for a first offense and up to $2,000 for subsequent violations. Shipments in violation may be seized and destroyed.

One exception in the law covers farmers who sell seed they have produced directly to a consumer in another state. None of the above provisions apply to such sales.

It appears that this law has done a great deal to standardize the seed market, to make certain that buyers are informed about the seeds they are buying and that seeds moving in interstate commerce are suitable for planting.

Publish New Drug Rules

Antibiotics and other drugs cannot be sold for treating milk - producing animals if residues can be found in the milk more than 96 hours after administration, or if the time needed for the drug to disappear from the milk has not been determined.

This constitutes the heart of new regulations published by the U. S. Food and Drug administration, according to Dr. J. R. Pickard, University of Illinois extension veterinarian. The regulations, which aim to prevent antibiotic and other drug residues in milk, become effective November 29.

The new regulations also call for label statements on drugs telling farmers that they are required to discard milk for 96 hours after dosage, or whatever shorter period is adequate to free the milk from the drug. A previous regulation required similar labeling for udder infusion antibiotics and drugs.

The new regulations cover all drugs and all dosage forms intended for use in animals producing milk for food use. They were made necessary by recent reasearch findings indicating that the use of injectable antibiotics and certain other drugs and dosage forms, as well as the udder infusion products, contaminated the milk of treated animals.

Floor Laying Cuts Poultry Profits

A University of Illinois poultry specialist reports that floor laying seems to be increasing in poultry flocks around the state.

S. F. Ridlen warned that floor laying, compared with nest laying, means lower profits for poultrymen.

Floor laying also means extra time and labor to collect the eggs. Most of the eggs are dirty, requiring more cleaning time. Some are so badly stained that they can't be completely cleaned. These eggs are worth little money.

Floor laying also increases cracking and breaking. This often leads to egg eating, a hard - to - stop habit among hens.

HERE ARE SOME reasons for floor laying: 1. Failing to house pullets before they begin laying. 2. Providing too few nests. Allow one nest for every four or five hens. If using community nests, provide one square foot of nesting space for four or five birds.

Other reasons are: placing the nests in too much light or too high. Keep nests in darker areas of the hen house and at reasonable heights. Letting the nesting material get dirty. Letting automatic egg-gathering belts frighten young pullets. To avoid this problem, let pullets use the nests several weeks before starting the belts.

If floor laying does start, Ridlen advised stopping it as soon as possible. Putting wire netting over the favorite floor-nesting areas may help. Moving the nests to new locations also has helped in some flocks.

Dairy Prices Become Stabilized at Level

by L. H. SIMERL

The dairy situation has been fairly well stabilized for five or six years. No major change is expected in the year ahead.

The President recently signed a bill to raise price supports to 80 per cent of parity — from 77 per cent. This change will not have much effect on market prices, which were already at or above the 80 per cent level.

In August, prices received by farmers for butterfat averaged 80 per cent of parity, while prices received for milk averaged 85 per cent.

Total milk production in the United States has held around 125 billion pounds annually for five years. Total output has been stable because the increase in production per cow has been offset by a decrease in the number of cows.

COW NUMBERS decreased less this year than in 1959 and 1958. In those years many dairymen shifted to beef cattle. The decline in prices of beef cattle in the past 18 months has tended to slow the switch from dairy to beef. The increase in production per cow has offset the decline in cow numbers and provided an increase of about one per cent in milk production compared with a year ago. But this increase is less than the growth in population, which is about 1 2/3 per cent a year. If the reduction in cow numbers is halted, increased production per cow would soon produce surplus problems.

The government price-support program for milk and cream is carried out by CCC purchases of cheese, butter and nonfat dry milk.

Sales of cheese to the CCC have decreased to the vanishing point over the past four years. Such sales declined from 241 million pounds in 1957 to 80 million pounds in 1958, to 5 million pounds in 1959 and to less than ½ million pounds so far this year.

Purchases of butter for price support decreased from 359 million pounds in 1953 to 124 million pounds last year. So far this year the CCC has bought about the same amount of butter as in 1959.

PRICE - SUPPORT purchases of nonfat dry milk reached an all-time record high of 886 million pounds in 1958 and then declined to 830 million pounds last year. Deliveries to the United States Department of Agriculture have continued at about the same rate so far in 1960.

Average prices received by farmers for milk have been steady to slightly higher since 1954. An exception was 1958, when prices declined a bit. The Illinois farm price for fluid milk markets averaged $3.80 per hundred pounds in August, 20 cents more than a year before.

Cow numbers are decreasing faster in Illinois than in most other states. In the past 10 years Illinois lost 30 per cent of its cows, while the whole country lost only 13 per cent.

Down On The Farm

CARL F. MEES

with Your Farm Adviser

Someone has said "public relations means treating the public better than you would your relation."

I've heard a lot about public relations recently. Sometimes the public does not understand our problems so we must do a good job informing them. I write this column to supply information to my readers and also try to build better public relations.

A farm adviser deals in public relations every day — every phone call, personal contact, letter and public appearance adds to or detracts from the public opinion of the extension service. I try to create a better understanding between rural and urban people. When the public tears down the farmer, you must build him back up. Remember that 40 per cent of the jobs in the United States are related to agriculture. Our people are the best fed, best clothed and enjoy the highest standard of living of any people in the world.

PEOPLE SHOULD know that agriculture is basic to a sound economy. If agriculture fails, sooner or later the entire economy will fail.

There is a story of a dairy calf that drank from a pail every morning. One morning the calf stuck up his tail and down the road he went with the steers. The farmer didn't worry because he knew the calf would be back because he needed milk. When the calf got hungry - he did come back.

A similar story could be applied to people. Some have thought the farmer is relatively unimportant today as far as food is concerned because of the abundant supply we have had in recent years. This has really never worried me because I know when the people in our country get hungry they'll come back. They will admit they need the farmer. In the meantime let us all try to build good public relations. Let's constantly remind the people that food is an excellent buy, and that food comes first.

Note Record High Tax on Farmland

Taxes paid on Illinois farm land climbed to a record high in 1959, a University of Illinois professor of agricultural law reported this week.

N. G. P. Krauz said Illinois landowners paid out $118.7 million, or 14 per cent of their net income.

The 1959 real estate tax take was 3.7 per cent above that of 1958 and about four times as much as that of 1940. The national increase from 1958 to 1959, however, averaged 8 per cent.

Illinois topped all other corn - belt states in tax levy per acre. While Illinois landowners paid $3.93 an acre, other corn - belt landowners averaged only $2. an acre. The national average is $1.11. Four northeastern states had higher per acre taxes than Illinois.

High value of Illinois and does not account entirely for the higher taxes. When Krauz computed the taxes on the basis of $100 value, Illinois tax remained the highest in the corn belt and 45 per cent above the U. S. average.

Public schools take the largest portions of real estate tax revenue, Krausz said. Rising enrollment creates demands for new schools, additional staff and greater operating revenues. More increases in real property taxes can be expected as long as the tax structure remains basically the same, he concludes.

High, Handsome Pie Sparks Chicken 'Luncheon For Six'

by LOIS SEILER

Perfect for a party of six — that's the lovely luncheon menu we are featuring today.

The recipes have been shared with us by Mrs. Vernon J. Pingel of Arlington Heights, who readily admits that because she likes them so well she serves them quite often.

"The Baked Chicken Loaf is one of the nicest luncheon dishes I have ever found," said Mrs. Pingel. "It is extremely versatile too, as turkey, ham or tuna can be substituted for the chicken and they are all equally good."

The chicken loaf takes only a few minutes to put together. It is baked in a loaf pan, topped with crunchy almonds and served with a mushroom sauce.

WITH this tasty, tempting chicken dish, Mrs. Pingel suggests serving rolls, relishes and a molded salad. Her favorite salad, called Mandarin Supreme, consists of whipped orange jello, whipped cream and chopped mandarin orange sections. It can be made in a ring mold or individual molds and is served on salad greens.

Because this is a light salad it is perfect accompaniment for the hearty chicken loaf, and its distinctive flavor definitely complements the main dish.

"For dessert, my favorite is a delectable Mile High Lemondae Pie," said this accomplished cook.

There is no baking with this pie. It has a coconut crust and a "mile-high" filling which simply consists of whipped evaporated milk, lemonade concentrate, sugar and unflavored gelatine. This is a lovely, light dessert and a refreshing climax to a delightful luncheon.

ALL OF these recipes have the attractive attribute that they can be quickly prepared in the morning, with lots of time to spare for other chores before the guests arrive. The chicken loaf need only be popped into the oven one hour before serving, and the salad and pie will have set and be ready and waiting for the table.

In addition to her culinary interests, Mrs. Pingel is an avid worker for the Arlington Heights Woman's club. This year she is publicity chairman for this organization and last year she was American Home study group chairman. The family are members of St. John's United Church of Christ.

The Pingels live at 422 S. Evergreen in Arlington Heights. They have two children: Gay, who is a high school freshman, and Karl, who is in sixth grade at South junior high.

A DAUGHTER'S ADMIRATION is the best praise a mother can receive for her culinary achievements, and Gay Pingel looks at her mother with warm approval as Mrs. Vernon Pingel prepares to cut a slice of a Mile High Lemonade Pie. This light, refreshing dessert is her favorite to serve for a luncheon which features a flavorful Baked Chicken Loaf and molded orange salad.

Baked Chicken Loaf

1 can mushroom soup plus enough milk to make two cups
2 chicken bouillon cubes
2 eggs, beaten well
¾ cup mayonnaise
1½ cups cooked chicken
1 can Chinese noodles
¼ cup slivered almonds

Warm milk and dissolve bouillon cubes in milk. Remove from heat. Stir in remaining ingredients.

Pour mixture into a buttered bread pan, sprinkle with additional almonds, and bake for one hour in a 350 degree oven. (Turkey, ham or tuna may be substituted for the chicken, if desired.)

Serve with a mushroom sauce which is made by combining:

1 can celery soup
1 can mushroom soup

Heat these ingredients together and serve over slices of chicken loaf. Serves 6.

Mandarin Supreme

1 package orange jello
1 11-ounce can mandarin oranges
1 cup whipping cream

Prepare jello as directed, using juice from mandarin oranges as part of the cold liquid. Allow to thicken to a very heavy syrup. Whip at fastest speed with a rotary beater until fluffy.

Whip cream and fold into whipped jello; fold in chopped mandarin orange sections.

Spoon into a ring mold or individual molds and chill until firm. Serve on salad greens. Serves 6.

Mile High Lemonade Pie

Crust:

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1½ cups coconut

Melt butter in a large iron skillet. Add coconut. Stir over medium heat, watching constantly, until golden brown. (Only takes a minute or two.

Press mixture firmly into a 9-inch pie pan. Let stand at room temperature until cool.

Filling:

1 cup Pet Evaporated milk
1 envelope unflavored gelatine
¼ cup cold water
½ cup boiling water
2/3 cup sugar
1 6-ounce can frozen lemonade concentrate

Chill evaporated milk in an ice tray until almost frozen around the edges.

Soften gelatine in cold water in a 3-quart bowl. Add boiling water and stir until gelatine is dissolved.

Add sugar and lemonade concentrate and stir until lemonade thaws. Chill mixture until very thick but not set.

Put the ice cold evaporated milk into a 1-quart bowl. Whip with rotary beater at high speed until stiff; fold into chilled gelatine mixture.

Pour into coconut crust and chill until firm, about three hours. Serves 6 to 8.

SUCCESSFUL HOMEMAKING

Small Eggs Are Best Buy States Marketing Expert

Take advantage of the plentiful supply of small eggs during September and October. They'll be the most economical choice during this period, according to James R. Roush, University of Illinois agricultural marketing specialist, and Elizabeth Nyholm, home economist.

Pullets hatched in the spring lay their first eggs in the early fall. Thus small eggs are always more abundant during this season.

Generally small eggs weigh about one-fourth less than large eggs. Allowing for the difference in weight, these small eggs are just as nutritious as large ones.

HERE'S a hint for choosing the best buy: If small eggs cost one-fourth or more less than large eggs, the small size is the best buy. For example, if large eggs sell for 57 cents a dozen and small eggs are less than 43 cents, the small size gives you the most for your money.

Besides being economical, small eggs have other points in their favor. They especially suit small serving needs of young children and invalids. They are also handy for adults who prefer small amounts of food. Used in multiples, small eggs can be adapted for most other eating and cooking uses.

Here's a tip on substituting small eggs for larger eggs in cooking: Most recipes are based on an egg measuring one-fourth cup. Using this guide, you can easily get the necessary amount. When measuring fractions of whole eggs, beat the eggs slightly with a fork to thoroughly mix the white and the yolk. Otherwise you may not get the correct proportion of egg yolk and white.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

by Edward Rentz

One of the most intriguing names in the spice family is that of sweet basil. What romantic notions this stirs up! That is, until you realize that it's merely the name of a cooking herb of the mint family.

It is not indigenous to the North American continent like its relative, the spearmint. This herb grows in the Mediterranean area and in India. Almost a necessity in the preparation of Italian dishes, sweet basil also excels in dishes of which tomatoes are the primary ingredient. It is used, too, in cheese and poultry dishes, meat stews, and soups. It can be used alone, or with other savory herbs.

'THE POOR'

By William Dulaney and Charles Hayes

An Exclusive Report-in-Depth of Illinois' Shocking Problems in Poverty!

Illinois is currently enjoying unprecedented wealth and prosperity; but behind the facade of affluence is another story, a story never before told: the story of the poor in Illinois.

For the first time in any newspaper or magazine, Paddock Publications will penetrate the plight of the poor — the slums and despair of Cook county, the stricken areas of southern Illinois where mining shutdowns have left depression and hunger in their wake, the tragedies of marginal farming, the crises of the jobless, the people who are poor because the community is poor and without resources or hope, the effects of automation on semi-skilled and unskilled workers.

The thousands of poor and their plight are important to suburbia because they affect state and local taxes, public services, schools, and the economic health and stability of the entire state. More important, their suffering rests upon the consciences of all relatively prosperous suburbanites.

Weeks in preparation, this unique series — written in the award-winning tradition of "Shame of the Suburbs" — will provide on-the-spot analytical, factual, and human reporting of Illinois' least understood problem.

For first-hand information on conditions of poverty, Paddock Publications sent William Dulaney into the heart of Cook county's slums for days of interviewing and investigating, and Charles Hayes on a 1200-mile junket through southern Illinois' problem counties. Both editors were accompanied by Larry Cameron, staff photographer, whose dramatic on-the-spot photos will illustrate this series.

"The Poor" series is another example of how Paddock Publications, with inquisitiveness and zeal, reports the foreground, explores the background of significant news and events, providing a unique depth and range to suburban reporting.

— Areas in black designate counties investigated by Paddock Publications. It is here that a majority of the state's poor people live.

Apricot Nectar Flavors Pudding

Variety, the spice of good meal planning, comes from new ideas applied to favorite dishes. For instance, serve vanilla pudding and pie filling mix a different way by preparing it with apricot nectar to make creamy fruit pudding. Then garnish with nest of whipped cream, holding apricot sections and fresh mint, and serve as a special treat to family or favored guests.

Apricot Fruit Juice Pudding

1 package Jell-O Vanilla Pudding and Pie Filling
¾ cup water
1 cup apricot nectar

Combine pudding mix, water, and apricot nectar in saucepan. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a full boil. Remove from heat. Pour into serving dish. Chill. Garnish with whipped cream, apricot halves and sprigs of mint. Makes 4 or 5 servings.

Week's Best food buys

Retail foods show little pric change from week-ago levels, but behind the scenes meats, poultry, produce and groceries indicate some shifts are in the offing.

The University of Illinois consumer service weekly survey of markets notes the following for the week ending October 1:

Selected beef takes the value buy nod despite a fall off in cattle receipts that tends to be balanced by a religious holiday slackened demand. Beef wholesale increases are less severe than the more abruptly higher pork costs. Lamb and veal are basically unchanged.

Fryers and stewing hens also are consensus values, both registering seasonally lower at wholesale. Fryers hold steady at retail, although some stores upped the top side of the price range. Stewers are probably at a seasonal retail low. Turkeys are stronger at wholesales and steady at retail. Eggs are firm to higher at retail with reported insufficient market supplies of larger sizes to meet demand.

PRODUCE generally continues firm, as all levels (retail, wholesale, shipping points) await the next major shakeup that comes with the first frost. Retail prices are stabilized on current fall abundance.

Groceries show a wholesale decline of 3/10ths an index point, now 1.7 points above a year-ago. Meanwhile, reflecting new-pack volume and the season, retailers are readying a rash of harvest-theme promotions.

Chicago-area consumer food bargains U of I-rated for this week include: Meats — beef chuck and rump roasts, round and sirloin steaks; Poultry—fryers and stewing hens; Produce—tomatoes; potatoes, lettuce, cabbage, apples, cantaloupe, grapes; groceries—peaches, apple products, fruit cocktail, corn, tomato products, peas.

A HOLIDAY influence was among other factors felt on the cattle market, with local receipts off 18 per cent from the week earlier and a full 25 per cent below year-ago. These were mostly in the better fed, heavier weight classes that are somewhat traditional with Chicago. Lighter weights predominated. Prices were strong to fractionally higher, about 1/2 cent on the average. Wholesale beef registered slightly higher for whole carcasses and chucks, steady to lower on other primal cuts. It's from the slower-moving loins, for instance, that the current steak values come. Retail beef was unchanged.

Ive hog receipts were two-directional. Barrows and gilts predominated the supply while sows fell off seasonally. But total supplies were off at the time when store promotions boosted demand. This put live hog prices up 1/2 to 3/4 cents, and wholesale responded with a hefty jump of 2 1/2 cents on loins, 1 3/4 cents on butts and even 1 1/2 cents on seasonally inactive ribs. At retail, pork prices held steady on the high side of the range, as the stores wiped lower ranges from the slate.

FRYERS dropped again at wholesale, with retailers holding the competitive low range of 27-37 cents for the most part. Some take the range back up to 39 cents. Stewing hens show a seasonally low retail of 39 cents which might be of short duration. Market supplies of hens are short as 1.) processing demand increases, and 2.) producers also tend to cull flocks less strictly at a time of currently higher egg prices. Turkeys are higher at wholesale but hold the 45-49 cents retail. Large size eggs are scarce and fail to meet demand. Pullets are not much help in filling the gap. Consequently there's more movement of storage stocks, now some 53,000 cases under a year-ago, which is unusual considering the season. Large grade A eggs reflect a very firm to higher 59-65 cents retail.

Produce markets are firm, the bright spots being the items noted above. A seasonal shift in production gears accompanied by Jack Frost will prompt the next change on the heels of hurricane damage that upped some prices, such as eastern apples. Generally, the 10-day lagging local supply situation gives indications that autumn prices will be only infrequently lower.

FASCINATED BY THE whirr of electric beaters is Ricky De Muesy of Prospect Heights. He is watching his mother, Mrs. Richard L. De Muesy, beat the eggs for an elegant Sherry Pie, one of this able cook's favorite desserts. She serves this to top off an excellent luncheon featuring a Shrimp Peach Salad and Green Bean Casserole. Reader Takes Newspaper to Task for Its News Account

I was present at the Village of Wheeling's Board of Trustees meeting September 19, 1960. From what I saw and heard at the meeting as well as what I discussed with other persons present at that meeting the report entitled "Placard Posse Fails in Plea to Trustees" on the front page of the September 22, 1960, edition of the Wheeling Herald did not represent a literal or even figurative description of either the board's or the private citizens' activities at the meeting.

Consider first the figurative aspect of your paper's representation of the citizens' activities at the aforementioned meeting. These persons were private citizens with a logical complaint and serious in their intentions. The drainage problem which they wished solved emanated from a lack of planning by the board of trustees in allowing the Wildwood Lane Apartments to be constructed in the manner in which they have. These citizens were not a "posse" but thinking people who had come to the board of trustees expecting that the board would attempt to solve a problem which it itself allowed to be brought into being. These were honest citizens with a real problem and not a wild west show.

WITH RESPECT to the literal report of what went on at that meeting consider your statement in the aforementioned issue of the Herald:

"Wilbur H. Van Ryper, of Consoer, Townsend and Associates, consulting engineers, said a retaining wall running parallel to the southwest wall of the buildings would provide a workable solution to the drainage inadequacy."

This specifically was not the solution offered by the engineers but, rather, only represented a part of a storm drainage system including storm sewers which had been recommended by the village engineer at previous meetings of the board of trustees.

Mr. Moody, the village engineer, did not say that the retaining wall would solve the problem as your paper stated nor did the consulting engineer of the builder maintain that his solution was complete.

THE BUILDER'S representative made the statement that the drawings and engineering work presented by his engineer would not change the original situation with respect to the drainage problem from what had been presented by the builder at previous meetings. The builder's engineer himself said he needed more time to work on the problem and that he would present a plan for the problem three days prior to the next regular meeting of the board of trustees.

Although your article said the stop order was voided for two weeks, this was not the case. The only action taken by the board was represented in the statement by the attorney for the village that at the next court hearing on the injunction proceedings, September 26, 1960, the village voluntarily would agree to extend the injunction to October 3, 1960.

The group of citizens who were at the board of trustees meeting did not appear to have come to "corral the sympathies of the board of trustees." They appeared, rather, to have come expecting the board to meet head on a problem of drainage the board itself had created by its inaction in the regulation of the construction by this builder. This problem had been brought to the attention of the board many weeks before last Monday and yet it went unsolved. These citizens wanted the board to accept the responsibility which it had ignored and get something done before it was too late.

'Communistic Threat' Requires Tough Action

Congratulations to Caroline Hanks of Wheeling for her fine analysis of the recent seminar held at the Glenview Naval air base. I, too, attended this well - organized program designed and conducted by its sponsors to inform the people of this area concerning the dangers of Communism — its method of operation — and what the average citizen could do about it.

It is indeed a strange state of affairs when Secretary of the Navy Franke is required to defend Navy action by replying to a complaint in which Franke said, "Activity such as the Glenview seminar is provided for the sole purpose of improving our defenses." He further went on to say, "This assistance is clearly in the best interests of the Navy, the Nation, and freedom itself — which has suffered too much of late from inertia imposed under the guise of protecting precious freedom traditions." In contradiction to the complaint, the "Chicago Sun - Times" of September 15, editorially upheld and praised the seminar by saying, "Public understanding of its aims, its anatomy, and its tactics is as vital to U. S. defense as are rockets and nuclear weapons."

COULD IT BE possible that your reporter, when he McCarthyized the article in your September 1 issue, has taken his cue from an article appearing in "The Daily Worker" of June 6, 1960? Possibly, he was just following what appears to be some of the journalistic traits taught by certain professors well-known for the mischief they create behind an otherwise respectable front.

Why not have your reporter examine, if he will, the record of the group who complained to the Secretary of the Navy in the first place — or maybe he already is aware of these facts — or possibly your reporter could get together with Sandy Smith of the "Chicago Tribune," who would be glad to show him that Communists do not, of necessity, hide under the nearest bush or tree — particularly when they hold a meeting at 36 West Randolph Street in the city of Chicago over a weekend. I am sure that Sandy would be glad to point out to him such well-known figures as Florence Hall (Perlmutter), James West, Claude Lightfoot, and Sam Kushner, who, as above indicated, were not under any bushels last weekend.

To Caroline, I would like to add, "Well, be an idealist, rock the boat" — it might wake up some of the complacent 'fat cats' in the area. You will find that you will get a lot of help from well-informed sources unknown to you.

Are you sure, Caroline, that the Hoover book is entitled Seeds of Treason, or could it have been Masters of Deceit?

Community Chest Gifts Acknowledged by School

The Parent Group of the Clearbrook School for Retarded Children located in Rolling Meadows would like to express their appreciation to the industry and individuals in the area who contributed to the Suburban Community Chest Council. The check received, in the amount of $337.98, is of tremendous help toward maintaining our school whose financial operation depends on organizations of this type, community service organizations, nominal tuition and the generosity of individuals.

The Suburban Community Chest Council is a Federation of Chicagoland Community Chests for clearance of industrial contribution and distributes funds for non-chest communities for their work in scouting, teenage centers, programs for the aged or general welfare activities for people of all ages. Everyone realizes the importance of these activities and their need for continued financial support.

The Clearbrook school which now services Rolling Meadows, Arlington Heights, Hoffman Estates, Palatine, Mt. Prospect, Elk Grove Village, Wheeling, Bensenville, Des Plaines and Prospect Heights would like to thank, again, the Surburban Community Chest Council for their annual contribution.

'New' Math Program Is Used in Other Schools

In relation to the article on new math approach on front page of Arlington Heights paper:

The uniqueness of the mathematics program as reported on your front page should probably be limited to a uniqueness within the reporting school district. Actually, the "new" math program is being pilcted in other neighboring areas.

Sound teachers have always spent time making the abstract concept in mathematics realistic. In this respect the new program is not new in the true sense but a formalization of ideas which have been used by effective teachers the world over.

FOR THE past 12 to 14 years, a major textbook company has been advocating the process of reasoning through arithmetic. This company furnishes consultants to implement the "new" study in any school district. One need not be an affiliate to the University of Chicago to begin the process.

In some northern Chicago suburbs, the "new" program has been distributed and promoted for the past two years. Expansion of the program has been closely tied with results of various university studies of which the University of Chicago is not a contributor.

NEVERTHELESS, those who teach in other areas welcome Arlington and others who are now realizing the ineptitude of past mathematic teaching.

One more thing, the "new" method does not delay the learning of the multiplication tables and it encourages, rather than applies a break, to abstract thinking.

Her Family Is Fortunate

It was my privilege to be able to read the article in your newspaper issue of September 8 "Arlington Heights Assets for Good Living" by William Dulaney.

My daughter-in-law, Mrs. Richard Patton, kindly sent the article to me as she wished me to know a little more about the community in which a part of my family lives.

May I congratulate you on two counts — the article, which I feel is one of the best I ever read of its kind, and secondly, on having such an unusually fine progressive, home - making community. I think any family is fortunate if they are located there.

The Necessity of Excuses

WHERE WOULD THIS OLD WORLD BE if there were no such thing as an excuse? Without an excuse, there would be no reason at all for things to go awry. In the field of sport alone, people would lose just because they lost.

I, particularly, would be at a complete loss. Every time I go bowling I start out the evening by explaining to anyone within earshot that I have arthritis in both arms. I also add that I haven't been bowling too long. This last I am going to have to give up pretty soon because years have a way of passing and I bowl every one of them. But, the arthritis bit looks good for years yet.

In bowling I have tried to maintain that the alleys are lumpy or the pins are square but these little dodges haven't panned out very well. It seems that the rest of the people have eyes and they say the alleys are fine and the pins of regulation size and shape. My arthritis they can't see so they are forced to go along with it.

While golfing a person can have a field day with excuses. The tee isn't level. A gnat got in the eye. The clubs are too heavy. This last one doesn't go over too well though. Use only in case of emergency.

Children are past masters in the art of excusing themselves. One of the best that my young come up with is that they didn't get their homework done because I forced them to do the dinner dishes. It works quite nicely the other way too. They couldn't do the dishes because they had to do their homework.

They have a lot of fun with time too. They don't get home on time because they didn't know what time it was. This is in spite of the fact that Father and I were broke for weeks after we got them each a wristwatch of their choice. The watches apparently are all lemons of the watch family or they don't wear them. Either way, they still find it impossible to know what time it is. Or, to get home on time.

Everyone knows that I don't get the things done that I should because I'm too busy. Trying to get the things done that I should. It's my own private vicious circle. If I were honest, I would just admit that I'm lazy and let it go at that. I prefer to think I am too, too busy. (Soc

Family Service Play

Dear Peg:

I recently listened to a very interesting and amusing discussion of the work done by Family Service Agencies. I agree that it seems highly unlikely that this subject matter could produce an evening of sparkling entertainment, however it did. Three members of the Lincolnwood Little Theatre presented a short play entitled The Broken Circle which, with its humor and easily identifiable situations and people, gave the audience a lot of fun along with a message.

My friend, Nancy, is a member of this little theatre group and although has been active in many of their plays, this is her first fling at "one night stands" for PTA groups around the Chicago area. When she told me about the program I was naturally interested in seeing her, but I also was anxious to see if the play would be suitable for our parents' group. It certainly would be—for ours or for yours.

The play dealt with that activity of the Family Service Agency which counsels husbands and wives on the problems that arise in their home lives. Many of the situations could have come right out of our own home—the struggle with expenses, the disciplining of the children, the wife's fight for her right to the checking account, etc. The play could have been pretty grim but it wasn't, due to clever dialogue and a rather light approach to the problems. Of course the couple work their problems out through visits to the Family Service Agency.

These visits make it quite clear in the play that couples who need advice are neither pressured to reveal any more of their personal lives than is necessary to resolve their problem nor to return for more counseling if they choose not to. Weeks passed between the visits that the couple in the play made, but finally they found the solutions to their difficulties and the play ended happily.

This is an entertaining way to show parents what your community's Family Service Agency can do. I inquired and was told that the name of the one in your area is the Northwest Family Service. If you think your school PTA would be interested you can call this agency and find out how to have this play brought to them. The players do it free of charge.

My love,
Patty.

Wayside Women Plan Fall Fashion Show

The subtle magic of fall will permeate the hall of Our Lady of the Wayside parish Wednesday evening, October 5, when the annual fashion show of the Catholic Woman's club will be presented. Under the title of "Autumn Moods," an exciting collection of smart clothing from the Maison de Romayne shop in Arlington Heights will be modeled by members of the club.

At 8:30 p.m. Mrs. John Heffernan, the commentator, will describe the fall line modeled by the following members: Mesdames Thomas Casey, Edward Condon, Neil Croarkin, Paul Doherty, Vincent Furlong, John Heinz, Howard Johnson, Bernard McDonald, Leonard Pearson and Thomas Rusk.

UNDER THE direction of Mrs. Donald Kirkham and Mrs. Richard Kaminski, chairman and co-chairman respectively of the ways and means committee of the club, arrangements have been progressing for the past weeks. Mrs. Philip Clancy and Mrs. John Madden recently addressed envelopes and completed details for the financial ends of the evening. The hands of Mrs. Walter Rutkowski and her committee will fashion the decorations. A "fashion surprise" to be given away remains one of the mysterious aspects of the evening. Here's HAUGH to Plan a Party

Souvenir Safari Party Preserves Fond Memories

By DOLORES HAUGH

Vacations are over but the memories linger on when you give a Souvenir Safari party. The theme can be carried out in two ways, with souvenirs of other years or with souvenirs of vacations and we are taking the latter, for the September birthday theme.

Invitations

Buy little 10 cent compasses and attach a tag resembling luggage identification tags to them. These are best delivered personally but if you mail them, mark the envelope "Please Hand Stamp" and they will arrive intact.

Write the following verse on them:

Some travel EAST
Some travel WEST
But on Sandy's birthday
Her house is the best
A birthday SOUVENIR SAFARI
There will be,
The time is 12 o'clock till 3.
Bring along your pictures,
Souvenirs too,
We'll expect a travelogue from YOU.
So pack your suitcase,
With vacation treasures
And plan to tell your vacation pleasures.
NORTH or SOUTH or EAST or WEST
This little SAFARI will be the BEST.

Clarify your instructions by stating: pack your treasures in a suitcase, and plan to tell of your best experiences, funniest, happiest, horrifying, or just plain most enjoyable vacation you ever had.

If you feel that the children will duplicate, call the parent and then on the invitation tell them what part of the country they should cover. Mark the invitation RSVP.

Sadly enough it seems that people are becoming so careless with their social obligations that many adults do not even have the courtesy to respond to an invitation so maybe the next generation, if we, the parents, try to teach them will benefit better than some. Explain what RSVP means and why we do respond to a special party invitation; it just goes with good etiquette.

Decorations, Preparations

Plan for a display table. Cover it with bright maps which can be had at gas stations free. One showing the world and various states, or if you know which states will be talked about be sure to display them.

A large world globe makes a colorful decoration when surrounded by flowers in red, white and blue.

AS THE GUESTS arrive have them place their displays on the table and put a name card, again repeating the luggage tag outline, with their items. A large piece of paper cut in the shape of the world or the United States placed on the wall with Scotch tape nearby will allow the children to put up any pictures they may have taken with them.

If you wish to make this part of the party secure, mention on the invitation to bring at least one picture or as many as you have room to display. Should you have more pictures than space, place the pictures as a frame around the map and with string or ribbons leading to their location, it is a lovely background for party pictures.

As for the table, it too is a snap. Cover the table with maps, and use the world and flower idea again, or suspend a plastic jet on fine wire to hover over the table while a train, bus and small cars journey down the table's center. Each place can have a "travel" favor such as plastic lotion bottles, compass, map folder, sun glasses, quickie clean up lotion or anything pertaining to travel. These are also game prize suggestions.

THE GIFTS will all be wrapped in maps and tied with red ribbons. If you can find them, tiny suitcases of red plastic are available and they make excellent nut and candy containers plus Ginny Doll accessories. Or if you want to make them use brown construction paper, in the shape of oblong suitcase dotted with bright triangles or circles, as travel stickers. Use a pipe cleaner for the handle and Scotch tape for the hinges and lock. Any party is only as good as the time you spend preparing it!

Menu

It is fun to name the things you serve with exotic names. Hamburger become Texas Steer cakes, Cokes become Sparkling Beverage of the Far East. You can have a ball naming these and the kids love it. Keep the menu simple lest you run out of names. A good one is hamburgers, cokes, potato chips, relishes and birthday cake. Sounds trite but true if you'll pardon a pun.

Label the things with pennants bearing their "Travel" names. Paper plates, cups and the napkins can all be from various restaurants and Howard Johnsons paper place mats would really set a fine place. The cake can be in the shape of a train, simple when you make your layers in bread pans. Frost each a different color with a dark red caboose. The diesel engines are the easiest. Use wheels of peppermint or pastel patties, licorice squares for the windows. The kids will love choosing which car to eat.

USE A piece of board, map covered and then saran wrap for the track and mark black railroad ties on before you cover it—a tiny bell on the engine may not be authentic but it looks good to the kids, use real flashlight bulbs for the engine's front light, they wipe off for future use.

Games

This is easy as you will need only a few games and they can all be travel ones, puzzles of the U.S. for relay games, hunts for travel items hidden in advance and tickets awarded for prizes so that a nice gift can be given to the child with the most tickets.

The trip talks will round out the activities. Well, all aboard the Souvenir Safari. Have a wonderful trip on the birthday of this lucky little traveller. P.S., a large open suitcase makes a swell place to put the gifts till time to open them. BON VOYAGE.

A rainbow color scheme was chosen for the attire of the bridal attendants of Janice Balducci of Prospect Heights for her July 23 marriage to Leo Sporleder of Palatine. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. Andrew Balducci, 36 Glenbrook dr., was preceded down the aisle of St. James Catholic church, Arlington Heights by five attendants, each gowned in a soft shade of mint green, orchid, yellow, turquoise and pink.

Serving her sister as maid of honor was Susan Balducci, who wore mint green organdy over taffeta with matching headband and carried a basket of white shasta faisies, the handle trimmed in mint green.

ATTIRED IN identical gowns, each in a different color, with headbands and the handles of their baskets matching their dresses were three bridesmaids. Nancy Jones of Prospect Heights wore orchid organdy, Roberta Polidori of Mundelein wore yellow and Janice Hawley of Arlington Heights chose turquoise for her attire.

The bride's 6-year-old sister, Therese, was flower girl in pink organdy with a pink headband and her basket had a pink handle.

William Schmidt of Chicago served as best man, and ushers were Philip Taylor of Palatine, Rodney Zoellick of Elgin and Roger Polidori of Mundelein.

THE MOTHERS of the bridal pair were also gowned in harmonizing colors to match the rainbow setting. Mrs. Balducci chose an ice blue organza over taffeta dress with a blue sequined hat, and her corsage was of white cymbidiums with pink roses. Mrs. Sporleder wore moss green lace with matching accessories and had a corsage identical to the bride's mother's.

Organist for the double ring ceremony was Sister M. Amabelia, and soloist was June Marie Stolfa.

Mount Prospect Bride Now Living in Olympia Fields

Making her first home as a bride in Olympia Fields, Ill., is the former Ruth Mary Rehling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Rehling, 316 S. George st., Mount Prospect. Richard W. Jones of Brookwood dr., Olympia Fields, brought his bride to reside in his home community September 15, following their August 20 wedding ceremony and reception and a 10-day honeymoon. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. Harris Jones of Bellwood.

The 4 o'clock ceremony was performed by Rev. Edwin I. Stevens in South church of Mt. Prospect. Baskets of white gladioli and ferns decorated the altar as Dianne Janssen played appropriate wedding music at the organ.

THE BRIDE, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white tissue taffeta with alencon lace and seed pearls bordering a sweetheart neckline and short sleeves. The back of the full skirt was gathered to form a slight bustle and bridal train. A shoulder length veil, topped by a pearl coronet, and a bouquet crescent of amazon lilies and stephanotis completed the bride's attire.

Lois Garman of Mt. Prospect, a friend of the bride, was maid of honor in moss green chiffon. She wore a headband of rubrum lilies and ivy and carried a bouquet of the same flowers.

Bridesmaid Marcella Shonk of Terre Haute, Ind., college roommate of the bride, was gowned identically to the maid of honor.

Serving as best man was Robert Elmore of Olympia Fields, and ushers were the bride's brother, C. William Rehling, and Leonard Hetke of Park Forest.

THE BRIDE'S mother received guests in beige chiffon with a corsage of beige cymbidiums, and the bridegroom's mother chose navy blue chiffon and had a corsage of pink cymbidiums.

Buffet supper for 125 guests followed the ceremony and was held in Chevy Chase country club. The couple then left for a river cruise to Murray Bay, Canada.

The bride is a graduate of Arlington high school and Millikin university. Mr. Jones attended Lehigh university in Pennsylvania and is associated with Penton Publishing Co. (S

VAN HEFLIN stars as the commander of the German mystery raider, Atlantis, during World War II in "Under 10 Flags," opening a first - run engagement Sunday at the Catlow theatre, Barrington. Chas. Laughton stars as the British admiral who must locate and sink the Atlantis.

Four Features Billed for 53

One of the biggest shows of the season is scheduled for the "53" Outdoor theater starting Friday, Sept. 30. Four attractions will be shown on one program. Feature number one will be "Oceans 11" with one of Hollywood's biggest casts; featuring Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, Sammy Davis, Jr., Peter Lawford and Angie Dickenson. The film in technicolor, co-stars Richard Conte, Cesar Romero and comedian, Joey Bishop.

Feature number two will be the thrilling suspense drama, "Sergeant Rutledge," directed by John Ford and starring Jeffery Hunter.

"Stop, Look and Listen" will be the third picture with the original three stooges, America's zaniest comedians.

The daring bikini girl, Bridgette Bardot, will star in the fourth feature, "That Naughty Girl."

Experienced Director Takes Players' Helm

Mascara manufacturer by day, actor-director by night. These are the dissimilar roles held by Jim Hughes, the man at the helm of the Palatine Players this year.

The reason for the complete non-relationship between his job and his avocation is simple according to the 35-year-old Des Plaines resident. "You can give more to an art when you don't do something full time that gives you a similar creative outlet."

His analogy is the potential novel-writing newspaper reporter: a man who is able to achieve a certain amount of creative writing on the job so his urge to create the novel is abated.

THAT HUGHES' avocation has not been abated is evidenced by 40 plays in which he has acted and 65 he has directed. Now, in addition to his directing duties for the Players, he holds weekly method classes in Arlington Heights, Palatine, and Hoffman Estates.

What makes the success of little theater so important to Hughes is that he feels it is now the only cultural medium in the suburbs.

He sees it as something that should be all community encompassing and inter-community encompassing. "If one town's amateur theatrical group is unsuccessful, it is a black eye for the rest of them," he said.

Hughes tries to bring to each group he works with a degree of professional acting as well as a new sense of leadership and organization. He admitted he would rather work with untrained actors—persons who haven't become stereotyped — because it's easier to imbue them with the character they play."

He also said he was prone to type-cast actors: just because it is easier for the audience to believe a character if the actor has the strong basic qualities and looks of the character.

The purpose of his classes —from which many of the actors for village theater groups are drawn—is to put persons at ease on the stage and to give them knowledge of the methods of acting.

"You can't give a person talent if he doesn't have it," he said. "But you can teach them to use well the talent they have."

HIS TWO-HOURS of class each week with each group are serious business. The persons are there to learn. Their goal is polishing short scenes sufficiently so they can be exchanged with neighboring towns. He plans to go as far afield with these groups as Morton Grove and similar groups on the North Shore.

Interested in the theater since he was 16, Hughes has had training at Chicago's Goodman theater. His directing duties have been in DesPlaines and Chevy Chase. He has also put in a two-year teaching stint at Barat college, Lake Forest, and made commercial movies. His favorite is "A Street" for which he lived on Skid Row for six weeks.

Hughes is the father of three daughters.

Cable to Australia

The first transoceanic cable to Australia was opened in 1876.

JIM HUGHES

KIRK DOUGLAS and Kim Novak are teamed in "Strangers When We Meet," Columbia Pictures outspoken new drama about marital infidelity. The Richard Quine production in CinemaScope and Eastman color is presented at the StarView outdoor theater, route 20 east of Elgin.

Epic Sea Drama Due at Catlow

"Under Ten Flags," a Dino De Laurentiis production released by Paramount, is the next attraction beginning Sunday at the Catlow theatre, Barrington, with Van Heflin and Charles Laughton in the starring roles.

The film is based on the true - life adventures contained in the autobiography of the erstwhile German Admiral, Bernhard Rogge, and deals with the mysterious surface raider he commanded during World War II, which took such a heavy toll of British shipping before it was finally sunk. Van Heflin portrays the commander of the raider, the Atlantis, Laughton plays his chief adversary, the British admiral whose job it was to locate the hit - and - run vessel and have it eliminated.

Music Wasn't Liszt's Only Love, Children

by JIM PHILLIPS

Gad! Our music-loving kiddies are going to be in for a shock! Now it turns out that Franz Liszt was a lover! First it was Frederic Chopin, courtesy of Cornel Wilde, now it's the piano genius from Hungary, thanks to Dirk Bogarde and "Song Without End." This musical-ly rose" just opened in Chicago's loop, and if the admen have their way, it will hang on a number of weeks, whether the audience goes for it or not. In general, I found the picture entertaining, but factually weak, especially after talking to a professor friend of mine from the University of Illinois School of Music.

Bogarde is shown at his best from the wrists down, and the music he "plays" is from the ground up—by this I mean that you get a variety of classical music from Liszt's library, but you also get an awful lot of movieland lovey-dovey between the codas. According to this screenplay, Franz was not only talented as a pianist and composer, but he was quite a shoulder - pinching rascal—a sort of "piano-plunking Errol Flynn." He not only played a few choice measures of "I Think I Love You Truly" with the female division of a prince's household, but he also delighted in ad-libbing a few choruses with other damsels in his musical world. The whole plot of this musical version of "This Is Your Life" is centered around the unimportant and factually incorrect idea of whether good old high-falootin' Franz is going to stick to composing music or playing it (on the piano or otherwise): and by the time this idea gets around to presenting itself, you couldn't care less.

DIRK BOGARDE is handsome, and tall, and attractive, and romantic, and bold, and loves to play "rippling waters" with his cheeks. A newcomer to this type of entertainment, Capucine (that's her name), only succeeds in proving that she'd be better off doing television commercials for Revlon. Producer William Goetz and Director Charles Vidor can be satisfied with an overall production that is smooth and quite colorful. Capsule Comment: "It Seems to Me I've Heard That Song Before!"

Wishing Will Make It So: Here we are, back again after viewing a few more movies (TV style) and secretly wishing that:

The man on the cosmetic merry - go - round would suddenly fall off, hair creme and all!

THE END TITLES on the evening sob-story shows would read: Loretta Young's sniffles by Schultz's Sneeze Powder, Miss June Allyson's pouting by DuJour's Face Mask Company, and Miss Barbara Stanwyk's tantrums by the Talullah Bleakhead School of Near-Hysteria.

Movie previews would tell the truth when shown on television.

Some night, the pathetic washerwoman would open an automatic washer and find Tide, Duz, Rinso, Ivory, and Fab all jammed in so tight that she'd have to do her washing at home.

The little mustached guy on the "Command For The Man" spots would use his own voice for a change!

Somebody would release the first filmed take on a TV commercial (fluffs and all!) and let us see what those actors really think of the product they're trying to pitch!

PADDOCKLAND PUBLIC STRIKES BACK: Two women were talking in front of the Catlow theater the other night about show times. Consensus: "Why start a movie at eight o'clock in the evening when you could start it earlier?" Elderly ladies like the early hours.

Conversation between two kids standing in front of the Arlington Theater:

"Gosh, that was a terrific show!"

"Aw, I didn't think it was so hot!"

"Why?"

"I didn't hear much of it on accounta those dopey adults talking all the time in front of us!"

Think high school students aren't interested in the quality of motion pictures today? I'll be speaking before a group of students on this very subject during a high school seminar on radio-TV-motion picture writing and critique at Indiana University next week. Movie critics, theater-owners and managers, and even the Hollywood producers would have a tough time answering some of the intelligent questions these kids come up with. The biggest problems students bring forth: "Why Don't We Have More Truth in Motion Picture Entertainment and Movie Advertising?" and "What Has Happened to the Movie You Can Take Your Entire Family To See?"

Cable to Australia

The first transoceanic cable to Australia was opened in 1876.

"THE KING" (Tony Randall) and "The Duke" (Mickey Shaughnessy) catch up with Huckleberry Finn (Eddie Hodges) when they find him working as a cabin boy aboard a Mississippi River boat. The scene is from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn," film version, in CinemaScope and color, of Mark Twain's famous story starting Friday, Sept. 30, for one week at the Prospect Theatre. Also starred are Patty McCormack and Neville Brand, with "Jim," the runaway slave, played by Archie Moore, world's light heavyweight boxing champion in his acting debut.

A PLAY IN it's infancy. Rehearsing for "The Girls in 509" are, (left to right) W. R. "Red" Pownall, John Lobenhofer, Norma Smith (standing), and Shirley Freeman. The performances will be given October 20, 21, 22, 28 and 29 at the Prospect High School Little Theatre. For tickets call the Village Theatre, Inc., box office between 9 a. m. and noon, CL. 9-3200. Water Color Artist To Speak At League

BY LUCILLE ERNST

The Mount Prospect Art League is continuing its policy of presenting the most competent of the professional artists in the area. As a result, their meetings have been stimulating and thought provoking.

This month their guest speaker will be Wallace Brodeur who will appear on Tuesday, Oct. 4, at 8 p.m., Lions park field house, Mount Prospect.

Wallace Brodeur is a resident of Mount Prospect and is a well known water color artist in the Chicago area. His paintings are well defined and realistic and he has been described as a conservative artist. As a person, Mr. Brodeur is modest and unassuming, a gentleman most reluctant to boast of his many honors.

MR. BRODEUR attended Art school, in both Chicago and Detroit. His paintings have been exhibited at the Art Institute, Museum of Modern Art in New York and in over 70 galleries in the United States and England.

A member of both the American Water Color Society and The Artists Guild of Chicago, Wallace Brodeur is well known in both the fine arts and the commercial field. He claimed prizes in two Chicago Tribune fine arts contests, one of the most competitive contests in the area. He was awarded first place in both the fine arts and commercial category of the annual Artists Guild Exhibition, an organization of professional artists.

All of us have seen Mr. Brodeur's work, even though we weren't aware of it. He painted the Dean's Milk Country Charm scenes as well as many graphic illustrations for the Chicago Tribune.

How often we see people shrug their shoulders over an abstract painting and mumble something about not understanding modern art. It always gives me the impression that art exists in a vacuum. That by understanding a technique or a few modern painters one could understand modern art. Nothing could be farther from the truth.

ABSTRACT OR modern art is, to simplify, the pictorial expression of the way all of us think in our modern world. We are not so concerned with outward appearances as we once were. Science has taught us a table is not what it appears to be. It is millions of atoms in a constant state of motion.

As parents, we worry more about the basic cause of misbehavior than the misbehavior itself. We have observed that beneath the driving tycoon or the perfect housewife may be a frightened sick person. This is a new way of thinking and one which all of our arts reflect.

The abstract artist is not concerned with outward appearances, he is concerned with the essence of what he is painting. He may use multiple perspective, or look at it from three viewpoints or more in the same painting. He may reduce it to its basic form or try and show you movement by using planes of color. In any case he is speaking your language. You may find you do understand what he has to say.

FRANK SINATRA heads a star-spangled cast in "Oceans' Eleven," his own Dorchester Production for Warner Bros. which opens Friday at the Des Plaines Theatre. The Technicolor comedy-melodrama, which has a glamorous Las Vegas background, also stars Dean Martin, Sammy Davis, Jr., Peter Lawford and Angie Dickinson, with cameo guest star appearances by Red Skelton and George Raft. Lewis Milestone produced and directed.
